FRENCH ENVOY SEES HARDING; TALKS TREATY?

Tells of Coming Visit of Viviani.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

Washington, D. C., March 16.—[Special.]—A conference today between President Harding and M. Jules Jusserand, French ambassador, brought to the fore the whole question of the new administration's attitude toward the Versailles treaty, the league of nations, and pending differences between the United States and the entente allies.

Ambassador Jusserand, whose government keenly desires American aid in exacting reparation from Germany, American acceptance of the German peace treaty, and the tripartite alliance for the protection of France, and also the entrance of the United States into some sort of a league of nations, paid a formal visit to the president and remained an hour in the White House.

Told of Viviani's Trip.

When he emerged from the executive mansion shortly after 5 o'clock the ambassador said he had called to announce to the president the forthcoming visit of former Premier Viviani, who is coming to present the good wishes of the French government to the new administration. President Harding had nothing to add to the ambassador's explanation of his mission. It goes without saying the president expressed the pleasure the visit of M. Viviani would give him and that the ambassador has lost no time in notifying Paris.

M. Viviani is scheduled to sail Saturday, reaching this country March 28 for a stay of about three weeks. It is reported that the British government also contemplates sending an official of high rank to extend felicitations to the new administration.

Questions for Speculation.

To what extent Ambassador Jusserand elucidated to the president the underlying aims of the French government, which presumably the Viviani mission is intended to further, and to what extent Mr. Harding defined his attitude toward the questions thus raised are matters left to speculation, aided by such glimpses of the president's purposes as have been vouchsafed up to date.

That M. Viviani is coming to Washington to state the European situation from the French viewpoint to the president and to learn to what extent the United States is disposed to participate in European affairs is not doubted. It was only last week the French foreign office stated Ambassador Jusserand had been instructed to ascertain whether the United States would join a "modified league of nations."

Stands on U. S. Rights.

There is no doubt the allies want American troops to remain on the Rhine and that they would regard American withdrawal as certain to encourage German resistance to the reparations terms, while if the United States expressed approval of the reparations and their enforcement, the allies would have reason to believe that the Germans would yield to the terms.

It is not doubted that the president will inform M. Viviani, if he did not inform Ambassador Jusserand today, that the United States purposes to insist on full recognition of all its rights flowing from participation in the defeat of Germany before discussing other matters.

In pursuance of this policy, the president and Secretary Hughes would decline to entertain from the allies proposals for American action until the United States was satisfied that the Mesopotamian and Pacific islands mandates, which America now holds, fail to guarantee the open door for American enterprises.

Yap Mandate an Issue.

The allies' disregard of President Wilson's reservation in including the island of Yap in the Japanese mandate would be another thing for consideration.

These denials of American rights can be retracted by the allies, and when that is done the Harding administration, if it adheres to its enunciated policy, will be willing to discuss allied proposals as to other matters, but not before.

On the Versailles treaty and the Knox resolution declaring peace with Germany, the president will confer with his cabinet and leaders in congress.

Harvey as Ambassador Acceptable to British

LONDON, March 16.—[By the Associated Press.]—The British government today gave formal approval to the appointment of Col. George B. M. Harvey as United States ambassador, to succeed John W. Davis, who resigned.

SAY STILLMAN IS HEAD OF A SECOND FAMILY

Son of "Mrs. Leeds" Is Brought Into Case.

New York, March 16.—[Special.]—There is much mystery here as to the antecedents of Mrs. Florence H. Leeds, mentioned by Mrs. James A. Stillman in her answer to her husband's suit for divorce.

Mrs. Leeds is described as in the early 20s, a young woman of vivacious mien and of diminutive stature, crowned with a wealth of Titian hair.

Something of her life was told tonight by Mrs. Sophie Bartkoff of 1727 Park avenue. She said that while still Sophie Erickson she lived with Mrs. Leeds as a maid, both in an East Eighty-sixth street apartment and at Mrs. Leeds' country place, Stony Brook, Long Island.

She worked for Mrs. Leeds, Mrs. Bartkoff said, from June, 1918, to February, 1919, during which time Mrs. Leeds spent her winters in the luxurious apartment and her summers at the Stony Brook lodge.

Last January, said the former maid, lawyers who visited her on many occasions questioned her about Mrs. Leeds and "Mr. Leeds" and showed her pictures which she identified positively as those of "Mr. Leeds."

Baby Born in 1918.

All that Mrs. Bartkoff could tell them was that Mrs. Leeds' baby was born in the East Eighty-sixth street apartment on Sept. 17, 1918, and she, the maid, had no doubt "Mr. Leeds" was its father.

Recently, said Mrs. Bartkoff, she had been visited by lawyers or investigators, who had shown her newspaper pictures of Mr. Stillman.

She studied them and asserted they were photographic reproductions of "Mr. Leeds," she said.

Mrs. Bartkoff talked freely, being quoted as follows:

"During the summer of 1918 Mr. and Mrs. 'Leeds' rented a cottage at Stony Brook, Long Island. The cook at that time was Hannah Jansen. She had a son-in-law named Mack, who was superintendent of the estate near by and lives at Setauket. Mr. Mack has been employed by many prominent people.

"Once he visited his sister-in-law and saw Mr. 'Leeds,' who almost invariably came down for week ends. He asked us who 'Mr. Leeds' was. We told him, 'Leeds.'

This Man Knew Stillman.

"'Leeds, nothing,' he replied. 'That is James Stillman, the banker.'

"Hannah Jansen lives now with the Macks in Setauket.

"I remained with Mrs. 'Leeds' until February, 1919, seven months after her son, 'Jay Jr.,' was born. Then I left to get married. 'Jay Jr.' was a beautiful baby blonde, blue eyed and, as I remember him, resembled 'Mr. Leeds' in features.

"After the Mack incident all of us took it as a matter of course that 'Mr. Leeds' was really Mr. Stillman. Since I have seen his pictures in the papers I am positive 'Mr. Leeds' is Mr. Stillman. He was the only man who called on 'Mrs. Leeds.' In the town apartment he came two or three times a week.

"Leeds'" Visit Frequent.

"At Stony Brook he came down on Fridays and remained until Sunday or Monday. This happened practically every week end. When it was time for the baby to be born 'Mr. and Mrs. Leeds' came to the Eighty-sixth street apartment."

Another witness who has identified pictures of Mr. Stillman as "Mr. Leeds" is Fred Ivens, supertintendent of the East Eighty-sixth street house. He repeated his identifications today.

"I hoped," he said, "that I would not be dragged into the Stillman divorce mess."

The Leeds child is known as Jay Ward Leeds. The birth certificate gives this bare information:

"Mother—Florence Helena Leeds; maiden name, Florence Helena Lincoln; age, 23.

"Father—Franklin Harold Leeds; retired; age, 46."

IRISH HECKLERS ASSAIL GIBBS; THROW OUT 21

Noted Writer Attacked at Address

A riot call, one near fist fight, the calling out of fifty police reserves, and the ejection of twenty-one persons, including a soldier with two war crosses, featured the lecture on Ireland given by Sir Philip Gibbs, noted English journalist, at Orchestra hall last night.

"I'm going to tell the truth about Ireland," Gibbs began. Mr. Hearst said I ought to be deported, but—"

"Hurrah for Hearst" some one shouted, and the war was on.

Hecklers Hurl Queries.

"Who the hell named you historian of Ireland?" queried a brawny Irishman from the gallery.

"Who won the war?" queried another.

"The Irish!" a dozen shouted back.

"Where's the American flag on the stage?" another questioner wished to know.

Henry Voegell, assistant manager of the hall, took a position at Gibbs' side.

"Sit down," the hecklers shouted. "One's enough."

"Hire the hall yourself if you wish to hold a meeting," Mr. Voegell cried. "Shut up or we'll throw you out!"

"Come on an' do it!" the gallery bellowed back.

Voegell turned in a riot call.

Fifty Police Arrive.

Lieut. Matchett and fifty policemen responded. When they arrived, forty-five minutes from the time Gibbs began his lecture, the journalist was still trying to talk.

"If you know anything, and some of you don't——" he was saying as the lieutenant entered.

"What about the black an' tans?" the hecklers shouted.

At a mention of Lloyd George there were cries of "Kill him! Hang him!"

Seventeen men and four women were ejected by the police. The alleged ringleader was an overseas soldier, who gave the name of John Ward, 6406 Ingleside avenue. He wore a medaille militaire and a distinguished service cross. He said his brother was killed last week in Ireland.

Society Sees Excitement.

Others ejected gave their names as Miss Mary Dwyer, 6406 Ingleside avenue; John Swanson, 6712 Ingleside avenue; Patrick Carroll, 6440 Ellis avenue; Thomas Keogh, 5436 Wentworth avenue; George M. O'Connor, 118 Mason avenue; Lyon Kelliher, 2000 South Austin avenue; P. F. Nolan, 604 West Forty-third street; Harold Lindenheimer, 4400 North Troy street, and Fred Oppenheimer, 3248 North Clark street.

There were 1,600 persons in the audience. Dress suits and evening gowns were prominent. Mrs. Samuel Insull was recognized as one of the spectators. So was former Chief of Police John J. Garrity.

Gibbs Assails Hyphen.

Here are a few of Gibbs' epigrams: "Some of you folks over here call yourselves Irish-Americans—I can't understand why plain American isn't good enough for you."

"You Irish are using the wrong weapon—force can't conquer reason. Dominion home rule is the only solution for the Irish question—the English would grant that.

"The black and tans are a disgrace to civilization."

COURT DIRECTS MME. TINGLEY TO PAY $100,000

Says She Estranged Another's Husband.

San Diego, Cal., March 16.—A verdict of $100,000 against Mme. Katherine Tingley, theosophical leader, was given in favor of Mrs. Irene M. Mohn in the Superior court here tonight.

Mrs. Mohn sued for $200,000, charging that the theosophist had alienated the affections of her husband, Dr. George F. Mohn.

The jury was out a little more than four hours. The case had been on trial for twenty-three days, four of which were devoted to arguments of attorneys, to which the jury did not listen.

Dr. and Mrs. Mohn came here from Los Angeles about fifteen years ago and went to the Point Loma homestead, headquarters of the Universal Brotherhood and Theosophical society, of which Mme. Tingley has been the head for many years.

According to testimony given at the trial, Dr. and Mrs. Mohn became separated in February, 1918. Mrs. Mohn removed her belongings from their home at Point Loma and came to this city.

YARDS TOILERS VOTE 4 TO 1 TO STRIKE, REPORT

Lane and Brennan to Meet Davis.

Dennis Lane and Attorney Redmond S. Brennan, labor delegates to the packing house wage parley, called in Washington Monday by Secretary of Labor James J. Davis, will carry with them authority from the international unions to call an immediate strike, it was learned last night. The unions involved embrace every trade employed in the stockyards.

Eighty-five per cent of the employés in the butchering and meat packing establishments in Chicago voted yesterday in favor of the walkout, it was learned.

Five hundred and ninety-six of 602 of the stationary engineers in the stockyards engine rooms—the backbone of the yards industry—voted to walk out at the call of their union chief. With the engineers on strike operations of the packing plants would be virtually impossible.

Telegraphic reports of the union vote from other points affected by the proposed strike indicated an enormous majority in favor of the walkout. At Denver, Col., 551 voted for and 18 against a strike. At Fort Worth and Omaha the vote was about 90 per cent pro-strike, it was said.

Unions Seek War Compact.

The union delegates at the conference in Washington will demand that the Alschuler arbitration agreement, recently abrogated by the packers, be enforced, on the ground that it is still legally active. Under this agreement the wage cut effected by the packers Monday would not be executed until the whole matter had been thrashed out before Judge Alschuler and a decision rendered.

The alternative to a refusal of the union demand will be an immediate strike, it was declared by union executives.

The power to cause a walkout in all the unions signatory to the Alschuler agreement was vested in Lane and Brennan at a conference of the heads of the organizations here yesterday.

Gives Union Men Big Weapon.

The vesting of arbitrary strike powers in the delegates at the parley is said to be without precedent in labor circles. It gives the labor delegates a tremendous weapon against the packers' arguments, union officials asserted.

A call for a further conference, which will be held in Washington Sunday and which will be presided over by President Samuel Gompers of the American Federation of Labor, was issued last night.

A statement issued by the packers yesterday dealt with the possibility of a strike, but denied that any preparations were being made to "break" the walkout if it occurred.

MORMON CHURCH EXPELS FIFTY MEN AND WOMEN

Salt Lake City, Utah, March 16.—Through official church announcements of the excommunication and disfellowshiping of a number of the men and women members of the Mormon church it became known today that a colony of upwards of fifty men and women located miles from a railroad in eastern Juab county have been practicing a number of new doctrines, among them one called "the doctrine of wife sacrifice."

Under this doctrine it is said that in a number of instances husbands have taken the wives of other members of the colony and vice versa.

The founder and leader of the colony is Moses S. Gudmundson, violinist and former professor of music at the Brigham Young university, a Mormon institution, who began the establishment of the movement on the strength of "revelations" which he has on a number of occasions claimed to have received in person from on high.

It is declared that the officers and men will receive even a more cordial welcome than that given the American fleet in 1908.

Rich Florist and Divorcee Love Victims

Rockford, Ill., March 17, 2 a. m.—[Special.]—Believing himself a jilted suitor, Arthur Bauscher, thirty-second degree Mason and the wealthy president of the Bauscher Brothers Floral company of Freeport, Ill., early this morning fired a shot through the head of Miss Helen Wilson of Rockford, as she stepped from an interurban car. Then he shot himself.

Bauscher died in the Rockford hospital at 1:15. Miss Wilson cannot live, it is asserted.

Dramatic Story Behind Shooting.

The story behind the tragedy is dramatic. Bauscher, 31 years old, is in partnership with three brothers in the floral business at Freeport. The concern is prosperous. Each of the brothers is wealthy.

Eighteen months ago Bauscher's wife died. At that time Miss Wilson was Mrs. Clarence Widholm, wife of an automobile salesman of Rockford. Dissension broke out in the family, and six months ago Mrs. Widholm filed action for divorce.

Romance of Greenhouse.

She went to Freeport, where she was employed at the Bauscher greenhouses. Bauscher fell in love with her. The two were often seen together.

And yet, weekly, Miss Wilson went to Rockford clandestinely to visit her husband. She received her divorce decree three weeks ago. Bauscher at once proposed. The girl refused. Since that time Bauscher visited her daily, imploring her to marry him. She still refused.

Still Loved Husband.

She loved her former husband, she told her sister-in-law, Mrs. Ray Widholm of Rockford. Miss Wilson's mother, who lives in Freeport, tells the rest:

"Helen came from Rockford yesterday to visit me," she told a TRIBUNE correspondent early this morning. "'Mamma,' she said, 'Clarence and I have come to an agreement and I'm going back to him. I've got to break with Mr. Bauscher. I don't love him.'

"I told her that if she loved her former husband she should go back to him and be remarried. She left home last night with that intention."

Begs Her to Wed Him.

Miss Wilson took an interurban car bound for Rockford shortly after 11 o'clock. Her sister-in-law, Mrs. Widholm, was with her. As the car started Bauscher jumped aboard. He sat down just behind the two women.

"Won't you marry me, Helen?" he pleaded as the car got under way. "I love you and want you."

Miss Wilson turned around. "I can't," she said. "Clarence and I have become reconciled. I'm going back to him tonight. I like you very much, Arthur, and would like to keep you as a friend—but I just can't marry you. That's the reason I left your firm a week ago—I just can't go through with it."

They didn't speak after that. Clarence Widholm and his brother, Roy Widholm, were waiting for the car in the former's automobile at Rockford.

The Shooting.

Bauscher swung down the car steps first. As Miss Wilson descended he fired. The bullet, penetrating her right temple, passed through the brain. Bauscher then fired into his own head. The two were rushed to the hospital.

Bauscher leaves two children, a boy 5 years old and a girl of 7.

Eng'sneer Stophs Train to Look for Hish Teeth

The 5:37 on the Northwestern, which carries the weary home to Winnetka, came to a disturbing and jolting stop near Canal junction in Evanston. Most of the passengers skidded off their seats. Conductor Tomas Jackson rushed up to Engineer H. H. St. John.

"What's busted?" asked Jackson.

"Nushing's bushted!" retorted St. John. "Ish shat new dinner shet I bought yesh'd'y. Flew oush while I wush leaning oush she cab."

Every track walker and section hand in Evanston is looking for Engineer St. John's brand new plate of teeth.

Don't Like Wife's Cooking, Fractures Skull with Rock

Because he did not like his wife's cooking, Michael Janus, 53 years old, 2720 West Twenty-fifth street, left his apartment, which is on the second floor, descended to the back yard, and, picking up a large rock, threw it through a kitchen window. The rock struck his wife, Mrs. Katherine Janus, 37 years old, on the head, fracturing her skull. He was arrested.

RENTERS STORM CAPITOL IN WAR ON LANDLORDS

Solons Hold Up Bill to Hear Realtors.

BY ARTHUR M. EVANS.

Springfield, Ill., March 16.—[Special.]—Gouging landlords were pilloried as a chief obstacle to business revival, and the "rent hog" was chucked, verbally, into the pickle vat today when Chicago's fight for high rent relief was carried to Springfield.

Members of the Chicago Tenants' Protective league stormed the capitol in behalf of the Kessinger bill to enable cities to create commissions to determine "just and reasonable" rents.

After three hours of addresses, the session developed into a merry row. Representatives Sidney Lyon and Thomas O'Grady urged that opponents of the bill be given their innings forthwith and that the senate and house commissions act on the measure at once so that final action might be expedited. There was much wrangling over this, in the course of which some legislators used the mace upon "profiteering landlords" even more vigorously than had the set speakers.

Worse Than Black and Tans.

"If the opposition will not take the floor now," shouted Mr. O'Grady, "it shows they have no case. The rent hogs of Chicago are worse than the black and tans of Ireland. Let's hear both sides without adjourning, and act without stalling."

Senator John D. Turnbaugh said no arrangements had been made to hear the opposing side at this session, that being left for a later date. He adjourned the senate half of the joint committee meeting. The house half ran along for a hectic quarter of an hour, in which the words "gouger" and "money snatchers" were sprinkled thickly into the debate. Then came adjournment.

Opponents of the bill, it was announced, will be heard next Tuesday.

Arrive With War Banners.

The rent crusaders, who claim to represent 100,000 Chicago tenants, descended upon Springfield in a special train. At the station they were met by the watch factory band and the local branch of the "Anti-Gougers" league. They paraded the streets bearing banners such as "To boom business, swat the rent hog" and "We are getting wages down to normal, why not rents?"

Bringing up the rear on the way to the state house was a colored man with a canvas smock inscribed "Rent Hog." He was cuffed and dragged and dragged—mock stuff—all the way up to the steps and earned his $10 all right.

One unexpected aid was picked up when W. G. Bierd, president of the Chicago and Alton railroad, hooked his private car to the special and came along to add his mite. He made an extended speech on railroad rates and wages as a curtain raiser for remarks on rent profiteers.

High Rents Prevent Readjustment.

Mr. Bierd's arguments were that freight rates must be deflated to start business moving, and that to bring freight rates down wages must be deflated, but excessive rents are absorbing the reduction in other necessaries as fast as it is made.

"Boosted rents are one of the disturbing elements which stand in the way of readjustment of business conditions to a safe and sane basis," he said. "If a property owner does not join in the downward trend he is a profiteer and not a fair and just citizen."

The session developed largely into an experience meeting. "Awful examples" of rent boosts were brought out. J. R. Patterson, president of the protective league, dwelt upon soldiers who returned from France to find landlords ordering their families out of apartments because they could not meet extortionate rents.

Relate Experiences.

Then Mr. Patterson started an impromptu "experience meeting" by calling a list of tenants to narrate how their rents have been raised.

"My rent has been boosted from $90 to $225," said J. B. Strauss, 5859 Kenmore avenue.

"They boosted me last year from $48.50 to $75, and now they demand $110," cried T. M. Fitzgerald.

"I've been jumped from $36 to $58, and then my landlord, Dr. Elliott, 4817 Grand boulevard, demanded $85. When all the tenants objected the rent demand was reduced to $68. That is without decorating or repairs, and my radiators have leaked for two years."

"My landlord wants $90 a month," stated Cornelius Hahn, 4442 Clarendon avenue, a Chicago court bailiff. "My rent has been $62.50."

Refutes Bolshevik Charges.

Mr. Patterson then volunteered the information that his rent has been boosted 135 per cent. He told the story of Mrs. Sarah Shankenberger, a nurse in the civil war, 4725 Calumet avenue, who was too old and feeble to make the journey from Chicago to protest against her landlord.

The cry of "bolsheviks" was taken up by speaker after speaker. They pointed out that it is quite the regulation thing to label "new stuff" in legislation with the tag "socialistic." They recalled the days when workmen's compensation first went through and certain employers literally wept outside Gov. Deneen's office and shrieked that the assembly was fallen into the hands of anarchists.

"Now they try to call us bolsheviks," Mr. Patterson cried. "We are not bolshevists; we're real red blooded Americans. I say the rent gougers are bolshevists."

Mr. Patterson read letters from a Methodist presiding elder, a civil war general, and others attesting he was a perfectly normal American and not in the least a "Red flag waiver." Then he talked of the war. "It's time now for us to put the fist into pacifist and use 'em rough," he shouted.

Sees Landlords' "Last Chance."

"Like the old 'Last Chance' saloons, the rent hogs of Chicago are taking their last chance to gouge the public," Mr. Patterson said. "Unmindful of the fact that by doing so they are robbing men of the money that should go to provide for the wives and children of their victims, the profiteers are getting their 'last chance' to gouge.

"We have relied upon their promises to remedy the situation, but it has been to no avail. We have given the Chicago Real Estate board an opportunity to operate upon itself and remove this stigma. We warned them if they did not do it the legislators of Illinois would do it for them.

"The aldermen of Chicago voted unanimously for this measure and they ask you to give them the power to regulate the rent hogs and money changers in the temple of the republic. We have been insulted by the actions of the rent hogs. As Theodore Roosevelt said, 'When a man has slapped the face of my wife that is no time for arbitration—it is the time to fight.' That is what we intend to do until we have secured the necessary relief to the terrible situation in Chicago."

Speeches Galore, but No Action.

The chamber was in an uproar. Later representatives of the tenants expressed disappointment that the hearing did not develop into an actual debate of the merits of the proposed bill. The net results of the whole afternoon's speechmaking was merely to get one side of the controversy before the houses.

Chairman Turnbaugh announced A. E. Jessurun, secretary of the league. Representative Lyon secured the floor and asked that opponents of the bill also be heard during the meeting.

"These hearings are for the benefit of the committee and not for the exponents or opponents of the measure," declared the senator.

"I believe we should have time to consider this," said Senator MacMurray.

"If anybody denies what we have heard here today on the rent situation of Chicago, now is the time to do it," interposed Senator James J. Barbour of Chicago.

Declares High Rents Breed Unrest.

The chair ruled that the hearing of the tenants would proceed, and Mr Jessurun told of the efforts of commercial organizations to combat Red propaganda, winding up with a declaration that bolshevistic agitators would find no easier recruits than people who are distressed and dissatisfied because of exorbitant rents.

"The business men of the country tell us to fight the Reds," he said. "All this time the people are being gouged by rent hogs. Under such circumstances how easy it would be for these un-American disturbers to recruit the people who are driven to desperation and want by the rent hogs."

The tenant pilgrims were brought to their feet again as Mr. Jessurun ended his speech by quoting the statement of Brig. Gen. Abel Davis, head of the real estate board's anti-rent profittering committee, that "there must be no further increases where rents were adjusted last year," which was indorsed by the board.

"More Buildings!" Becomes Cry.

Senator W. M. Sadler of Chicago asked Ald. Mulcahy, who also spoke in behalf of the bill, whether he believed that the construction of more buildings would be the permanent solution. The alderman agreed. Mr. Patterson sprang to his feet.

"We agree with you," he said. "Give us this temporary, immediate relief, and we will pledge you that we will fight as we have never fought before for more buildings."

Mr. Jessurun went Mr. Patterson one better.

"Give the people who need help at once this bill, and I assure you that the league will see to it that there will be 100,000 apartments in Chicago in no time!" he shouted.

Demands Showdown.

Representative Lyon then made his motion to adjourn until 7:30 o'clock, at which time representatives of the Chicago Real Estate board be required to state their case.

"We ought to be able to hear both sides today, and as this is an emergency, there is no reason why the opponents of this bill cannot have their arguments while we are all here," he asserted.

Chairman Turnbaugh asked Representative Lyon whether he was addressing the senate public utilities committee, or the house municipalities committee.

"I understand that this is a joint session of both committees, with the honorable senator acting as chairman of both," replied Representative Lyon.

"All I know is that this is a meeting of the senate public utility committee, and that you are out of order when you try to make a motion," said Senator Turnbaugh. "This committee is composed of senators, and you, as I understand, are a representative."

O'Grady Backs Up Lyon.

By this time Representative Thomas O'Grady of Chicago was on his feet. "If the opponents of this enabling act won't talk now, they have no case," he cried. "The rent hogs of Chicago are worse than the black and tans of Ireland. I have made up my mind, and I am ready now, irrespective of the Chicago Real Estate board's arguments, to announce that I am for this bill.

"Let's see it through now. We need no recess. Hear both sides today and consider the bill. Report favorably, adjourn, and put this bill through both the house and senate tomorrow."

Representative O'Grady's spectacular declaration threw the senate chamber into an uproar. Tenants cheered and yelled as they stood up and waved banners and flags. Half a dozen legislators broke out at once, some demanding an adjournment, while others pleaded for a recess until evening.

Denvir Speeds Adjournment.

Senator John T. Denvir, Chicago, was recognized by the chair and hastily motioned for an adjournment. Senator M. R. Carlson of Moline snapped in a second and the motion was carried.

Representative Lyon then demanded that the house committee go into session and invite the Chicago real estate board representatives, headed by John L. Vette, attorney, to state their case. At this moment Representative Frederick Bippus of Chicago, chairman of the house committee, took the gavel.

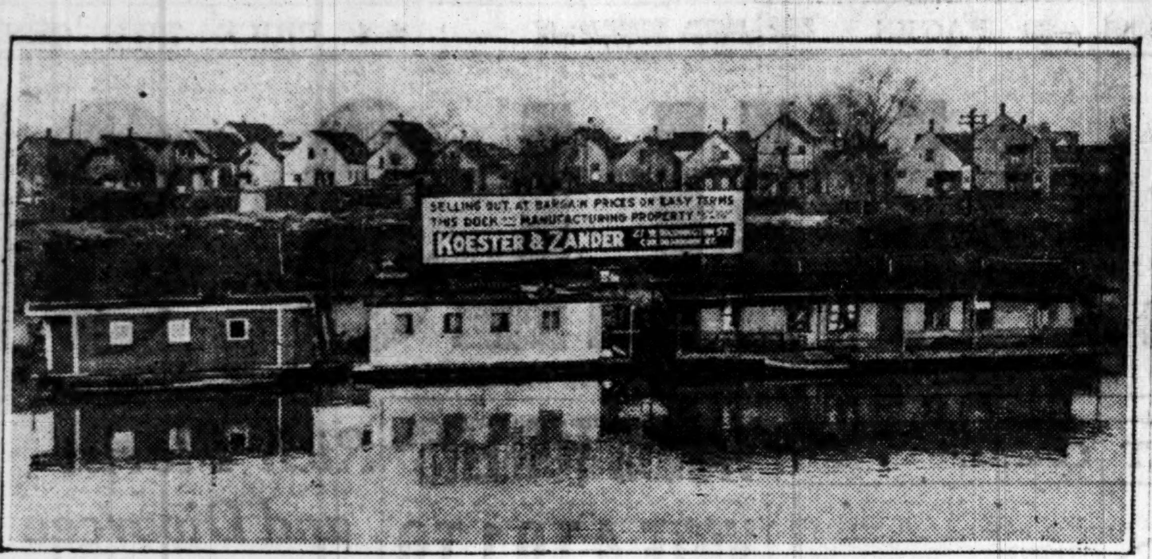
Representative Lyon then made his motion.

"We are the guests of the senate committee in this session, and I think it would be discourteous to proceed as you suggest after they have adjourned," said Representative Bippus.

"The opponents are here and they can't get out of town until midnight. Why not get this thing settled?" Lyon responded.

Representative Church of Evanston called for an adjournment, which was followed by a hasty second. Amid cries of protest from the tenants and Representatives Lyon and O'Grady, the meeting was declared adjourned.

FLOATING FLATS RENT FREE



Greedy landlords never bother the skippers of these modern arks. It's all one to them whether four rooms and bath bring $75 in the rental market, or four times that sum. The picture was made in the north branch of the Chicago river near Western avenue.

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

It's the Life

"What's all this talk about the rent hogs?" asked the skipper of the littlest houseboat, poking her head out of the kitchen window.

Her neighbor, in the neatly painted floating home in the north branch of the Chicago river, near Western avenue, said she had heard of ground hogs, but she didn't know anything about rents.

You see, these fortunate people have solved the rent problem. They live in houses in the river, where no one owns their domain, where they have no taxes to pay. If they don't like one place they can pull up the anchor and move down stream, where the shade is better or the back yards view is more enticing.

Their neighbors in the houses along the river look upon them with envy.

Why not string the whole river with floating homes and move out into the lake during the hot weather?

REALTORS SAY THEY'RE READY FOR RENT PROBE

Seven Board Members at Springfield.

BY AL CHASE.

Springfield, Ill., March 16.—Special.]—John Lyle Vette, attorney for the Chicago Real Estate board and one of the seven members of that organization who apparently were the only representatives of property owners present today at the joint committee hearing on the Kessinger bill in the state house, declared after adjournment that a complete answer to the charges made by the tenants would be given at the next hearing of the committees on March 22.

"The presentation made by the proponents of the Kessinger bill was not completed until 6:30 p. m., after a hearing lasting about three and a half hours," he said. "The representatives of the Chicago Real Estate board felt that to be compelled to proceed with the presentation of its opposition to the bill at that late hour would have been an unnecessary hardship which would have served no good purpose.

Says Bill Means Only Delay.

Louis T. Orr, vice president of the Chicago Real Estate board, said: "We expect to show that the Kessinger bill, if it became a law, would afford no relief whatever to the tenants, but, on the other hand, would postpone until the law was either repealed or declared unconstitutional, the real remedy, which, of course, is the construction of more buildings. We'll present the facts, logically and fully, next Tuesday in regard to our position in the matter."

"And without fireworks," added James J. Carroll, also a member of the board of governors of the real estate board.

Members of Realty Committee.

In addition to Vette, Orr, and Carroll, S. D. Avery Kimbark, acting chairman of the legislative committee of the real estate board; S. Charles Standish, George J. Williams, and L. M. Price were members of the real estate board's group.

Most of the seven realtors who came to Springfield Monday night will return to Chicago tomorrow. At least five of the seven will return here next Tuesday to present their views on the Kessinger bill.

5,000 CHEER AS MAYOR OF CORK TALKS FOR ERIN

Denunciation of the present invasion of Germany, demands for immediate peace with that country and the withdrawal of American troops from Europe, were coupled last night with insistence on the immediate recognition by the United States of the Irish republic. Five thousand persons, who occupied every foot of floor space in Seventh Infantry armory, adopted with a tremendous shout the demands, which were presented in the form of resolutions.

The meeting had been called by the American Association for the Recognition of the Irish Republic. Donal O'Callaghan, Terence MacSwiney's successor as lord mayor of Cork, was the principal speaker and the lion of the evening. John E. Traeger, former sheriff of Cook county, was chairman.

O'Callaghan Warmly Welcomed.

Cheers that continued for fifteen minutes greeted Lord Mayor O'Callaghan. He opened his address in Gaelic, but in a few minutes was talking in English, directing himself almost entirely to "English propaganda."

"I never admired England so much as since I came to this country," he said.

He took up various phases of the propaganda, devoting much time to an attack on the charge that religious questions have anything to do with the troubles in Ireland.

Referring to the fact that the great Irish leaders, Lord Edward Fitzgerald, Wolf Tone, Robert Emmett, and Charles Stewart Parnell had all been non-Catholics, he mentioned that four non-Catholics sat in the Sinn Fein cabinet.

English Catholic Bitter, He Says.

"If there are any English people who are more bigoted than others in their opposition to Irish freedom, it is the English Catholics," he added. "The recent utterances of a Cardinal Bourne are proof of this, utterances which are unhappily echoed by the Irish heirarchy, including the bishop of my own diocese of Cork."

Frank Dempsey, lord mayor of Mallow, which was destroyed by the blank tans on Sept. 27, told of the atrocities there. Frank P. Walsh also spoke.

DE VALERA TELLS CORRESPONDENT OF ERIN'S AIMS

Irish Leader Is Closely Guarded in Dublin.

DUBLIN, March 16.—[By the Associated Press.]—Eamonn De Valera, leader of the republicans and "president of the Irish republic" gave a personal interview today to the Associated Press correspondent. This is the first interview he has accorded to any newspaper representative since his return from the United States to Ireland.

If any proof of the extraordinary precautions taken by his devoted followers to insure his protection were needed, it was afforded by the extreme care taken in escorting the correspondent to and from the presence of the Irish leader. For an hour after leaving Mr. De Valera, the correspondent was under the closest surveillance not only from his escort, but, as it seemed, from everybody in Dublin.

Impressions of America.

In the course of the conversation, which lasted three-quarters of an hour, Mr. De Valera told of the impressions he had brought back from America, and remarked:

"The saddest thing there to me was to see the Irish question treated by so many people as if it were a religious wrangle. It is not a religious question, even insofar as the differences here between the north and south are concerned."

He spoke bitterly of the "English government's lack of principle and statesmanship."

"England," he said, "is trying to win by playing on human weakness. As a matter of fact, though it does not realize it, England is playing not on the weakest but the strongest quality of the Irish people—their spiritual quality. The young men of Ireland are saying to themselves, 'At best, the span of life is only seventy years. We must all die; so why not now in circumstances like these?' Never, perhaps, as by dying in such a cause as Ireland's could we do so much for the world.'

Mount Joy Executions.

"England may try to contend that men like those executed in Mount Joy were murderers. She will find it much harder than she imagines to get the world to accept that view."

The Irish leader is in excellent health, but his friends in America would hardly recognize him, for he is "on the run" and naturally does not reveal himself unnecessarily. Obviously it would not do to describe his appearance in detail, but he looks extremely fit and conveys the impression of being free from any sense of personal danger.

The volunteer who conducted the correspondent to Mr. De Valera's residence said that, despite the protests of his friends, De Valera persisted in working strenuously daily from 7 o'clock in the morning until 11 at night. The intensity of his concentration was shown today by the fervor of his exposition of the Irish cause and its righteousness and his declaration that Ireland is keeping alive the flame of the high principles for which the late war was fought.

Taken to De Valera.

The interview was a complete surprise. Until fifteen minutes before it took place the correspondent had no intimation that it would be accorded. A questionnaire for submission to the president through the same channels as were used in the submission of the questionnaire of last January had been prepared, and the correspondent was proceeding to the rendezvous for that purpose when suddenly he was invited to climb into the side car of a motorcycle and don goggles, which effectually blindfolded him. The car sped through Dublin by way of an intricate route, and after an indeterminate period the correspondent found himself in a well furnished living room and soon in the presence of De Valera.

Twice after leaving the house the correspondent was held up and examined, first by members of the Irish republican army, within sight of the president's residence, and second, fortuitously by the military.

St. Patrick's Day Message.

When he was asked if he intended to issue a St. Patrick's day message, particularly to the people of America, Mr. De Valera said:

"I think the people of America understand, and if the other peoples of the world have not yet realized that it is might and right contending in this awful struggle—if they are left cold when it is so evident that it is a great priciple at stake, for which millions of the bravest of many countries lost their lives in the late war—it would be futile to endeavor to move them by mere words. Those whom midnight assassinations, callous executions, wanton shootings, torturings, lootings, devastations failed to touch, no message could affect. Those will continue to dream, perhaps, of some future day when justice and right shall reign, but withholding that vigorous concrete aid which alone could make their dreams come true."

Resistance Still Strong.

Denying that there was any weakening in Ireland's power of resistance, De Valera continued:

"The republicans of Ireland, that is, three-fourths of our people, realize that since death is inevitable there is no way it can come so well as in the grand defense of the most sacred human rights. There is nowhere on earth a purer or more unselfish struggle. It will be persevered in with the same courage and fortitude as shown by the early Christians."

MRS. STILLMAN, SILENT ON CASE, BEGS FOR QUIET

Missing Wife Found in New Jersey Resort.

New York, March 16.—[Special.]—Mrs. "Fifi" Potter Stillman, the leading figure in the most sensational divorce case of recent years, was found today by a correspondent for THE TRIBUNE, who met her in the woods just outside Laurel-in-the-Pines, an exclusive resort at Lakewood, N. J., where she is hiding with two of her children, Alexander, 11, and Guy, the baby, whose birthright is disputed by her husband, James A. Stillman.

She had left the children with a nurse, and, with her intimate friend, Miss Muriel McCormick of Chicago, had sought the cool pine woods for relief and rest. This is the first time she has left her rooms since the divorce case, which has been pressed in secret against her, became public.

Servants preceded to make sure that the way was clear. Then she appeared at the head of the stairway with Miss McCormick and they ran quickly down the driveway into the forest that surrounds the lake.

Bowed by Woes, but "Game."

Mrs. Stillman appeared to be very tired. Her face showed lines. She seemed a trifle haggard under the strain of publicity that had come to her family. But she was the same jaunty, dashing matron of her best drawing room and beach days in spite of her trouble.

The internationally noted headdress, which she inaugurated as her own peculiar style, was in evidence. This time it was a huge, black bandanna, splashed with white polka dots and tied with the abandon that might have been borrowed from some old "black mammy" in the Louisiana plantation surroundings of her grandmother's home. Sport clothes, up to the very minute in cut and style, completed the toilet.

She was walking around the lake when confronted by the correspondent. She stopped abruptly and took the measure of her questioner before replying.

"I cannot discuss my case in any way," she said slowly.

"Can you say anything at all about the case?"

"I can say absolutely nothing now."

Must See Her Attorney.

"Do you know when you will be prepared to make a statement?"

"I canot talk at all until I see my attorney, Mr. John D. Stanchfield."

"When will that be?"

"I cannot say, I cannot see him until I am well enough. If I were weak I would be dead by now, but in a few days I hope to be able to go to New York to see my attorneys."

"I understand Mr. Stillman has been here today to discuss the case with you?"

"I must refuse to discuss that."

Then she made a plaintive appeal for quiet.

"I have been kept in my room all this while because the reporters have been here. This is the first time I have been able to go out because of them. I feel like some hunted animal—it all seems as if you are trying to trap me."

Wants Her Side Known.

She looked away a moment and added:

"I realize that it is fair that my side of the case should be before the public and I want my side to be known, but I absolutely cannot say anything until I have seen my attorneys."

Would she discuss Guy Stillman?

She would not.

Would she say anything concerning Beauvais, the Indian guide.

Not one word.

And the Canadian trips to the hunting lodge, could they be made the subject of an explanation?

"I must refuse to say anything at this time," was her answer.

And, with a weary, half-appealing air, she turned away with Miss McCormick and proceeded on her way around the lake where she had an hour's exercise before returning to the hotel.

May Come to Chicago.

That Mrs. Stillman is planning to leave Laurel-in-the-Pines, luxurious hotel of the fashionable and rich, is certain. In connection with reports that Mrs. Stillman seeks a new hiding place it is considered possible she may go to Chicago with her guest, Miss McCormick.

Miss McCormick also declined today to talk about the case.

THE TRIBUNE correspondent reached her on the house telephone in Mrs. Stillman's suite.

"Thank you—no, I don't care to discuss the case or my visit," Miss McCormick said.

Friends are fearful that Mrs. Stillman will break down under the nervous strain, the notoriety and enforced exclusion, from the stares and comments of the hotel guests, and from the almost incessant ringing of the telephone.

Friends Voice Sympathy.

Mrs. Stillman finds hope and courage, however, in the telegrams and letters—bundles of them—from friends all over the country, voicing their faith in her and declaring that they do not believe the charges of her husband.

Guy and Alexander are carefully guarded and kept at a safe distance from photographers. Guests at the hotel who have seen the infant declare that he has none of the characteristics of an Indian and that his appearance is like that of thousands of other American youngsters.

Guy has fair hair and his eyes are blue. His skin is as light as that of his brother.

"Put Guy Stillman with the other children before a jury and their father and mother alongside and I'll wager there won't be any doubt in the minds of the jurors about the legitimate birth of the baby," said a guest at the hotel, who has seen the mother and two children.

May Return to Canada.

Mrs. Stillman, it is said, has in mind a return to the Canadian camp which has been made the basis of her husband's charges. A manager for the Three Rivers, Que., place is to leave next week to reopen the camp, and in this beauty spot of nature the woman who is now likening herself to "some hunted animal" will find rest and solitude.

A hasty report that Stillman had been at Mrs. Stillman's hotel during the day for an interview with her was authoritatively denied. So was the persistent report that the suit brought by Stillman would be discontinued.

Stillman himself has not yet been located. When John F. Brennan, one of the counsel for Mrs. Stillman, was asked as to the future of the suit, he replied:

"God only can tell."

The birth certificate was filed in the latter part of September, 1918, by Dr. James Ogilvie, 520 West One Hundred and Forty-second street.

This was a week less than a year after the mysterious couple, the well preserved man in middle life, and "Mrs. Leeds," had moved into a luxurious $3,500 a year apartment of five rooms and two baths on the fifth floor of 64 East Eighty-sixth street.

Dr. Ogilvie, when seen tonight, seemed to divine the reason for a reporter's visit. He answered all questions uniformly:

"I won't talk about anything."

"Fifi" Names Mrs. Leeds.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., March 16.—[Special.]—The name of Mrs. Florence H. Leeds, a New Yorker who once appeared on Broadway in small rôles, is contained in an affidavit of charges against James A. Stillman, presented by Mrs. Anne Urquhart Potter Stillman, as part of her reply to her husband's suit for absolute divorce.

This was established here today at the same time that it was ascertained definitely that both sides in the divorce action planned to fight the case through to a verdict.

The presentation of the affidavit, it was pointed out, does not make Mrs. Leeds a co-respondent.

CAMP ROOSEVELT OPEN TO BOYS OF ENTIRE MIDWEST

Camp Roosevelt, the junior military training camp at Muskegon, Mich., is to be enlarged to take care of any schoolboy in the middle west who desires to enlist, it was announced last night by Superintendent of Schools Mortenson. Letters asking superintendents throughout the middle west to send students to the camp were sent out.

"The Junior R. O. T. C. has been adopted by the war department as a basis for military training," said Capt. Frank L. Beals, commandant of Camp Roosevelt. "We expect to have at least 5,000 boys in camp this summer. Training will be divided into four periods, in order to take care of as many boys as possible."

Woodmen of the World Seek to Impeach Leaders

St. Louis, Mo., March 16.—Resolutions calling for the impeachment of W. A. Fraser of Omaha, sovereign commander, for alleged malfeasance of office, and United States Senator Morris Sheppard of Texas, sovereign banker, charged with nonperformance of duty, were adopted by the Missouri section, Woodmen of the World, at the closing session of the annual convention here today.

The resolutions charged Fraser with "reckless expenditure of general funds without any legal right."

Senator Sheppard, it was asserted, received $6,000 annually for acting as sovereign banker and did not devote any time to the order.

TOOTH EXTRACTION CAUSES DEATH.

Robert L. Goldsworthy, 60 years old, assistant superintendent of No. 1 rail mills, Illinois Steel company, died yesterday in the Presbyterian hospital from complications following the extraction of a tooth Friday.

THIS WIFE OF BIG BANKER CRAVES A CAVEMAN'S LOVE

Stillman's Aid Does Not Fit Specification.

New York, March 16.—[Special.]—Linked together in big business as president and vice president of the National City bank, James A. Stillman and Beverly D. Harris are having troubles of a somewhat similar nature with their wives.

Mr. Harris, about a year ago, was denounced by his pretty wife, also a southern beauty, as "that Wall street type of a man who had steel in his eyes and copper in his soul and no love in his heart." She announced her fondness for "cave men" types and said: "I just adore the primitive mode of living."

Mrs. Harris was Miss Elaine Lee of Greenville, Miss. She was married to Mr. Harris on July 20, 1915, in St. Louis, Mo.

It was not until five years later, on May 14, 1920, that the public learned that the marriage of the busy Wall street banker and the affectionate girl from the south was not panning out very well.

She Calls In the Reporters.

On that day, Mrs. Harris summoned reporters to her individual apartments at the Hotel Pennsylvania.

Mrs. Harris moved right into her discussion of her husband.

"I have everything in the world," she said. "I have all the luxuries, all the comforts, everything—excepting what I want most—love!"

"It matters not whether a woman has all the luxuries in the world. She wants the companionship of her husband. But my husband is twenty years older than I and perhaps he doesn't understand. I love to ride horseback, to go to the theater, but whenever I asked for these simple pleasures my husband would always say 'tomorrow, baby.'"

Scribes Cock Eager Ears.

Here Mrs. Harris' eyes took on a faraway look. She was evidently thinking some beautiful thoughts. She was apparently about to say some beautiful things. The newspaper men leaned forward eagerly.

"I hate the artificial things of life, anyway," she said, finally. "I like the wild, natural things. I adore the primitive mode of living. My greatest delight is to dance on the sands in the cool moonlight wearing nothing but draperies. What do I want with clothes?

"It is the wild, abandoned freedom of nature that I crave. My husband does not understand."

And This What She Wants.

The atmosphere grew charged at this point. Mrs. Harris paused to make her following speech more effctive.

"I want," she said, "a cave man!"

"Daddy," according to Mrs. Harris, never demonstrated any cave man traits, but he had at least appreciated certain elemental qualities of her nature.

At one time, she says, he told her that she had the courage of a lioness in her soul and that he could see it always in her eyes.

The spirit of "Daddy's" remark was acceptable, Mrs. Harris said, but his choice of animals was wrong.

"In my former existence," she said, "I was not a lioness, but a tigress. 'Daddy' got a little mixed on his animals. But, of course, you must expect that from the Wall street type of man."

BRITISH FORCE RAIDS CROKER'S ESTATE IN ERIN

Ex-Tammany Chief Is Under Suspicion.

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
[Copyright: 1921: By The Chicago Tribune.]

LONDON, March 16.—Richard Croker, former "boss" of Tammany Hall, New York, is the latest to fall under the suspicion of Dublin castle as being connected with the Irish revolutionary movement, and, although Mr. Croker is away, his mansion, "Glencairn," located outside of Dublin, was raided by a large force of black and tans in a search for documents.

Dublin castle by some process of reasoning became imbued with the idea that the former Tammany chieftain was the important link whereby the Irish volunteers obtained funds from America.

Minute Search Made.

The search was one of the most carefully conducted in Ireland and lasted for hours. Not a corner from cellar to garret escaped the most minute inspection. This also includes the stables where Mr. Croker's famous horses are kept.

The authorities placed so much importance on the raid that, instead of intrusting it to the usual subordinates, it was conducted by one of the highest commanding officers of the black and tans. No results of the raid, if any, were announced.

Three fires broke out at Lincoln, England, late last night and are attributed to Sinn Feiners, many of whom are attending a horse racing meet there. The fire was on the premises of the local coöperative society and the damage totaled £20,000.

DUBLIN WIRES ARE CUT

BY JOHN LESTER.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
[Copyright: 1921: By The Chicago Tribune.]

DUBLIN, March 16.—Many telephone and telegraph wires were cut in and near Dublin since yesterday and authorities believe some big movement against crown forces is planned. Linesmen who attempted to make repairs were held up and their equipment taken from them.

The civilian killed in a Dublin fight Monday night has been identified as David Kelly, 55 years old, brother of Ald. Thomas Kelly, who was elected lord mayor of Dublin last year. The victim came accidentally into the line of machine gun fire of the soldiers.

A tailor of Kennaugh, County Longford, was taken from his work today and shot dead. A card with the words "shot by the Irish republican army for spying" was attached to the body.

A constable was shot dead in North Kerry and a woman, into whose house the body was taken, died of the shock.

GREAT BRITAIN IS EAGER FOR NAVAL HOLIDAY

Admiralty Chief Ready for Parleys.

LONDON, March 16.—Baron Lee of Fareham, first lord of the admiralty, discussing naval matters at a meeting of naval architects here today, referred to the question of disarmament.

He said the only question was who would initiate the discussion, but on this point the British government would not stand on ceremony.

The government, he declared, welcomed the hint thrown out by President Harding in his inaugural address, and the suggestion would meet with cordial and helpful response here.

Is of First Importance.

"I can only say," Baron Lee added, "that, if an invitation comes from Washington, I am prepared to put aside all other business in order to take part in a business than which there can be nothing more pressing in the affairs of this world."

Baron Lee said he agreed with Mr. Denby, the American secretary of the navy, that Great Britain and America could control the seas.

"But," he added, "the question is whether we have the right of direction with regard to our navies when consulting each other. In that respect I think this government has a clear record. In the present estimates we have set an example of reduction and taken risks and are prepared to go far in a mutual agreement.

"It is not enough to talk about blood being thicker than water. What we want is the plain horse sense characteristic of both countries. From my long knowledge of America I have a profound belief in the business of talking and appealing to the square deal. I hold strongly that we are not engaged in a game of bluff, but that we ought to lay all our cards on the table."

The first lord advocated plain speaking. He referred to the claim that America should maintain a navy equal to that of any other power.

Scouts Friction with United States.

"That is a claim," he said, "that we should never have expected save in connection with the great English speaking nation, which sprang from our loins and ever holding a great place in our regard and confidence. . . . The difference between our formula and America's is too slight to be made the subject of controversy, still less of friction or hostility.

"If ever a war should occur between us and any of our late allies, it will be the fault of blind or criminal leading, for which our statesmen, whether in London, Washington, Tokio, or the capital of any other naval power, would be condemned and execrated in history if they failed to avert such a tragedy."

LAWMAKERS CHARGED WITH STOCK DEAL

Boston, Mass., March 16.—The governor's council today directed the bank commissioner to report the names of all members of the legislature who have notes in any of the five trust companies in this city that have been closed by the commissioner in recent months. It has been charged on the floor of the house of representatives in the last day or two that certain members borrowed money in 1918 to buy stock of the Boston Elevated railway in anticipation of the passage of the act which placed the road under public trustees and guaranteed its operating expenses.

ALLIES FIX TIME LIMIT FOR BERLIN TO MEET TERMS

Must Pay Twenty Billion Marks by May 1.

PARIS, March 16.—[By the Associated Press.]—The allied reparations commission, in its note to Germany demanding fulfillment of article 235 of the peace treaty, notified the German government it must pay one billion gold marks before March 23, it was announced today.

The money must be deposited in the Bank of France, Bank of England, or the Federal Reserve bank in the United States, Germany was told. It must complete the payment of twenty billion gold marks by May 1.

The commission gave Germany until April 1 to submit a proposal to pay the balance of the twenty billion marks otherwise than in cash.

Will Consider Loan Plan.

Germany may submit a plan for a foreign loan by April 1, the proceeds of which shall be payable to the commission. The commission announced that Germany had virtually refused to pay the balance, asserting the 20,000,000,000 marks had been fully paid.

The commission, in making its announcement, recited the history of the negotiations for fulfillment by Germany of article 235.

"Under these conditions," the announcement continued, "the commission notified the German government, first, to pay between now and May 1, 1921, the balance of the twenty billion gold marks, and, second, to make before March 23, 1921, a first payment of a billion gold marks to apply on the twenty billions remaining due.

"Before fixing the dates and methods of payment of further amounts the commission will consent to consider any proposals submitted before April 1, 1921, by the German government for substituting merchandise deliveries or the transference of German or foreign securties instead of payments in gold or foreign exchange.

"Within the same delay the German government has been authorized to submit to the commission proposals for the issuance of a foreign loan whose proceeds shall be paid to the commission."

Berlin Knows Amount Due.

Some time ago the commission announced that the allied claims for reparations had been forwarded to Berlin. The exact total of these claims has not been announced, but in usually well informed quarters it is said they probably amount to approximately 550,000,000,000 gold marks, or roughly two and one-half times the figures fixed for indemnities by the Paris conference.

Bill Effective March 31.

LONDON, March 17.—[By the Associated Press.]—The German reparations bill, providing that the levy of 50 per cent on German goods shall not be effective until March 31, passed the committee stage in the house of commons early this morning without vital change.

Briand Defends Stand.

PARIS, March 16.—[By the Associated Press.]—In the chamber of deputies today Premier Briand summarized the work of the London conference, and the whole house, with the exception of the Socialists and Communists applauded him enthusiastically.

The deputies particularly favored the premier's vigorous declaration that "Germany must pay, not only from profits but from her assets," and for his reference to the big German industries that no longer published their balance assets because their profits were "scandalous."

"Our soldiers are at Duesseldorf, Duisburg and Ruhrort, with cannon trained on Essen, to show them something," the premier exclaimed. His words were almost drowned in the applause.

Referring to Deputy Auriol's proposal of yesterday looking to the formation of an international economic office for reconstruction and economic revival, with financial backing from the United States, the premier said that the only reply he had to make was that everything possible had been tried toward the solidarity of the allies, and the efforts were continuing.

He gave the British prime minister credit for being the first to reject the German proposals and paid tribute to him as "the sincere friend of France."

Rhenish Diet Protests.

DUESSELDORF, March 16.—[By the Associated Press.]—The Rhenish provincial diet closed its sixteenth session today with a solemn protest against the allied penalties, asserting that instead of safeguarding the interests of the occupied territories they would utterly destroy them. The diet members declared they refused to believe that the sense of justice of the other nations would permit such a wrong.

There was a great tumult at the closing of the session when two communists shouted "Down with Germany!" as the president of the diet called for cheers for Germany.

A children's pageant entitled "The Striking of America's Hour" was given at the Wellington Avenue Congregational church at Broadway and Wellington avenue last night. Shirley Jane Ackerman, 4 years old, in a Dutch costume, made one of the hits of the pageant, which was well acted and well attended. Virtually all the nations were represented by children and adults, and many aspects of American life were depicted. One group of children illustrated the spirit of play. Western and Indian life was also represented. Even the Roman Empire was not overlooked in the general survey which the pageant made of the pages of history.

GOVERNOR WILL DECIDE FATE OF GRAIN TRADING

St. Paul, Minn., March 16.—The house bills prohibiting trading in grain futures and declaring all grain exchanges open markets today passed the Minnesota senate and house and has been made ready for action by Gov. Preus.

The anti-futures trading bill was passed, 50 to 11, after a brief debate. The bill defines a gambling contract as an agreement "wherein the actual delivery of the commodity sold is not in good faith contemplated or intended by the contracting parties."

The measure would not prohibit "legitimate hedging" under terms originally incorporated in the house measure. Representative R. W. Wilkinson announced today he would introduce a bill "to put teeth in the anti-futures measure—a bill you can get convictions under."

Markets primarily affected are in Minneapolis and Duluth.

Chinese Couple Adopts "Little Bit of Sunshine"

Harold Poe, a mite of humanity 15 months old, was delegated yesterday by Judge Righeimer to furnish a bit of sunshine in the lives of Chin Fong Wing, a curio dealer at 2124 South La Salle street, and his wife, Mrs. Lill Wing. "We are getting along in years and would like to have a little sunshine around the house," said Mrs. Wing, who speaks good English. The adoption papers were signed by Harold's mother, Mrs. Josephine Poe of Buffalo, who is half Chinese.

CITY AIDS WARN WATER PIPE MEN ON STRIKE HINTS

Rumors that a strike of laborers and trades workers employed in the city water pipe extension division will be called in an attempt to prevent a reorganization of the bureau were current yesterday at the city hall.

They were met by thinly veiled threats by city officials that, in the event of a strike, extensions of the city's water distributing system will be done by contract instead of by day labor.

"They had better not try a strike," said Deputy Commissioner of Public Works William Burkhardt. "I don't think they will when the situation is understood. They will find half a loaf is better than none."

Firm All Ready for Job.

One report is that a large corporation, in which two city officials and one labor leader are interested, already has been organized to bid for the extension contracts.

Commissioner Francis' order that hereafter the division be supervised by four engineers instead of by foremen was caused by the frequency with which foremen permitted cost estimates for various jobs to be exceeded, Mr. Burkhardt said.

One such instance was in the laying of a sixteen inch water pipe on the south side. The estimates called for $1.30 a foot. The first 1,440 feet of the job cost $2.08. After an investigation the job was finished at an average cost of $1.28.

Unions Deny Strike Plans.

Business agents for the three unions represented in the division declared no strike action has been taken as yet.

"We have a number of grievances and will take them up soon with Commissioner Francis," said James Cobb business agent for the plumbers' union

The danger of wood alcohol masked behind even the most dependable of old labels illustrates the fear of Caveat Emptor in these piping days of peace.

Caveat Emptor means let the buyer beware.

In these days there is no longer safety in known labels because liquor is contraband.

Who goes in fear trusting no label, no brand, no seal, no mark, even if blown in the bottle, think what it would mean if all Good Will for every known commodity were destroyed and we had left only Caveat Emptor.

COUP BY COUNSEL FOR HAMON GIRL STAGGERS STATE

Refusal to Address Jury Brings Adjournment.

Ardmore, Okla., March 16.—The defense dealt a smashing strategic blow at the prosecution today when it offered to submit Clara Smith Hamon's fate to the jury without any argument whatsoever.

This move came as the conclusion of the opening argument in behalf of the state by Special Prosecutor Brown. William McLean, chief of counsel for the defense, arose when Brown sat down and started to make his offer. Judge Champion requested that he step to the bench. There he formally made the offer, out of the hearing of the jury.

If the maneuver is sustained the case immediately will go to the jury, and Attorney General Freeling automatically would be prevented from presenting a closing argument in behalf of the state.

Whether the defense will be permitted to carry out its intention will be ruled on tomorrow morning. Mr. Freeling contended it could not be done under Oklahoma laws. He was granted permission to submit legal authorities.

Scathing Attack on Girl.

When the defense made its announcement, Brown had just finished a scathing arraignment of Clara Smith. For more than an hour he had held her up before the jury as a woman who had contracted her virtue away.

Throughout the argument the widow of Jake Hamon sat at the counsel table with her two children, Jake Jr., and Olive Bell, with her head bowed forward and her handkerchief to her eyes.

She heard Brown say that "Jake Hamon is better off dead than living the life he was." And she heard the prosecutor relate the intimate association of years between her husband and the defendant, who sat across the table from her.

If Clara Smith Hamon was affected in any way by Brown's argument she did not disclose it. Sitting erect in her chair she kept her eyes on the jury, now and then shifting them to Brown.

"They have referred to this defendant as a country girl," Brown said, pointing his finger at her. "You men saw her on the stand. Did you see those soft hands; hear that cooing voice, trained through rehearsal; observe her silk skirts, and did you see her legs crossed and her twenty-seven and one-half inches of shin bone?

"Don't let her cooing voice, her silks, furs, and painted face, mislead you. Even Cleopatra, who caused Antony's death, committed suicide."

Instructions to the Jury.

Judge Champion's instructions to the jury consisted of thirty-four articles in seventeen typewritten pages. His reading of them required thirty minutes. The instructions said:

"In this case, the defendant, Clara Smith Hamon, in support of her plea of not guilty, claims as a justification for said homicide, that she acted in self-defense of her person; that is, that the defendant did the killing, but that same was done to prevent the deceased from either killing her or doing her seriously bodily harm.

"It is the right of every person to act in defense of her own person, where she is assailed in such a way to make it reasonably appear that her life at the time was in imminent danger.

"You are instructed that before a person can justify a killing upon the plea that she acted in self-defense, there must not only have existed, at the time of the killing, reasonable ground to apprehend a design on the part of the deceased to either take the life of the defendant or to do her some great personal injury, but in addition, thereto, it must reasonably have appeared to the defendant that there was imminent danger of such design being carried out.

Killing Is Last Resource.

"It is the law that it is the duty of a person, if threatened with danger to her life or of great personal injury, to use at the time all reasonable means apparent to a reasonable person under the circumstances to avoid such danger or apparent danger with safety to herself before taking human life.

"It is not enough that the slayer may have believed herself in danger unless the facts and circumstances are such that the jury believe that at the time of the killing she had reasonable grounds for such belief.

"You are instructed that dying declarations admitted in evidence should be considered by you under the same rules that govern in determining the creditability of witnesses who testify from the stand.

"If you find the defendant guilty of the murder, as charged in the information, it is your duty to assess her punishment at death or by imprisonment at hard labor in the penitentiary for life.

"If, after considering all of the evidence and the instructions, you have reasonable doubt of the guilt of the defendant, then you will acquit her; but in the event, after consideration given to the evidence in this case and these instructions, you do not entertain a reasonable doubt of the defendants' guilt as to any one or more or all of the offenses herein submitted to you, then you will return your verdict of guilty as to such offense of which you do not entertain a reasonable doubt; yet, whatever doubt may be entertained by you, arising out of the evidence and these instructions as applied to it, such doubt must be resolved in favor of the defendant."

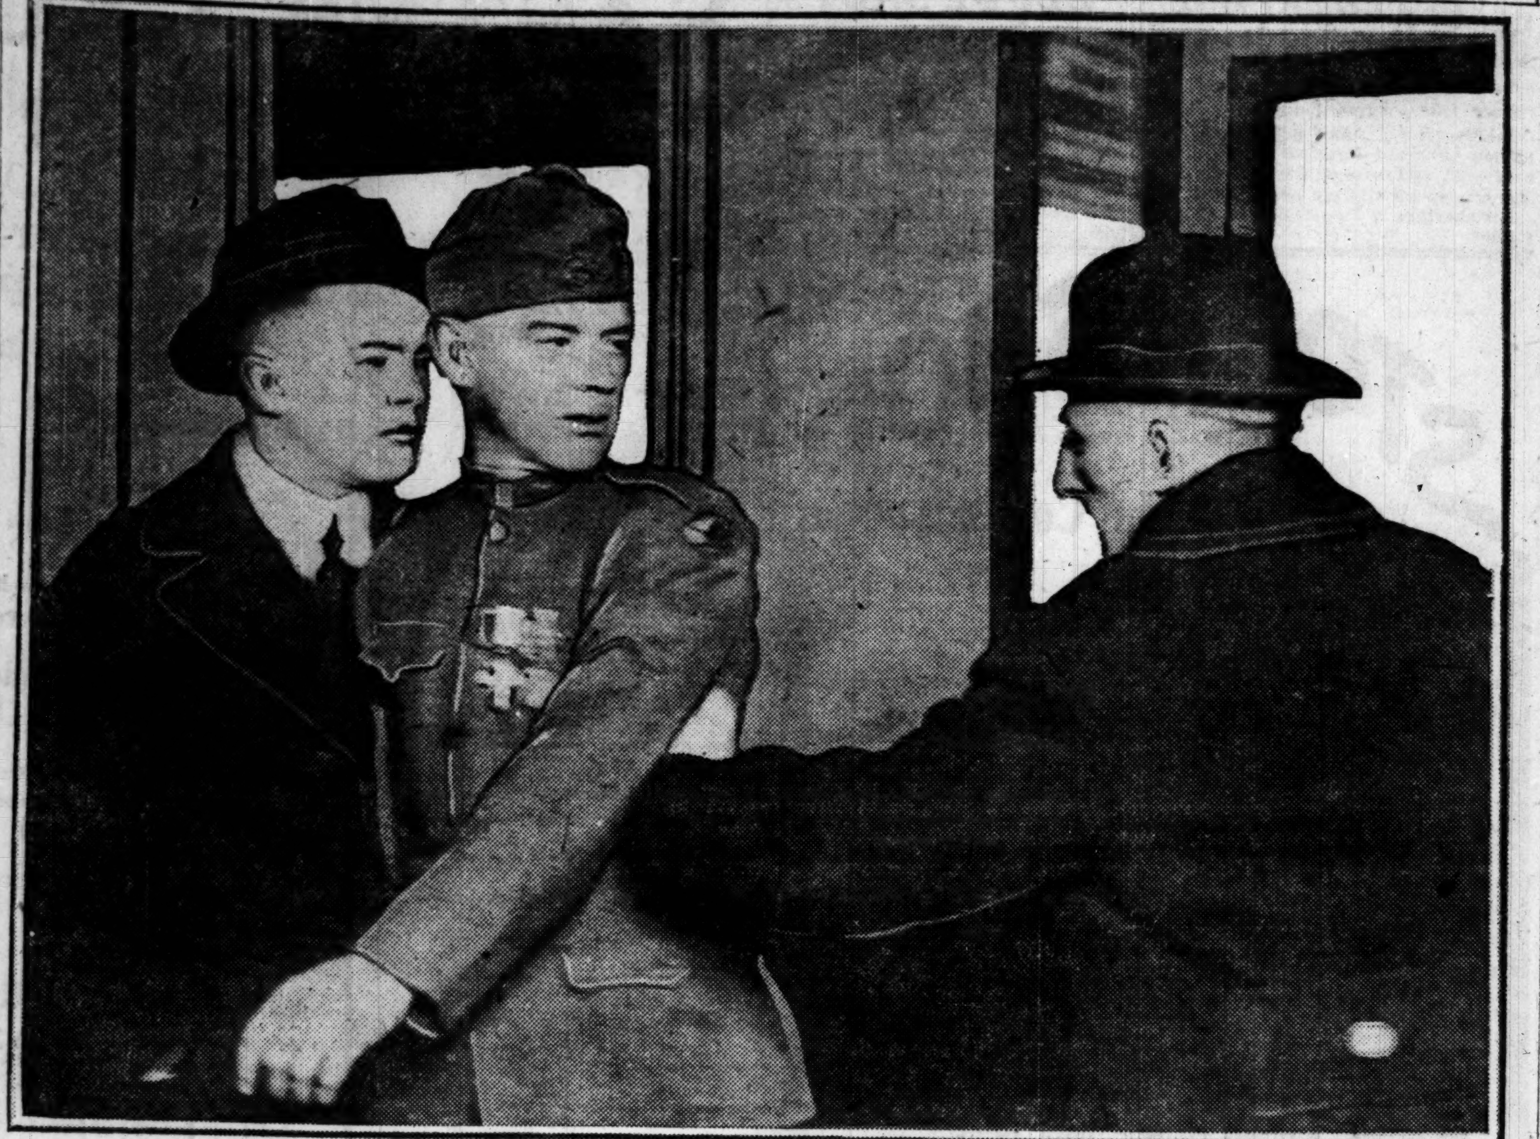
The court charged the jury on three points, in the event the verdict is guilty: Murder, death or life imprisonment; first degree manslaughter, four years to life imprisonment, and second degree manslaughter, with a minimum fine of $1.

There were numerous reports about the county building this morning of threats made against state counsel and the jurors should a verdict of guilty be returned.

Sheriff Buck Garrett said, however, that no such reports had reached him, with one exception, that of a letter written to a member of the defense counsel, in which a warning was given of possible violence to the defendant should she be acquitted.

Prosecutor Brown said dangerous threats had been made against him, but he would not go into details.

POLICE EJECT HECKLER AT GIBBS LECTURE



Seventeen men and four women. all hecklers, were ejected from Orchestra hall last night by the police during Sir Philip Gibbs' lecture on the Irish question. The picture shows the police rushing out John Ward, a Chicago soldier wearing two war crosses, who is alleged to have been the ringleader in the heckling. Sir Philip is a noted English journalist. A riot call, the summoning of fifty police reserves, and a near fist fight were other features of the meeting.

TOWN HAS HALF HOLIDAY TO HUNT 2 MISSING BOYS

Vancouver, Wash., March 16.—While the police were continuing their search for Roy Stager, the boy who disappeared March 3, they were also looking for Clare Ramus, 13, son of W. T. Ramus, who vanished two days ago.

They were also investigating a report that Marion Beardsley, aged 11, had been seized Sunday by two men, who attempted to carry him off. The boy screamed, and neighbors appeared, frightening the men away.

Mayor Kiggins designated this afternoon a half holiday to enable citizens to hunt for the two missing boys.

Slayer of Talaat Pasha Says Turk Killed Parents

BERLIN, March 16.—In a statement made to the police today Salomon Teilirian, the Armenian who yesterday assassinated Talaat Pasha, former grand vizier and minister of finance of Turkey, said he committed the crime as an act of vengeance against Talaat because of Talaat's persecution of the Armenian people, and especially for the murder of Teilirian's parents, who, he asserted, were taken from their home by order of the former grand vizier and put to a horrible death.

Angell Pleads for Better Training of Teachers

New York, March 16.—Dr. James R. Angell, in his first public address since becoming president elect of Yale, today characterized as the most compelling needs of American education better training of teachers and a complete revision of taxation methods for raising of revenue for schools.

Addressing members of the women's department of the National Civic federation at a luncheon here, he asserted that the whole scheme of money raising by taxation for schools must now be studied from "the ground up."

"At the present time," he said, "we don't know the cost of our school systems nor how to get the money to meet that cost."

Adjudged Spendthrift, Now Karpen's Divorced

Mrs. Belle Karpen was granted a divorce yesterday from her husband, Benjamin Karpen, nephew of Solomon Karpen, founder of the furniture company bearing his name. Judge Baldwin signed the decree after evidence had been submitted showing that Karpen was in a room in a south side hotel with another woman Nov. 20, 1920. A settlement in lieu of alimony was made. Several months ago Karpen was adjudged a spendthrift.

SOLDIER BODIES RECEIVED WITH MUFFLED DRUMS

New York, March 16.—The bodies of 1,609 American soldiers who died on the battlefields of France were formally received here today. A ceremony of welcome, dignified by the military ritual for the dead, was held at the army transport docks, Hoboken, where the bodies were landed from the transport Somme. Maj. Gen. O'Ryan and his full staff were in attendance.

GIRL DENIES SUICIDE THREAT.

Sherry Stone, 18, arrested Tuesday night when a young man she had met in the Rialto theater told the police she was about to drown herself, denied his story yesterday. She said she had just arrived from Rochester, N. Y., and was out of funds, but had secured a job.

ANGLO-RUSSIAN TRADE TREATY NOW IN FORCE

Britain Wins Points of Controversy.

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

[Copyright: 1921: By The Chicago Tribune.]

LONDON, March 16.—The Russian-British trade agreement was signed this morning by Leonid Krassin for Russia and Sir Robert Horne, president of the board of trade, for Great Britain.

The adoption of the treaty, it is admitted, is equivalent to a de facto recognition of the soviet government, and will result in the release of a great volume of trade contracts for immense quantities of cloth, foodstuffs, machinery, locomotives, and other goods.

Throttles Propaganda.

By the terms of the agreement both sides agree to abstain from propaganda in the other's territory, and Great Britain agrees not to attach Russian gold sent to London in payment for purchases, to cease helping counter revolutionary movements against the soviet, and to recognize the independence of Persia, Afghanistan, and other border states.

The signing of the agreement was the culmination of a long negotiation, in which certain politicians did all in their power to block a settlement, but in which Great Britain finally won out on many important points. The final agreement was due to joint pressure from labor leaders and business men, who were both anxious to reopen trade with the Russian market as a remedy for the stagnant trade and unemployment in England.

FRANCE OPPOSES TREATY.

PARIS, March 16.—[By the Associated Press.] — The Anglo-Russian trade agreement signed in London is regarded in French official circles as impracticable, but a sort of future investment which will partly placate the British radical element and partly enable Great Britain to have the first opportunity for trade when Russia becomes stabilized.

No such negotiations with the Russians are contemplated by France, the government being opposed to any such arrangement until Russia's old debts are recognized and propaganda eliminated.

The French, it was said today, are not disturbed over the situation, considering that the agreement is unworkable in view of the present revolts and also Russia's lack of goods, the stocks of which are said to be steadily diminishing.

YOUNG BUSINESS MAN MISSING.

Ollie Britz, 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Britz, 1938 Hudson avenue, has been missing since last Saturday night. He was in the garage business at 2646 Lawrence avenue. "I can't understand it," said Mrs. Britz. "He was perfectly happy at home and his business was successful."

RUSSIAN ARMY IN KRONSTADT DRIVE BEATEN

Trotzky Force Suffers Heavy Losses.

BY EUGENE SZATMARY.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

[Copyright: 1921: By The Chicago Tribune.]

HANGO, Finland, March 16.—With 40,000 men hastily gathered Leon Trotsky last night attacked the anti-Bolshevists holding Kronstadt. The attack, which was made from Oranienbaum, is reported to have failed completely, the Reds suffering heavy losses.

Kronstadt and Krasnaya Gorka are bombarding each other today.

According to an intercepted wireless message sent by Trotsky to the Moscow war council the Bolshevist forces have lost many in killed during the fighting of the last few days. It is reported in Finland that 5,000 Reds went over to the Kronstadt revolutionists.

Kronstadt is suffering from a shortage of food and ammunition, but hopes to secure supplies from Sweden.

TERMS PETROGRAD PEACEFUL.

LONDON, March 16.—[By the Associated Press.]—Leon Trotsky, Russian soviet war minister, declared in an interview given in Moscow that "all talk of an uprising in Petrograd and a bombardment of the town is silly fiction," says a wireless dispatch from the soviet capital today.

"Petrograd is just as impregnable against a counter revolutionary coup d'etat as it is to the Kronstadt fortress," Trotsky asserted. "Liquidation of the uprising has been dragged out because we wish to avoid severe losses, not only to our troops but to the insurrectionists in the Kronstadt garrison. Up to the present our losses have been insignificant."

Trotsky charged Russian emigrant centers abroad with fomenting the revolutionary movement in order to break up peace with Poland and the agreement with Great Britain for the resumption of trade relations.

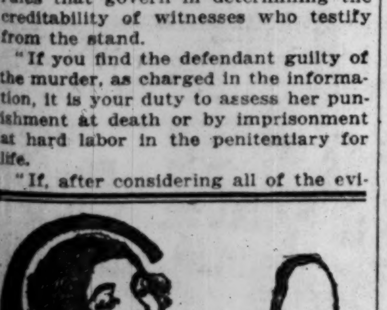
Kronstadt Gains Strength.

COPENHAGEN, March 16.—Fifty thousand men have been gathered at the Russian fortress at Kronstadt, and this number is increasing daily, says a Helsingfors dispatch, quoting an American Red Cross worker, who has just arrived there from Kronstadt. An organization of Russian emigrants in this city has been informed in a wireless dispatch that Kronstadt is receiving necessary provisions and has sufficient ammunition for three years.

Victor M. Tchernoff, who was minister of agriculture in the Kerensky cabinet in 1917, was the organizer of the counter revolution it is declared by Politiken. He is reported negotiating with the right wing of the bolsheviki with a view to making the methods of the soviet government more democratic.

"JUSTIFIABLE HOMICIDE."

The death of Vito Gizo, 2001 Mango avenue, was found to be justifiable homicide and the release of Pomfello Ranallo, 5154 Homer street, and Samuel Rasselo, 2112 Mango avenue, was recommended by a coroner's jury yesterday. Gizo was killed with a fence picket when he attacked fellow guests at a party with a knife.



SULPHUR clears the skin

Any breaking out of the skin, even burning, itching eczema, can be quickly overcome by applying Mentho-Sulphur. Because of its germ destroying properties, this sulphur preparation instantly brings ease from skin irritation, soothes and heals the eczema quickly and leaves the skin clear and smooth.

It seldom fails to relieve the trouble without delay. Sufferers from skin trouble should obtain a small jar of Mentho-Sulphur from any good druggist and use it like cold cream.

More People and Not Enough Homes

AN authority recently stated that the total housing construction for the past four years was less than in 1916 alone, or in fact, any pre-war year.

Wise builders, having in mind the rapidly falling prices of building materials, see in the growing demand for homes an opportunity for conservative and profitable investment. Seldom, if ever, in fact have the builders of the country faced such a splendid opportunity for attractive and permanent returns for their outlay.

In the preparation of plans to meet home building needs, full electrical installations should receive every consideration. Of invaluable assistance in the formulation of these plans will be found the service of qualified architects, electrical engineers and contractors, men whose expert advice insures the erection of homes that will meet the present demands for comforts and conveniences such as modern electrical installations alone can provide.

It is of vital importance that all electrical equipment be of the highest grade in order to deliver the best possible service. Habirshaw insulated wire and cable, for example, which is everywhere recognized as standard, provides a sure basis of comparison for all other electrical equipment. This well known wire and cable is now produced in millions of feet monthly and, through the merchandising organization of the Western Electric Company, distributors of quality materials and appliances, is brought to every active market of the United States at the minimum cost to the consumer.

Any architect, contractor or dealer will give you a copy of "The Home Electrical," an interesting new Habirshaw booklet on the countless uses of electricity in the home.

FIRM TRADING ALL OVER WORLD IN RECEIVERSHIP

New York, March 16.—Judge Julius M. Mayer of the federal District court late today named receivers for Gaston, Williams & Wigmore, exporters and importers, of this city.

The liabilities of the firm were given as about $6,000,000. The receivers are former Gov. Benjamin Odell and former Judge Van Vechten Veeder.

The appointment followed a suit by the Sumner company, machinery manufacturers, on a claim for $60,000.

The assets of the defendant consist of stock in twenty-five subsidiaries, located all over the world. The largest is Gaston, Williams & Wigmore, Ltd., steamship owners of Canada.

Statement by Banker.

James G. Blaine, vice president of the New York Trust company, is chairman of a recently formed committee to protect stockholders.

"After a careful examination of the affairs of Gaston, Williams & Wigmore, Inc.," he said, "it became apparent a receivership was inevitable. We shall continue our efforts to develop a future plan which will be constructive and beneficial to the stockholders."

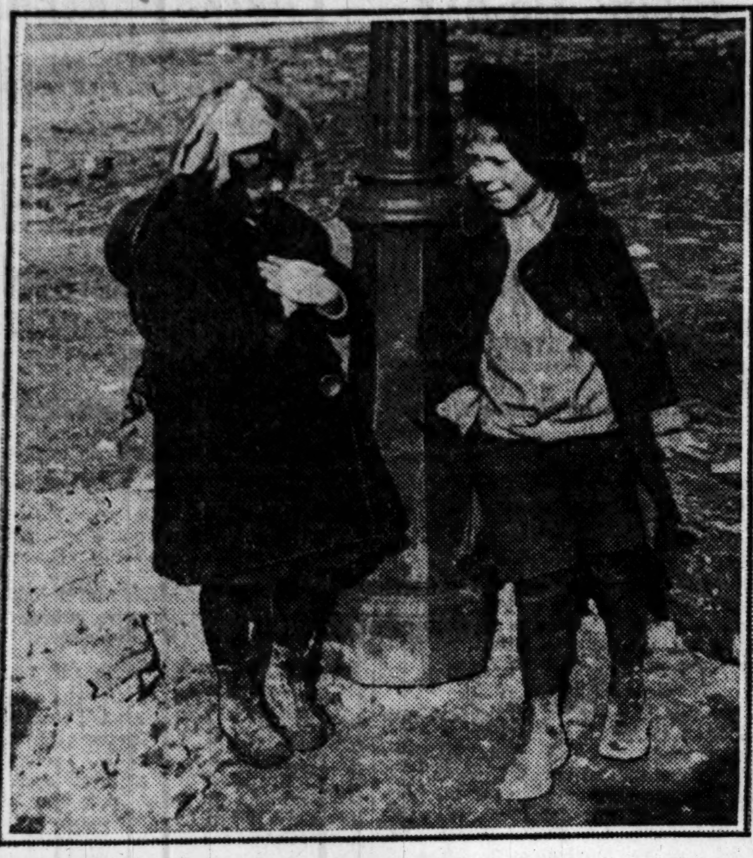
The receivership bonds were fixed at $25,000 and they were authorized to continue the business.

Born of War Finance.

Gaston, Williams & Wigmore, Incorporated, is said to have made large profits from war contracts with the allies.

It transacted a total of nearly $15,000,000 gross business during the fiscal year, which ended April 30, 1917. The company was formed in April, 1916, to take over the business of a corporation of the same title, which had been organized two years previously. The original firm is said to have started with a working capital of $1,000 at the outbreak of the war. It soon established offices in London, Petrograd, Paris, Rome, and Havana. In 1916 several hundred persons were employed in the firm's headquarters here.

HE'S LITTLE, BUT LOOK OUT!



Henry Wilson wants it distinctly understood that none had better pick on Marie Jehlen. The photographer knows. He met Henry and Marie yesterday back o' the yards. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

Our unusually late summer has caused knighthood to flower very early this spring back o' the yards. This was learned yesterday when an eager investigator, seeking a boy Chesterfield, visited that district. For a time it seemed the quest would be futile.

Then, a half block distant, abaft a lamppost, the figure of 10 year old Henry Wilson thrilled the investigator. His chin jutted aggressively, his fists were clenched.

Only once did his stern lineaments relax. That was when he gazed at the opposite segment of the lamppost, which was occupied by his fair princess, 8 year old Marie Jehlen.

"You can't help," Henry told the investigator. "Some egg is pickin' on Marie."

"Who's picking on her?"

"That's just what I want to know. And when I find out there'll be some busted beans around Sawyer avenue."

A regal smile illumined the princess' face.

BANK TELLER CONFESSES TO BIG SHORTAGE

Bismarck, N. D., March 16.—O. E. Lofthus, state bank examiner, announced today that Frank C. Heaton, former teller, arrested on charges of embezzlement of funds of the Scandinavian-American Bank of Fargo, has confessed and exonorated every one else connected with the bank.

His shortage is reported to be about $70,000.

BLOW UP VAULT, STEAL $30,000, ELUDE SHOTS

Uniontown, Kas., March 16.—While residents fired occasional shots at them, bandits dynamited the vault of the State bank of Uniontown this morning, packed practically all the currency and securities into sacks and escaped in a motor car. The loot is estimated at more than $30,000. Before robbing the bank, the bandits cut telephone wires into the town.

A right-about-face in the shoe business

SHOE-MAKING is one of the oldest and most vital occupations in the world. For this reason alone many people are now asking if the shoe industry hasn't far greater duties than thinking up transient novelties and swagger advertising.

Not in many years has there been so much confusion in shoe values—so much seeking for real service and unquestionable satisfaction.

If ever the public challenged the shoe-maker, it is now.

It is the conviction of the Regal Shoe Company to-day that big views are more needed than big factories and that broad claims must give way to broad action.

Action to force down prices—not a little, but much. And to bring to these prices a standard—a code to measure with—so that price will no longer mean merely what you pay, but what the shoe will deliver.

• • •

Regal Shoes for Spring sell for $7.50, $8.50 and $9.50. Dismiss price and you find a still surer guide to judgment. All Regal leathers are genuine. Regal cordovan is genuine horse-hide. Regal kid is genuine goat-skin—not sheep-skin. Regal calf is genuine calf-skin—not side-leather.

Possibly you wonder what those men with fifteen, eighteen and twenty dollar shoe ideas will think about the Regal price independence. Probably some will say that the sharp difference in Regal price must reflect somewhere in the quality.

But these men forget the Regal command of the leather market and the Regal tradition of doing business on lean-profit. They forget that Regal Shoes are made in the community that supplies the most skillful shoe workers in the world. They forget that Regal, through factory-owned stores, has always kept distribution costs to rock-bottom.

• • •

It is conservative to say that this year a quarter-million men, who are critical and energetic enough to compare, will wear Regal Shoes for the first time because of these new values.

They will select from 65 different authoritative custom-lasts. Their purchase will be protected by the full Regal guarantee. They will discover a live, vital policy in shoe-making.

$3,105,535 FOR ROADS THIS YEAR IN COOK COUNTY

Includes $1,699,000 for Permanent Highways.

BY OSCAR E. HEWITT.

Cook county has a construction program for this year of 31½ miles of permanent highways, involving an estimated expenditure of $1,699,000. This is in addition to the 19 5-6 miles for which contracts totaling $837,000 were awarded last Monday, and other uncompleted contracts awarded previously.

A majority of the commissioners said yesterday that they propose to proceed with the 31½ miles, barring unexpected handicaps, such as a combination of contractors to increase prices. The detail of the 1921 program was supplied to President Ryan of the board yesterday by Superintendent of Highways Quinlan. This shows that in contracts awarded and those proposed for new work, including bridges, a total estimated expenditure of $3,105,535 is contemplated.

Roads Needed, Busse Says.

"In going ahead carefully and persistently, I believe we are carrying out the wishes of the people of the county," Commissioner Busse said. "The roads are urgently needed, and the prices at which we have made awards are fair under present conditions, and we will not award any contracts with my vote which are not reasonable. I voted for the contracts last Monday, and would vote for them again."

They were at prices averaging $42,383 per mile.

Other commissioners interviewed, except the four who opposed the awarding of contracts last Monday because they thought the bids too high, made like statements.

Board Ignores Some Chances.

On the other hand the board has done nothing to investigate nor ask the state to investigate the claims of George W. Jackson that roads can be constructed at one-third less cost than now charged. Nor have the commissioners made any request of Gov. Small regarding his plan for getting lower prices.

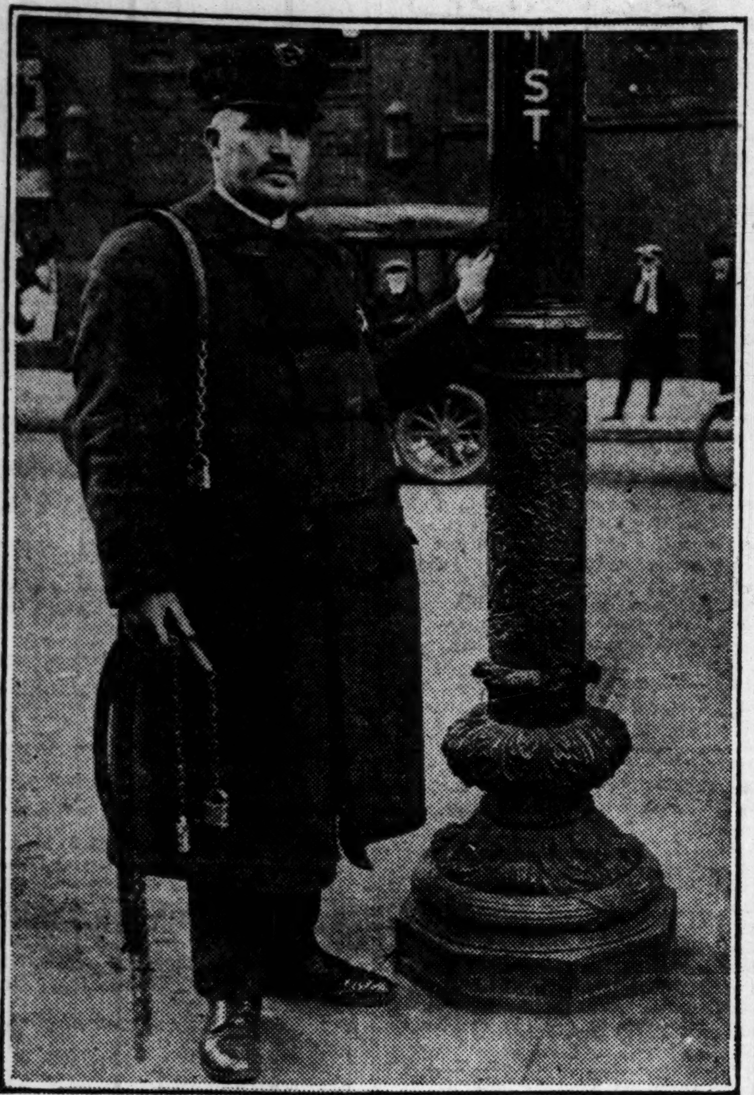
The report is persistent that the governor will change the state's specifications for road building. But the board has made no inquiries to ascertain whether these changes will be material, reduce or increase the price of roads, or when the state desires that the reported changes shall become effective. All the major changes in the state specifications to date have increased the cost of road building in Cook county.

McKinlay Criticizes Laxity.

"More than a year ago Superintendent of Highways Quinlan reported in writing and detail to the board that $119,000 could be saved by the county crushing its own stone, which can be obtained from the sanitary district free of charge," said Commissioner McKinlay. "He estimated that saving could be made in the roads to be built out of the last $5,000,000 bond issue of Cook county, but the board has done nothing with the report—in fact I don't think it has even considered the report.

"I maintain the commissioners should take such ordinary and reasonable action as will get the roads constructed at as low a cost as is consistent with good work under the specifications."

Will You Join the Chain Gang?



You will if you leave your motor car standing in Jackson boulevard while South Park Policeman Patrick Guthrie's watch is ticking off more than thirty minutes. Behold Mr. Guthrie and his equipment for detaining erring motorists.

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Avast! Belay!

There were only three in Policeman Patrick Guthrie's "chain gang" yesterday, but as today, St. Patrick's day, is also his birthday, he hopes to make a good haul. Watch out for the clanking approach of Pat Guthrie, Mr. Automobile Owner.

He travels on Jackson boulevard, and he carries a bale of chains across his shoulder. If you violate the thirty minute parking ordinance he unhooks a chain, fastens it to one of the wheels of your car, and then locks the car to one of the pretty electroliers that adorn the boulevard. In your windshield you will find Mr. Guthrie's card, which informs you that he is on the beat, and if you hunt him up he will be glad to release the car—after he has arranged for you to appear in court next morning.

First Infantry to Hold Recruit Drive Next Week

The First Infantry, Illinois National Guard will hold a special recruiting campaign next Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday nights in the armory at Sixteenth street and Michigan avenue to fill three companies, C, H, and L. There will be a stag party each night. Athletics will play an important part, especially wrestling. The bowling alleys will be thrown open to prospective recruits.

WANDERER HAS TO LAUGH WHEN DECLARED SANE

Fate Will Be in Hands of Jury by Tomorrow.

With Friday definitely set as the day the jury will be asked to decide whether he will pay for the murder of the "ragged stranger" with his life, Carl Wanderer yesterday dropped temporarily his mask of indifference. He took a decided interest in his trial in Judge David's courtroom.

He laughed while several witnesses were being examined, which fact later had a bearing in Dr. William A. Krohn's testimony.

Says Accused Is Sane.

"I have examined Wanderer in court and shortly after his confession," said Dr. Krohn, "and in my opinion I believe he is faking insanity."

Attorney Bartholomew cross examined Dr. Krohn.

"Is it possible that a man suffering from dementia præcox might laugh and still be insane?"

"Yes, he might laugh."

"They usually laugh at inappropriate times, don't they?"

"Not always. In this case the defendant——"

"That's all right," broke in the attorney, "I don't want any of your comment."

Continuing, he asked if the witness intended to say a man suffering from dementia præcox has no emotions at all.

Some Insane Can Laugh.

"O, no; I've seen some said to be suffering from that form of insanity who laughed."

Wanderer laughed with the court fans.

Dr. Harold D. Sanger, alienist for the department of public welfare, brought another laugh from the defendant. After testifying that to the best of his belief Wanderer was sane he began to explain the defendant's case, using certain species of sweet peas as an illustration.

Before he could finish his illustration Attorney Bartholomew objected.

"Forget the sweet peas," he said. "Talk about the human race."

Sees Vision of Wife.

Wanderer was visited nightly in his dreams by the wife he killed, the physician testified the defendant told him.

THAT CITY BEAUTIFUL PICTURED IN LAKE WAS MOSTLY SMOKE

No, it wasn't Michigan City trying to annex itself to Chicago, nor the city of thy dreams come true, but just a weird combination of smoke and cloud forms that rose above the lake yesterday afternoon and gave rise to the rumor that a mirage had been seen. The city spread its smoke canopy five or six miles over the lake in a thin gray sheet. There were no mists along the horizon and the appearance of the clear strip of water, the light blue sky, and the gray pall of smoke was striking. A few clouds along the horizon in this perspective took on the appearance of buildings in the water.

MRS. HERBERT IN IOWA; ON VISIT, SAYS HUSBAND

Mrs. Clifford Victor Herbert, daughter-in-law of Victor Herbert, the composer, was located yesterday in Dubuque, Ia., where she is visiting at a hotel with Miss "Buddy" Walton, an actress. According to statements made during the day by Mr. Herbert, an employé of the brokerage offices of Spencer Trask & Co., his wife is merely "away for a short time."

In connection with the disappearance of Mrs. Herbert it was erroneously stated yesterday that Mr. Herbert was associated with Stein, Alstrin & Co., brokers.

JAIL SENTENCE FOR AUTHER AND STOLEN WIFE

Milwaukee, Wis., March 16.—Pierre Paul Auther and Mrs. Charlotte Franzen, former wife of the chief decorator of the University of Wisconsin, were sentenced to three years in the state penitentiary at Waupun today when they pleaded guilty in the Municipal court to statutory charges.

The case of Auther and Mrs. Franzen gained nation-wide attention when, it was alleged, the supposed nobleman "robbed" the university decorator of his wife at the point of a gun, and fled with her to St. Louis, where they were arrested.

Auther, officials said, will be subject automatically to deportation as an undesirable alien at the expiration of his sentence.

MAN HIT BY TRAIN DIES.

THE KESSINGER RENT BILL.

Rents have not only infuriated tenants but they have poisoned the economic situation. At a time when labor is asked to come down, when the effort is to force prices down, and the attempt is to get off the stilts, landlords have taken advantage of people's needs and have boosted on a falling market.

They have not only boosted but they have left every economic fact out of consideration and have been without conscience. Rents have no relation to investment now, but represent a grinding usury, defiant of justice and community welfare.

The effect of this is apparent. A householder finds a perceptible or even a pronounced decrease in some of the articles necessary to subsistence. It may not be very large in some instances, but it indicates a trend downward.

Because of this workers have been asked to do their part in the readjustment and take lower wages in order that there can be a return to production, distribution, and normal demand. At this time the big item of rent is boosted, doubled or more than doubled. A householder may be getting bread or milk a cent cheaper. Shoes and clothes may be cheaper. He may find that he can save something on his purchases, but it amounts to nothing when he finds that he has to pay $40, $50, or $60 more a month for his flat.

The landlords have checked readjustment. They force the worker to say that he cannot live on less than he has been getting. He cannot live so well as he has been because so much more goes to pay for his place to live.

So harmful an act against the good of the community has forced the community to act and we are not certain that in acting determinedly it will act wisely. The primary fault is with the conscienceless landlord. We presume that no blanket indictment can lie against all the property owners, but it required the acts of a large number of them to drive so many tenants to desperation and they have created a situation in which they get no justification from their right to charge what they want to charge for property offered for rent.

The Kessinger bill is the answer to extortion. We have sympathy for the purpose of it. Doubts arise as to two things: One is the wisdom of establishing a precedent for public control of private property. The other is whether the act will create more embarrassments for the renters to whom it offers relief. Probably experience is the only proof.

If the act succeeded in relieving renters from extortionate landlords for such a period as would enable building to return to normal and to allow natural laws to operate on rents it would protect citizens who ought to be protected. It is the contention of its supporters that it will serve this purpose and not create other impediments to building.

We can see a possibility that it might put another obstacle in the way of building. The period of emergency to be covered by the act is fixed as ending July 1, 1925. It is said that this will be amended and shortened to 1923.

In that period if a city council wishes to create a rent commission it has the authority and the rent commission will determine what fair rentals are in cases brought before it. That makes rents a political question just as much as street car fares are a political question.

There will be a mayoralty campaign in 1923 and if Chicago has a rent commission, as it will have if the bill passes and is sustained in the courts, it is inevitable that the mayoralty campaign will be concerned with rents. It may easily be supposed that there will be, in this campaign, a demand that the period, if shortened to 1923, be extended. People having had city supervision of rental values will, we believe, be inclined to say that rental property is a public utility and should be regulated by the state.

Here is an issue, intensified by the fact that a great many people may have obtained rent reductions from a commission, which will dwarf the street car issue. In the latter people think in pennies and in the rent question in dollars. That will be about the relation of the two issues in intensity.

Now the question is what effect this will have upon investments. Will money flow as freely into building operations if rentals are a political question as it will if they are not? Will people hesitate to put their money in construction if they do not know how their property will be regulated? Politics makes uncertainty and uncertainty is a bad investment.

These questions arise. We confess we do not know what will happen. It is argued that New York, with rent laws, shows a stimulated building record. That may be. It may be the case in Chicago under the proposed law. Investment psychology would say otherwise and we do know that if political uncertainty keeps money from going into flat buildings the relief of the tenants is thus deferred.

Admittedly this is an emergency and the legislation proposed is emergency legislation. The question is whether it bridges over the emergency or extends it. The people who have the answer to that will know whether the Kessinger bill is a practical good. The answer may be in the way the law is administered. We know that the purpose is not to deprive a property owner of fair profits but to protect the renter against extortionate profits.

If administration proves that there is a guaranty of such a return as the builder in normal times would expect it may not intimidate or discourage any prospective builder. People ordinarily do not build to gouge but to meet competition, either by fair prices or enhanced attractiveness. When competition returns that will be the rule again. It will return when people can afford to build or think they are justified in making a building investment.

It boils down to this: The Kessinger bill is a good bill if as a law it produces only the results it intends to produce—providing you can dismiss the idea that it is a questionable precedent. It is not a good bill if it produces results which make a bad situation of longer life than it would have been without such a law.

We cannot blame the tenants for demanding it. We cannot blame the legislators for leaning towards it. And we don't know how it will work.

THE RAILROAD PROBLEM.

The problem of the railroads has entered an acute stage and must be dealt with forthwith. Business depression has hit the roads hard. The effect of the rate raise granted as an offset to inflated material costs and high wages has been defeated by a drastic reduction in traffic. At the same time it is feared the high rates are a contributing factor in business depression; therefore relief for the roads cannot be sought by way of a further increase of rates. In fact, many believe the lowering of rates might produce an increased revenue by encouraging the movement of goods. This, however, is a dubious theory. With operating costs at the present level an experiment in lowering rates would be extra hazardous, if not fatal. The financial and business situation is not such as to justify any experiments we can avoid, and our effort must be to draw the roads out of danger as fast as we can. While they are in the present condition they will constitute a principal element of weakness in our economic situation.

How are the roads to be relieved? They have attacked the problem of wage reduction and its solution is undoubtedly the first essential. But it is a difficult problem. Wages were advanced, especially during the war, without much thought of eventual consequences. For that we shall pay now in the form of much unnecessary friction and obstruction to readjustment. It is, however, obvious that blanket wage schedules which ignore local conditions of living cost and other considerations rightly entering into the fixing of fair compensation ought to be done away with. Rules and regulations of working conditions which indirectly raise wages should be carefully reconsidered and those conducive to inefficiency and waste should be abolished or corrected. The National Industrial Traffic league charges that approximately $300,000,000 a year is the total to be charged against unreasonable regulations. This neither the public nor the roads should tolerate, and it is a most encouraging sign that Brotherhood leaders declare they are willing to eliminate unjust and oppressive regulation. They assert that the executives have refused to confer with them for this purpose, but this hardly seems likely.

In any case, the whole subject must be canvassed without delay. The railroad labor board, it is to be hoped, will be able to proceed expeditiously to conclusions, for the need of relief is imperative. The proposal of Senator Cummins that congress investigate the railroad situation also seems timely. We do not welcome congressional inquiries as a rule, but certain serious charges have been made and call for authoritative verification or refutation if our railroad policy is to receive the support of public opinion, as it must if it is to survive the assaults of demagogues and radical theorists. The leaders of labor charge that railroad management is inefficient. Many business men incline to this belief. Labor also believes that railroads are managed in the interest of a small group of great financial powers rather than in the public interest. These are criticisms of capital importance and should be thoroughly investigated and the truth published.

The early relief of the railroads is essential to the early restoration of our business prosperity. We can neither afford to go on as we are nor enter into a struggle with labor to bring about a just liquidation of labor costs. It is incumbent, therefore, on both the railroad management and the leaders and rank and file of railway employés to keep their heads, to treat each other's claims in a spirit of fair play, and to coöperate for the protection of the interests they both have in common with the public. We must have readjustments, but they should be reached without strikes or peremptory methods on either side. Peace and work on fair terms are essential to all concerned. Common sense and public spirit will assure both.

TREES FOR SHADELESS STREETS.

[From the St. Louis Globe-Democrat.]

Under a policy designed to add beauty and comfort to St. Louis' many shadeless streets, the city forester is now engaged in setting out about 500 trees under arrangements with property owners. A charge of $4 is made for each tree and if any tree dies another will be substituted free of cost. Not many property owners are in a position to do this work themselves and persons with the requisite experience who may be engaged to do it are not always accessible at the opportune time. The consequence is that many miles of streets lack shade during the hot summer months and lack attractiveness during all months. On many of the newer streets of the city attempts at tree planting have been made only on a meager frontage here and there. On many of the older streets trees unsuitable to the city environment have died after flourishing for a while and small effort has been made to replant hardier varieties.

Though in some cities the cost as well as the duty of tree planting is a city function, the present lack of uniformity in the distribution of tree assets here justifies a small charge for the service and avoids any suspicion of favoritism to particular sections. Had the city assumed this function years ago on the existing terms, a vast difference would by this time have been made in the appearance and desirability of important residence districts. The trees which are being put in place this spring are maples and sycamores and no time should be lost in making up for the neglect of the past.

The season is opening unusually early, and unless opportunity is improved within a comparatively brief period, there must be a delay until next fall, perhaps until next spring. Like the expense, the inconvenience involved is small.

ANOTHER WELSHMAN

This is the eighth of a series of pen sketches of the members of President Harding's cabinet. The next sketch will be of A. B. Fall, secretary of the interior.

BY EYE WITNESS.

Washington, D. C., March 16.—[Special.]—In these cabinet adventures I nearly slipped up today. It is "cabinet day," which means that Tuesdays bring the hours-long conferences of the president with the ministers, and so everybody is more than usually full of self-importance and preoccupation.

JAMES JOHN DAVIS.

Two of the three cabinet members we have yet to visit with in this series made the plea of "cabinet day," and begged off. Not so the third. He made the plea, but he did not beg off. After the cabinet meeting broke up and got itself distributed into the ante-rooms of the executive offices the postmaster general jointed a thumb toward me and called to a stocky, robust little man, "O, Jim, you can't do better than see him," which I thought was right friendly of Will Harrison Hays.

The "Jim" in question was James John Davis, the new secretary of labor, and he, having shouted back, "All right!" to Mr. Hays, caught me under the arm and said, "Come on, let's beat it through here," and we beat it through a tunnel, with cannon, flanking it, that runs beneath the state, war and navy building. While we were beating it he said, "This union of cabinet officers don't strike me! You work eight hours a day, but it's in two shifts."

"I suppose you are frightfully busy," I said, "and I'm sorry to pester you."

"That's all right," he replied. "I'll crowd you in with my lunch. I am awfully busy, though. I have been coming in here at 7 in the morning and waddling into it till midnight."

Don't you love that phrase, "waddling into it"? Any other man would have said "wading."

"You see," he continued, "I've inherited ten or twelve controversies—big controversies—and the idea is [it's the president's idea] to get to 'em before they burst into trouble instead of after. They're big controversies, too! Say, it's like a secretary of war taking office one day and finding a declaration of war on his hands the next."

By that time we had reached his office on the seventh floor of the big, business-like building of the department of labor, and he—whipping off his sack coat with the remark, "I guess there won't be any ladies in here today"—turned to a colored man and said, "Judge, get me my lunch."

"Judge" allowed he gladly would.

Then the new chief of a department with ten subdepartments, every one of which has a direct influence on the health and happiness of every man, woman, and child in the republic, ate his lunch from his huge glass topped desk.

On the desk, amid masses of papers, lay two books, one a life of Abraham Lincoln, the other a life of Lloyd George. "Whose 'Lincoln' is that?" I asked. "Hill's," said he; "it's a new one. I've read all the others."

Throughout the talk that followed you must vision the secretary as looking straight at you from a pair of deep brown eyes with a curiously melting light in them and you must pace rapidly with him through swift, short sentences that contain the phrases, "To beat the band," and "hang-overs" and "you bet," and that yet are not slangy or uncouth in their effect upon you. They do not belittle the man.

Here is a curious fact: The father of the prime minister of the Harding cabinet was born in the same town as was the secretary of labor of the Harding cabinet—the town of Tredegar, South Wales, where the big iron and steel works are, and in the parish of Bedewelty in that town. The secretary told me that from 4 to 8 years of age he went to the Bedewelty parish school and then got more schooling in the autumns and winters in this country until he was 11. Thus vanishes the myth that J. J. D. was wholly self-educated.

Here is another curious fact: You workingmen of this country came near not having Davis for secretary of labor. In 1918 he booked himself for the European battlefields on the steamship Tuscania. Some friends of his could not make that boat, so Mr. Davis had to wait. The Tuscania went to the bottom on that voyage.

Davis is iron gray atop a round, competent head. He is lofty browed, round cheeked, vigorous and cheerful, and seems more robust than rugged—I don't know that I can make the difference between the two clear, but it is there. His back is broad and his heart light, and he passionately loves children—his own two and everybody's. He inclines to stoutish, but his features are clean and comely, especially the nose and eyes.

He is smooth shaven, wears a dark gray sack suit, but no jewelry except a massive fraternal charm, is 48 years old, and if he wanted to say "A man comes to me and says, he says"—then he would say it that way, and you or Andrew Mellon, to whom he was talking at the moment, could take it or leave it. Cousin Andrew was listening.

Here are some other things Davis said:

"If we can give every child in America at least a high school education and a trade our troubles will be over. For with the trade he'll have something to do, and with the education he can reason out the problems of his life, as well as be ready for the chance to rise above his trade if he is mentally capable of something higher.

"I know that if a man does not get fair wages and works too long hours he's not going to become a good citizen.

"Decent wages, decent hours make good citizenship. That's my slogan. To realize for myself and others—that's been my life.

"I am determined that immigrants shall be treated humanely at our ports of arrival. The first impressions made on immigrants are the lasting ones."

He wants to direct the tide of immigrancy to the farms and says to do that the government ought to be in a position to make them a loan, "for the purchase of a horse, a cow or two, and some pigs and chickens," because, he adds, "it is not like it was in the old days. The timber lands are down and they can't go out and build a log cabin the way your grandfather did in Michigan."

He talked of child welfare and working hours for women and of the Loyal Order of Moose, of which he said "I am kind of the father of it—it was dead when I jumped in fifteen years ago," and of the old days when he was a "master puddler" at the age of 16. He was solicitous I should get that accurately, for he added, "I was a master workman, or a 'boss puddler,' as they call it, but I suppose 'master workman' sounds better.

"My father was a puddler, too, and so was his father, in iron."

Davis is strong.

The other day Lew Strayer came away from him and he was tenderly fussing over the fingers of his right hand.

"What's the matter?" somebody asked.

"Gee," said Mr. Strayer, "I've just shaken hands with J. J. Davis and now I'm prying my fingers apart."

Just as I am finishing this dispatch the telephone rings and an undersecretary says, "Mr. Secretary Davis will be much obliged if Mr. Eye Witness will call up the secretary."

I think, "O, Lord, he's going to tell me now not to quote him on so and so."

But I call up and he says, "Say, did I tell you about my wife and two children—boy aged 4 years and a baby 11 months old? I'm relatively a newly wed, you see."

Well, he had told me but I liked his being so eager about all that. His wife, I read in the society columns, is the handsomest of the cabinet ladies, and when he took the oath of his new office before Sam Gompers' son the other day she congratulated her husband by stealing up and kissing him in front of them all.

THE GARDEN AS A PHYSICIAN

The best argument for an early spring garden on your own lot is found in an authoritative new book about scurvy written by Hess. In his extensive researches he found the antiscorbutic principle rather widely spread in nature. In a table he designated an absence of antiscorbutic principle by O, a moderate amount by +, more by ++, and still more by +++, with the following results:

Lean meat	+
Liver	+
Canned meats	O
Beef juice	+
Whole raw (cow's) milk	+
Raw skim (cow's) milk	+
Dried (cow's) milk	+
Boiled (cow's) milk	Less than +
Pasteurized (cow's) milk	Less than +
Sweetened condensed milk	Less than +
Fresh eggs	O?
Dried eggs	O?
All cereals	O
Sprouted pulses and cereals	++
Fresh cabbage	+++
Cooked cabbage	+
Dried cabbage	Very slight
Lettuce	++
Swede	++
Fresh raw carrots	+
Dried carrots	O
Raw beet juice	Less than +
Cooked potatoes	+
Dried potatoes	O
Fresh raw beans	++
Onions	++
Fresh lemon juice	+++
Preserved lemon juice	++
Fresh lime juice	++
Preserved lime juice	Very little
Orange juice	+++
Raspberries	++
Grapes	+
Apples	+
Bananas	Very little
Canned tomatoes	+++
Human blood	+
Meat extract	None
Yeast	None
Beer	None
Cod liver oil	None
Olive oil	None

While he has not reported on tender, young, home grown fresh radishes, green peas, spinach, green corn, and tomatoes, it is a good bet that they have an abundance of this antiscorbutic substance.

Hess found it impossible to establish a fixed standard and says one pound of this vegetable contained invariably a certain amount and one pound of another another amount. So much depended on the freshness of the vegetables and their being just exactly ripe enough, but not too ripe. To have plenty of this quality they must have plenty of sap and juice, be just right as to ripeness and very fresh. For instance, milk consumed near where it was produced had more of it than milk produced in the country and manhandled as it journeyed to town.

Here is the scientific explanation of why fish eaten at the water side tasted best and were best; why fresh eggs on the farm had a flavor town eggs could never have; why things mother used to make tasted so good to us country raised men and women.

A fellow feels tempted to defy the authorities and get him a milk cow and keep her in the kitchenette or to defy his natural born laziness and plant a few rows of vegetables in the back yard.

When the British troops were locked up in Kut and scurvy was about to kill them all, they soaked some grain, put it in the ground and let it sprout and then ate the sprouts. They saved themselves by so doing.

No city man is so hard up for soil to plant in as were these beleaguered soldiers. Nor does the matter stop there. The babes at the breast have to be considered. Experiments show that cow's milk contains plenty of this antiscorbutic substance when the cows get plenty of green grass. The golden yellow June milk and butter contain much of it and milk from cows fed on dry feed contains little. Likewise the milk of a mother eating fresh, natural ripened vegetables and fruits contains it in abundance.

Cooking was found to be destructive to this substance, but in varying degree. If any soda was used in cooking it destroyed the antiscorbutic substance, particularly if the cooking was prolonged. On the other hand, the use of mild acids, such as orange juice, lemon juice, tomato juice, and vinegar, did not harm it. Quick cooking at a high temperature was less harmful than that done at a low temperature for a longer time.

MAY CAUSE BRIGHT'S DISEASE.

Mrs. P. G. G. writes: "Today's paper tells of Woodrow Wilson's illness and says the particular treatment for head colds which Mr. Wilson took brought on Bright's disease. How could such a thing happen? What is the treatment they refer to?"

REPLY.

I do not know what treatment was used. I know of no treatment for head colds which causes Bright's disease and I think it more likely that repeated head colds were responsible for whatever Bright's disease there was. A head cold is an infection. Bright's disease is not infrequently the result of just that kind of infection.

NOT BENEFICIAL HABIT.

M. A. C. writes: "In a general way what is your opinion of 'internal bathing' in relation to general good health for persons in normal health but who feel the need of a general cleaning out? Is continued use liable to lead to weakness in any way?"

REPLY.

By internal bathing you mean the regular use of large enemas. The objection to the plan is that it induces the enema habit. Those who follow the practice shortly find it necessary to add some form of salts.

A FRENCH PATRIOT ON FRANCE.

Chicago, March 14.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—In your issue of March 12 and again in one of your editorials of today you give considerable space to an interview given to your correspondent by the secretary of the treasury, Mr. Andrew Mellon.

The article of March 12 featured in large type the promise that the new secretary of the treasury would "keep out mendicants"—that is to say, the European nations—but no definite mention was made of France.

It is not so in your editorial of this morning entitled "Uncle Andrew Said a Mouthful." This article is largely devoted to criticisms of my country, and I am sure you will not refuse to give publicity to what I feel bound to say in defense of France. The general contention is that France always expanded by the sword, whereas Great Britain expanded by trade, thus gaining stability for her conquests—and you instance India and Canada—after which you proceed to make five definite charges against France.

Let me answer these charges as briefly as I can, prefixing as a remark that, although France is alleged to have expanded by the sword while Britain expanded by trade, in the two cases in point—viz.: Canada and India—it would serve that Great Britain, too, sometimes expanded by the sword.

1. The French army is not larger than before the war. How could it be with the duration of military service cut down from three years to exactly half that time?

2. Why say that Germany and Russia are the sick parts of the world? Is not Austria sick? Is not Poland in a degree which has appalled all American observers? And is not France, horribly devastated as she is and impoverished to an unsuspected extent? Why reserve your sympathy exclusively for Germany and the Russia of soviets? Why?

3 and 4. The French did not create Poland as a military power, nor was it their policy which resulted in the formation of Czecho-Slovakia (for Czecho-Slovakia is evidently the other small nation you mean). If they had done so they ought to be proud of it, for these peoples prize their freedom above what you call their "ability to live"—i. e., material prosperity, which will come in its day, too. But the liberation of Poland and Czecho-Slovakia was the result of a world-wide desire for justice which I thought had been affirmed in America louder than anywhere else. It is painful to see it hinted that Poland and Bohemia had been wiser to go on eating the bread of their masters. This is not what the Americans of 1775 would have advised.

5. "All the French think about is the military need of France," you say. My dear sir, all the French think about is the necessity to keep alive. Thank heaven, I have met in America in my lecturing tours thousands and thousands who realize that French is not a bully but a suffering nation trying to get justice. What France wants from Germany is not even that this country shall pay the war expenditure forced upon her; it is that the devastation to home and land shall be repaired, and nothing else.

This is not the time to bring reckless accusations against nations. I have no doubt that we make mistakes, but they are not the mistakes you allege; they are not the mistakes of militarism or imperialism. France is too sick of war, too sick by war, to be militarist.

THE GERMAN REPARATIONS.

Chicago, March 12.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—You are, of course, entitled to your own views in the matters that you publish in THE DAILY TRIBUNE, but I want to protest against the character of several of the recent cartoons in regard to the indemnity demanded of Germany. The cartoons seem to me to be decidedly pro-German, and considering Germany's responsibility for the war, and their manner of conducting it, and also their policy in not conforming to the demands of the allies, which remind one very much of the tactics they used with this country, I do not feel that THE TRIBUNE should seem to represent Germany as being ill treated by the allies, and this, I think, has been done by the cartoons you have published lately.

HEY, FELLERS—WATCH YOUR SMOKE!

Chicago, March 9.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—The air is getting bluer and bluer, some of it's smoke, some of it's laws, and some more was added this morning when I unraveled the old paper and sees what the blue nosed reformers is trying to do with our nerve easin' cigarets and jimmy pipes. I blew a fuse and filled the air with blue notes.

Laws is all right to regulate the "squint brains" and keep 'em in tow, but these here pussy-footin' birds is edging in too close on the natural preserve of a man's castle, his home, and they wants to peek behind the blinds too much.

Course we agree that it was terrible in our athletic days to have an alcohol rub after a stiff race. I tremble now when I thinks of the awful chance we took of becoming bums from absorbing the fumes. Stopping us from a drag on a pill is different and we gotta watch out.

Kansas prohibits the sale of cigarets and papers. Utah passed a bill stopping the sale and smoking in public places. In Texas it is unlawful to play checkers, dominoes, or cards in a public place. In the entire state of Oklahoma, and as early as 1915 in six counties in Missouri and in forty-one counties in Texas, no billiard tables or bowling alleys are allowed. We are next, according to the papers.

I sez you can't make men honest and upright or women virtuous by legislation. Seems to me I'd rather struggle and fail as a free man than havin' to go through life with no better recommendation for decency than a certificate issued by the capitol which is backed up with a copper's club.

NIC O TINE.

FAIR ENOUGH.

Chicago, March 11.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Dear Sir: The plan to make England pay up her debts by giving us land in exchange is O. K. with me, but please hold up the deal on Jamaica until the first of the year.

Having heard of the wonderful prices, such as $1.25 per bottle, I am saving up to see the world.

Thanking you for any help you can give me in this request, P. K. F.

KEEP THE OCEAN WET.

Chicago, March 14.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—I have been a great admirer of your paper and especially of some of your editorials, but the one in Sunday, March 13, relative to the question of traveling on the so-called "wet or dry" boats seems to me the most absurd argument I have ever read in any paper.

Why! the idea of amending a law which is not only a foolish one but is taking more of this so-called "liberty" away from the American people by compelling them to travel on tubs seems too ridiculous for a man of your ability to put into print. J. BONE.

THE NEW BRIGADIER.

Evanston, Ill., March 14.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Alas, poor Grayson! I knew him well. Does any one now recall the perturbation of the senate when he was nominated as an officer of the navy? Let "Dr. Moses," the Republican statesman [?], and THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE sound a fanfare of welcome for the new brigadier general from Marion. He's going to get his new uniform next week and show 'em all. Show 'em what?

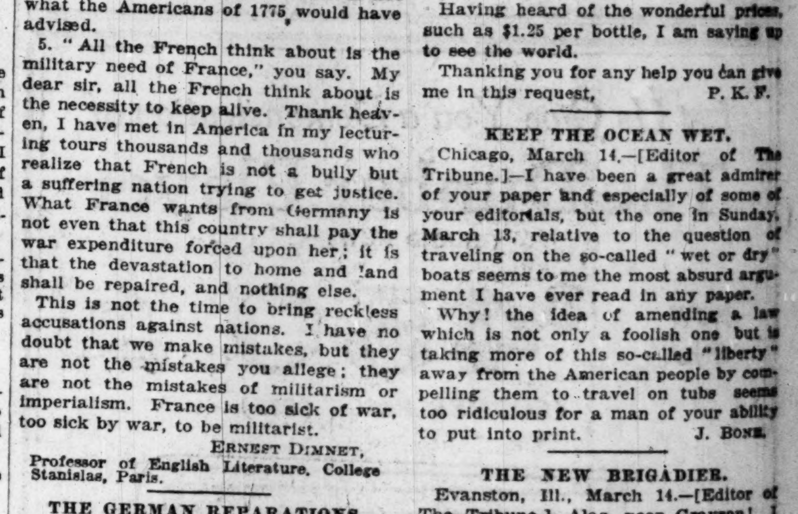
ARMENIA FREED OF REDS



New York, March 16.—A successful counter revolution has occurred in Armenia, and bolshevist invaders have been driven from power, said messages received here today by the Near East Relief. The cables added that a new government had been set up in Erivan and now controlled a wide area of the country.

The bolshevist army surrendered and its officers were at once placed under guard, said one message, signed by Dr. Clarence D. Usher, representing the relief organization in Erivan, capital of Armenia. The cable added that the jails were at once cleared of prisoners incarcerated by the bolshevist authorities and a new ministry formed.

"Few excesses were committed," the cablegram read, "but the country is in an impoverished condition, with urgent need for food and clothing."

AUTO FACTORIES BRIGHTEST SPOT OF U. S. INDUSTRY

Washington, D. C., March 16.—Net decrease of about 16,295 in the number of persons employed in the United States was shown during February, the department of labor's employment service announced tonight.

The monthly report said 1,423 firms in the sixty-five principal industrial centers employed, on Feb. 28, 1,626,958, compared with 1,643,253 on Jan. 31. This was a net decrease of 16,295, or about 1 per cent.

Some increases were shown. They were 18.8 per cent in factories, making autos and other "land vehicles," 8.5 in textile factories, and 7.7 per cent in factories dealing with leather products. Decreases were shown of 7.3 per cent in the iron and steel industries, 6.6 per cent in railroad repair shops, 6 per cent in chemical plants, and 5.7 in producers of liquor and beverages.

The greatest general decrease among the sixty-five industrial centers was at Denver, Colo., with 24.9 per cent, while Youngstown, O., Indianapolis, Ind., San Francisco, Cal., and Grand Rapids, Mich., followed in that order.

Chattanooga, Tenn., showed the greatest increase with 67.6 gain, while Detroit gained 34.7 per cent, while others showing employment increases were Peoria, Ill., Johnstown, Pa., and Bridgeport, Conn.

Reports from New York City, Boston, and St. Louis showed an increase in the percentage of employed, while figures for Chicago, Baltimore, Cleveland, Philadelphia, Los Angeles, and Pittsburgh gave a decrease.

New England reports showed general improvement. Unemployment and part time employment were most prevalent in the textile, shoe, machinery, metal, and building industries. The New England textile mills are recovering.

Labor conditions generally in Ohio, Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, and Wisconsin indicated improvement, with prospects of further betterment. Minnesota, Iowa, Missouri, Nebraska, Kansas, and the Dakotas also reported an improvement. Public works and building activities helped there.

The housing shortage was accentuated in reports from Arkansas, Louisiana, Oklahoma, and Texas.

BOSTON'S MAYOR TRIES SCHEME OF HARUN-AL-RASHID

Like Caliph, Will Befriend Poor.

Boston, Mass., March 16.—It was a weary and a tattered mayor of Boston who came to the city hall today. Mayor Andrew J. Peters, seeking to learn at first hand unemployment conditions and how the city is meeting them, spent the night incognito at Wayfarers' lodge, where the city shelters the homeless and feeds them in the morning.

In a room with forty unfortunates he lay on a municipal bed and slept fairly well. He was routed out at 5 o'clock and sent to the wood pile. After four hours there it was decided he had earned his breakfast and, with the oatmeal, bread, and coffee eaten, he went to the city hall.

The figure with frayed coat and faded hat was halted at the door of the mayor's office and it was not until his secretary saw him that he was recognized and admitted. Mussed up raincoat, muddy boots, old brown suit and faded flannel shirt, with a faded handkerchief as a neckpiece, had effectually disguised the former congressman and assistant secretary of the treasury.

"Chopping wood is certainly an excellent way to get up an appetite," he added. "It seemed a long time before we could stop work and go in for breakfast.

"As a whole, the Wayfarers' lodge is to be congratulated on the way it is run. The quarters are well kept and clean. The men I saw at the lodge were strong, able bodied, able to work and I assume, willing to work.

"I went up to the superintendent of the lodge, whom I have met there before, and wishing to make some pleasant remark, asked him if he didn't know a good many of the people who came in there. He gave me a cold eye and said, 'I don't have to know any one I don't want to.' He was at the door when I left and I said that I would come back some time and that I hoped he would remember me."

As a result of the night's experience he will recommend to the city council the expenditure of $42,900 to extend the facilities of the lodge.

STUDENTS RIOT AS EX-PREMIER CAILLAUX TALKS

GRENOBLE, France, March 16.—Numerous persons were injured in rioting which took place here today outside a theater where Joseph Caillaux, former premier, was delivering a lecture under the auspices of the Socialist municipality and the League for the Rights of Man. M. Caillaux was freed in 1920 after having been sentenced to several years' imprisonment for his "defeatist policy" during the war.

He was accompanied here by his wife, but as soon as his presence became known, a group of university students stormed his hotel. The students were repulsed but the couple left the building under escort of the mayor and proceeded to a suburban station, where Mme. Callaux took a train for Lyons.

M. Caillaux stayed, despite the hostile demonstration, and delivered his lecture. The riot outside the theater assumed serious proportions and order was restored with difficulty.

HUNT THIRD MAN FOR RISK FRAUD PLOT AND MURDER

Mysterious "Guy" Named by Virgil Decker.

Warsaw, Ind., March 16.—[Special.]—With a partial confession obtained from Virgil Decker, the 19 year old farmer boy, who is the leading figure suspected in connection with the murder last Saturday of Le Roy Lovett at Atwood, Ind., officials of Marshall and Kosciusko counties tonight were searching for another man, declared to be the "master mind" in a fraud plot unequaled in the annals of the state.

Decker, arrested in Marion, Ind., last night after a tip to a TRIBUNE correspondent had disclosed his hiding place, was brought here today.

Decker Denies He's Slayer.

He has admitted he accompanied Lovett from his home in Elkhart to Goshen, Ind., thence here, and finally to the cabin on the banks of the Tippecanoe river, where the murder was committed.

He still denies having killed Lovett. He declares he "doesn't remember" who attacked Lovett, then took the unconscious boy to the railroad crossing and left him in a dilapidated buggy for a passing Pennsylvania train to strike.

Decker has named a third man in the affair—a mysterious "Guy," whose last name, he says, he doesn't know. "Guy" accompanied the party to the shack, Decker declares, and Lovett and "Guy" were alone there.

Youth's Brother Seized.

Decker's brother Arthur, 16 years old, was being held by the Kosciusko county authorities this afternoon. No charge was placed against him. The two brothers are the only members of the Decker family who have been under arrest in connection with the killing.

Actual details of the crime and its motive are still shrouded in mystery. Circumstantial evidence points to Virgil Decker as the slayer. The same evidence points to an attempt to defraud four insurance companies as the motive. The body of Lovett was identified as that of Decker by four of Decker's relatives immediately after its discovery. If that identification had been allowed to stand and the body had been buried, Fred Decker, brother of Virgil, would have benefited by nearly $30,000 from accident insurance carried by Virgil, it is maintained.

See Flaws in Virgil's Story.

Virgil Decker is being grilled continuously. Officials present at the inquisition declare that he had been caught in misstatements several times.

Miss Carrie Eggleston of Elkhart, Ind., a friend of both boys, is believed to have put a crimp in Virgil's attempt to establish an alibi by denying his story that he spent Saturday evening, the evening of the tragedy, visiting her.

The funeral of the Lovett boy will take place at the home of his parents in Elkhart Friday afternoon.

FIGURES IN MURDER MYSTERY

Le Roy Lovett, the farmer boy who was mysteriously slain at Atwood, Ind., in what is now believed to have been an attempt to defraud four insurance companies in which his chum and double, Virgil Decker, was insured for $30,000.

Miss Carrie Eggleston of Elkhart, Ind., who has blasted the alibi of Virgil Decker, double of the slain Le Roy Lovett, by denying his story that he spent the evening of the tragedy, last Saturday, visiting her. She is said to have been a friend of both boys.

SIX SISTERS GET BULK OF $6,000,000 HOPKINS ESTATE

Final settlement of the will of the late John P. Hopkins, former mayor of Chicago, was made yesterday when the estate, valued at nearly $6,000,000, was closed on a showing made by John McCormick, the administrator. The property goes to Hopkins' six sisters, the Miss Adelia A. Catherine, and Julia Hopkins; Mrs. Josephine McCormick, Mrs. Annie B. Lydon, and Mrs. Mary Ann Bonfield, and a cousin, Mrs. Agnes McFay.

More than $1,000,000 in taxes was paid by the executors from 1918, the year of Hopkins' death, to 1921. Personal property was valued at $5,696,137, mostly in stocks and bonds. The real estate included Chicago property to the amount of $5,550.

Sir Arthur is in Chicago to deliver a course of lectures at Northwestern university.

WARNING!

IN ORDER to protect users of Ever-Ready Safety Razor Blades, we feel it our duty to warn against the buying of old, unconditioned war goods that have found their way back to the U. S. A. and into this market, at "bargain" prices.

These blades were originally shipped to France more than three years ago and during the war were allowed to deteriorate through exposure and general neglect.

Some merchants have unsuspectingly purchased these goods from unauthorized selling agents. Others—selfish, profit-seeking dealers—stocked these blades knowingly, in spite of our efforts to keep them off the market.

We intend to protect regular users of Ever-Ready Radio Blades. Any individual who has bought these old army blades, or should in the near future unknowingly buy them, can send or bring such blades to our Chicago Headquarters, 207 South Green Street, together with the sales slip, showing where purchased, and exchange them for fresh, new, perfect Ever-Ready Radio Blades—the best Safety Razor Blades made.

NOTICE:—These old war goods can be identified by the fact that they are packed according to Government instructions, 12 blades to a carton. All standard Ever-Ready Blades are always packed 6 to a carton.

Some merchants, realizing that these old blades can be identified by the 12 packing, are selling them loose. For your protection, do not buy loose Ever-Ready Radio Blades! Buy the package of 6 for 40c at all good stores.

Confidence

Frequently YELLOW CABS gather together little mites of humanity and tote them off to school. No chaperone or parent accompanies them. They are in the sole charge of the driver. And how he does enjoy his responsibility! He is naturally a careful, prudent and thorough protector.

I don't believe there can be any clearer proof of Public Confidence than this. Fond parents are mighty slow to entrust their little ones to anyone—much less to cab drivers whom they do not know. So that this great trust reposed in the YELLOW CAB driver—whoever he may be—is a direct tribute to the YELLOW CAB organization as a whole and to its organized and financial responsibility.

It is a definite tribute to the System of operation. It is public recognition of the care observed by the organization in picking its men. No corporation in the world, however careful it may be, however systematic, can boast of greater confidence than that shown by Chicago in the YELLOW CAB when it trusts its dearest possessions to the drivers.

Our men fully appreciate the fact that they have won the Public's Confidence, and they—and we—are, of course, inspired to do everything we can to retain this priceless reputation.

TARIFF FIRST? TAX BILL FIRST? HARDING TO SAY

G. O. P. Forces Divided on Action to Take.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., March 16.—[Special.]—President Harding will devote two or three days to hearing both sides of the controversy over the order of precedence of tax and tariff legislation before finally approving a program. He talked to several congressmen today and will talk with others tomorrow.

Representative Fordney, chairman of the house ways and means committee, is confident the president will approve enactment of a permanent tariff bill before tax legislation. This program has the support of thirteen of the fifteen Republican members of the ways and means committee and also of a majority of the Republican members of the senate finance committee.

Temporary Tariff Idea Dead.

The question of a temporary tariff is no longer an issue. All concerned have accepted the conference verdict, that it would be impracticable. The emergency legislation will take the form of an anti-dumping bill and a measure for the fixing of duties on domestic values of imports instead of on foreign values.

But those who insist on the priority of tax legislation have redoubled their activities. Representative Mondell of Wyoming, Republican leader of the house, is one of these. He holds that if the ways and means committee puts tax legislation first the house can send a bill to the senate within two weeks after the special session opens, thus giving the senate a quick start at the problem.

With a tariff bill given precedence, he contends, the house will require nearer two months to act on it. A tax law, he believes, could be enacted at an early date this summer.

Such a law would not apply to tax payments made in the calendar year of 1921, but would apply to income and corporation taxes for this year, collectable next year.

Tariff Advocates' Stand.

Those urging priority for the tariff bill declare it will take as long to report a tax bill as a tariff bill from the ways and means committee. They say the ways and means committee has completed tariff hearings and can draft a bill in about six weeks.

They say tax legislation hearings would last at least two or three weeks and then drafting the bill would take about a month. Then, they say, enactment before Oct. 1 would be doubtful.

A delegation of Republican members of the ways and means committee is to visit President Harding tomorrow. Among those likely to go are Representatives Green of Iowa, Frear of Wisconsin, Young of North Dakota, Timberlake of Colorado, Hawley of Oregon, and Hadley of Washington.

Among members of the ways and means committee who saw President Harding today was Representative Longworth of Ohio. He is for tax revision first.

Left Suicide Note, but May Have Changed Mind

"There is happiness in death, for I have witnessed it." This was the note left by C. C. Lester, Abbotsford, Wis., who disappeared from his room in the New Imperial hotel, 316 South State street, yesterday. Another letter found by the police later read: "My last wish: Please send the satchel and letters to my wife, Mrs. C. C. Lester, in Abbotsford, Wis. My last cent is gone and I am sick. I am ending it all if I can reach the lake." The police believe it possible Lester might have changed his mind.

SENATE BODY IS UNANIMOUS FOR "STATE POLICE"

Springfield, Ill., March 16.—[Special.]—By unanimous vote of the senate committee on community welfare, the Dunlap bill for the establishment of the Illinois state police was reported out with favorable recommendation. There seems little doubt but that the bill will be passed by the senate.

Organized labor forces, as indicated in the committee session, indicated they wished delay. The ultimate fate of the bill probably depends upon the pressure that can be exerted by labor's spokesmen in the house.

Apparently the senators caught the spirit of the proposal. The suggestion of a motorcycle corps of road patrolmen rather than a "cavalry troop of Cossacks," seemed to satisfy the committee.

John M. Glenn had the committee record show that he, on behalf of the organized Illinois manufacturers, objected to the provision in the bill requiring the governor to order out the state police before it can operate in a strike situation. No amendment to the contrary was introduced.

Substantial action was taken in the house judiciary committee this afternoon when the bills advocated by Supt. of Police Fitzmorris and the Chicago crime commission were reported out unanimously.

These are the three measures introduced by Representative Baldwin. Mr. Fitzmorris declared they will cover the carrying of concealed weapons and their use in illegal circumstances.

The house civil service commission killed Representative Bippus' bill to turn over to the city hall the right to remove all civil service employés without trial. The bill affected downstate cities and Representative Searcy, Springfield, took the initiative in destroying it.

After two hours of senate debate, consideration of the bill raising salaries of Supreme court justices from $10,000 to $15,000 was postponed.

Come Early in the Day!

IF you want the greatest value you ever saw in elegant fabrics for suits made to your order, come to my store now. COME EARLY IN THE MORNING, before the crowd appears. They are coming strong—and it isn't surprising. Listen! You don't often get a chance to have a regular $100 suit made to your order for $39—do you? Well, that's why the crowd is coming.

A swell Chicago tailor was forced to raise money quickly to pay a note that he owed. He needed money more than anything else. He offered me his entire line of all wool fabrics—the kinds he used for his $100, $110 and $125 suits—at a price so low that I didn't hesitate. I took all he had. I paid him spot cash.

This tailor makes suits only for swell dressers. He never asks less than $100. Now you know why it will pay you to come in. You have to get a spring suit, and you might as well get a $100 suit or a $110 or $125 suit when you can get it for $39, $49 or $59. Don't you think so? Come in anyhow and see.

That's why I urge you to come. Come EARLY IN THE MORNING, and see the $100 fabrics which I will use in suits I make for $39—and more than that—right now I can, for only $49, make your Easter suit to your order out of regular $110 goods—and for $59 you can get regular $125 fabrics. Every piece of goods, whether you pay $39, $49 or $59, is all wool, and I will make you an extra pair of trousers FREE.

I guarantee everything—fabric, tailoring, fit—everything. If you are not satisfied I will refund your money—every cent—without a question. Read my ad to the right of this editorial.

Yours truly,
HARRY MITCHELL.

MAY CUT SURTAX ON THE INCOMES OF INDIVIDUALS

Now So High It Curtails Investments.

ARTICLE NO. 11.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., March 16.—[Special.]—Revision of present surtax rates on individual incomes is in prospect in connection with the general overhauling of the tax system.

Treasury experts hold that the surtax rates in the highest brackets are now excessive and should be reduced. The present surtax rates go to 65 per cent, which, with the normal tax of 8 per cent, makes a total maximum of 73 per cent. This, it is contended, is so high as to defeat the purpose of the tax by forcing investments in tax exempt securities.

Involved in the proposition is the question as to whether a progressive income tax shall remain the foundation of the tax structure. The experts associated with the treasury department strongly favor the retention of the progressive income tax, but fear that under pressure of war the system may have been overdriven and that unless its burdens are reduced sentiment may become strong for its entire abolition or the transfer of the greater part of the load to a sales tax or some other revenue raising device.

Can't Colleect When Too High.

Friends of the progressive income tax system hold that the remedy is not its abolition, but a revision.

The highest surtax rates in the present law were put in over the protest of the treasury department. The purpose obviously was to take away two-thirds of the income of the wealthiest citizens as part of the war time taxation program. The effect is shown by the fact that in 1916, when tax rates were relatively low, there was reported by taxpayers having a net income of $300,000 over $992,000,000 of net income. This total was reduced in 1918 to $392,000,000, indicating that a rate of 73 per cent cannot be successfully enforced. At present a 60 per cent surtax applies on net incomes above $200,000; 63 per cent on net incomes above $300,000; 64 per cent on net incomes above $500,000; and 65 per cent on net incomes above $1,000,000. Rates between 40 and 60 per cent apply on incomes between $82,000 and $200,000.

Reaction on Industry.

The transfer of investments into tax free securities means that the market becomes less favorable for the industrial and railroad securities upon which the development of industry intimately depends.

The effective way to deal with the situation, according to treasury experts, is to adopt surtax rates that do not force investment in tax exempt securities.

There is sentiment among many members of congress for placing the maximum surtax at not more than 40 per cent. The bill recently introduced by Representative Longworth, fixes a 40 per cent minimum. His bill does not revise the lower surtax rates and consequently would mean a loss of about $125,000,000 in revenue.

Former Secretary of the Treasury Houston offered two alternative suggestions relative to surtax rates. One was that there be a general reduction of the higher surtaxes accompanied by increases in lower surtax rates. The other that surtax rates be limited possibly to about 20 per cent on that part of the taxpayer's income which is saved and reinvested in property or business yielding taxable income, leaving higher rates, perhaps the present rates, upon income which is spent or wasted or invested in tax free securities.

Under this plan if a person made $300,000 during a year and reinvested $200,000 in taxable securities surtax rates would be reduced to 20 per cent on the $200,000.

It has been estimated by treasury experts that with a 28 or 30 per cent income tax, including the 8 per cent normal tax, taxpayers could invest in industrial, railroad, and similar securities, and have as much left after paying their taxes as if they purchased municipal or other tax free securities.

The estimated loss in revenue by the adoption of the 20 per cent maximum on saved income is $230,000,000.

Another Treasury Suggestion.

Another suggestion made by the treasury experts to prevent the investment of money in tax free securities is that surtax rates shall be adjusted to the entire net income, including tax free income. The taxpayer would not be taxed on the tax free income, being allowed a reduction on that portion, but by including the tax free portion in determining what rate applies the effect would be to boost the rates on the taxable portion, and thus discourage investment in tax free securities. The treasury department thinks it is entirely within the province of congress to determine the surtaxes by the portionate part of the tax free income by permitting the deduction of a proportionate part of the tas free income from income subject to tax in each bracket.

Consideration has been given to the constitutionality of this scheme, and both treasury officials and some of the members of the house ways and means committee do not believe the courts would hold against it. It is contended that this scheme would not be construed as an attempt to tax the tax free income, but only to establish a rule that surtaxes should be determined by the total net income of the taxpayer.

The effect of this plan would be in the case of a person with an income of $400,000, of which $200,000 is tax exempt, to increase his tax by $22,745. The present surtax on $400,000 is $200,510. If the tax exempt part of the total income were extended over all brackets it would mean a surtax of $100,255 with $200,000 tax exempt, as against a surtax of $77,510, which is the present surtax on $200,000.

PAUPER, DOWN TO LAST $200,000, M'CARTHY SAYS

Denies Wife's Story of $1,250,000 Inheritance

MRS. W. J. McCARTHY.

William J. McCarthy, former secretary of the Great Lakes Dredge and Dock company, stoutly maintained he was a "pauper" at the hearing in Judge Sabath's court yesterday to determine the amount of separate maintenance he shall pay his wife, Mrs. Margaret M. McCarthy.

His finances are in bad shape, he said, due to his wife "snooping around my office to get the dope on me." He said he is compelled to struggle along on about $260,000.

Early last year Judge Foell denied his wife's petition for separate maintenance, but the Appellate court reversed the decision and ordered the Superior court to fix the amount of separate maintenance.

"I lost my job at the Great Lakes company because my wife was always snooping around the office looking for evidence she could use in this case," McCarthy said. "She bribed a bookkeeper to give her duplicate keys to my desk and the combination of the company's safe."

Attorney Perry S. Patterson, representing Mrs. McCarthy, sought to show that McCarthy had received an inheritance of $1,250,000 from his deceased father. McCarthy produced his income tax sheets for the years 1915-'17, inclusive, which showed his gross income for the first two years was $17,000. For 1917 it was only $10,893. In 1918 it dropped to $9,146, according to the figures. His annual salary with the Great Lakes company was $6,000, he said.

Mrs. McCarthy told of his failure to support their two children, Dennis, 15 years old, and Gertrude, 12.

"He gave each of them $200 in the summer of 1918," she said. "From September of that year until the same month the next year he didn't give a cent. In the fall of 1919 he sent them both to boarding school."

At a previous hearing the wife charged her husband took perfume baths before going to his office each evening. This aroused her suspicions, she said, and she finally learned he was keeping company with divers women, she claims.

CHARGE CASHIER WITH SHORTAGE OF $124,000

Columbus, O., March 16.—Edmund E. Fox, assistant cashier of the National Bank of Commerce, was arrested here this morning on a warrant sworn out by officials of that bank, charging him with embezzling $10,000, making false entries and converting bank money to his own use.

Philipp L. Schneider, president of the bank, issued a statement saying Fox is $124,000 short in his accounts, and that Fox has refunded $26,000 of this amount.

Fox pleaded not guilty and was bound over to the federal grand jury under $10,000 bond. He was released on bail.

BANK OF KINDNESS

Draw a Check on It for the Unfortunate.

BY REV. G. A. MAC WHORTER.

St. Patrick's day is being celebrated today by the Celtic Cross association, of which Mrs. Mary F. McWhorter is president, by sending $3,000 to Ireland for the immediate relief of suffering women and children. This makes a total of $7,000 sent by the Celtic Cross since its organization on Jan. 10, 1921.

MRS. MARY F. McWHORTER.

Proceeds of the annual entertainment and ball of the United Celtic American societies of Chicago, to be held this evening at the White City ballroom, Sixty-third street and South Park avenue, will go to the Celtic Cross. Several hundred dancers will take part in jig and reel contests.

Herbert Hoover has given the Knights of Columbus assurance of his interest in support of work for the relief of Irish children. The Knights of Columbus have pledged their coöperation in a national campaign for a relief fund. This means an appeal will go to 22,000 councils and 800,000 members throughout the United States.

MORE WAGE CUTS ARE ANNOUNCED BY EASTERN RYS.

New York, March 15.—Notices of proposed wage reductions for various classes of skilled labor, effective April 16, have been issued by the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western, the New York, Ontario and Western, and the Jersey Central railroad companies, it was announced today by the general managers' association of New York. The notices asked that representatives of the employés meet at once with the railroad officials and discuss the matter.

Boston, Mass., March 16.—Organized labor went on record today before the special committee appointed by New England governors as in opposition to any reduction in wages as a means of bringing about an increase in the earnings of the New England railways.

Charles H. Downey, speaking for maintenance of way employés on the New York, New Haven and Hartford, said his organization would not accede to any wage reduction. He declared that the wages now paid the maintenance of way men is too low to meet the cost of living.

CASTS DOUBT ON HEARING.

The petition of the Northern Industrial Traffic league, a shippers' organization, to be heard "on behalf of the public" at the railway wage hearing before the United States Labor board, Friday, has caused discord in the board.

"Refusal to permit the Northern Industrial Traffic league to be heard is equivalent to excluding the public," said one member of the board last night.

It was admitted members were not in accord in the matter, but that the probable action today would be denial of the petition.

Officials of the railroads and the railroad brotherhoods are expected to arrive today and tomorrow. Robert S. Binkerd, secretary of the Association of Railway Executives, is expected to reach Chicago this forenoon with records that will be presented in evidence.

SPECULATION BOOSTS MEATS, POOLE CHARGES

Panicky Buying Due to Yards Strike Fear.

Panicky buying by speculators and jobbers on the theory that a packing town strike would mean a meat shortage caused the big jump in fresh meat prices last week, according to a statement issued yesterday by Russell J. Poole, secretary of the council H. C. of L. committee.

In a statement issued last week Mr. Poole blamed the packers for the meat price flurry, but in yesterday's statement they were given a clean bill of health and some credit for stopping the retail price increases by issuing a warning that market condition did not justify frantic buying.

After an investigation of the records of several large packing concerns, Mr. Poole, in a report to Chairman Adamowski yesterday, gave the following table on the declines of meat prices since Oct. 2, 1920, when the committee's last statement on the subject was issued:

Kind of meat.	Per cent dec.	Kind of meat.	Per cent dec.
Pork loins....	44	Leaf lard.....	50
Spare ribs....	39	Hams	20
Dressed hogs..	36	Bacon	16 to 27
Native beef...	34 to 38	Steer loins...	32 to 41
Cows	12	Cow loins.....	32
Choice lambs.	19	Medium lambs	33

Wholesale 1914 prices for certain meat products, compared with "peak" prices since 1914 and present prices, were given as follows:

	Prices in 1914.	Highest since 1914.	Prices last Tuesday.
Lard	8.60	35.85	11.40
Beef, av., all kinds	12.32	25.42	14.60
Hides, free of brands	.18	.52	.12
Oleo oil, best grade..	.10	.34	.12½-.13
Tallow prime inedible	.07	.22	.05¾-.06

"Consumers should realize that a lamb chop or a small piece of steak at a dollar, with an extra charge for potatoes and coffee, should be a thing of the past at present wholesale meat prices, and if consumers would refuse to pay these prices they would find that prices would soon drop," says Mr. Poole's letter to Ald. Adamowski.

TWO YOUTHS STAB OWNER OF SALOON 'TIPPED' AS ROUGH

On March 8 Arthur Burrage Farwell of the Chicago Law and Order league warned Chief of Police Fitzmorris that murder was likely to occur in a saloon at 5200 South Union avenue. Yesterday William Smith and John Piggott, youthful habitues of the place, stabbed the Polish proprietor and sent him to the hospital in a serious condition.

"That was my third warning to the police concerning certain resorts," Mr. Farwell said. "I warned the chief about the Little Bohemia. I warned him about the Green Mill Gardens and the Rainbo Gardens. Tragedy has followed the warnings."

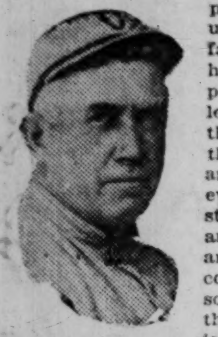
REDS CRIPPLED BY 4 HOLDOUTS, BUT MORAN PLODS ON

BY JAMES CRUSINBERRY.

[Copyright: 1921: By The Chicago Tribune.]



PAT MORAN.
[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Cisco, Tex., March 14.—[Special.]—Ever since the Cincinnati Reds had the world's championship forced upon them in the fall of 1919, they have been temperamental. At least, some of them have, and this spring things are worse than ever. Four of the stars are holdouts, and while they are expected to come to terms some time after the strenuous trip is over, or at least near the finish of the jaunt, the Reds are likely to labor under the handicap of a late start.

Pat Moran, who was found down among the oil wells of this region laboring overtime, realizes the situation, but feels he has found two or three sparkling recruits who will carry the club through the early contests.

Moran Works Recruits Hard.

With that idea in mind, he is working his squad harder than any manager I have looked at so far except Branch Rickey, because he wants to have the recruits prepared to go into big league battle should the worst come and the three or four stars refuse to report.

A year ago the training camp of the Reds might better have been pitched on Fountain square in Cincinnati than in Miami, although conditions at the Florida resort were ideal for conditioning purposes. At that time the Reds were still celebrating their "victory" over the White Sox of the previous fall. They left camp in no condition, but when the old bell rang began playing good ball at once. Perhaps they can do it this year.

No Cause for Celebration.

However, they have nothing this spring to cause celebrating, and there is no celebrating. They are doing their daily grind with spirit and even enthusiasm—that is, all except Eddie Roush, Heine Groh, Jake Daubert, and Larry Kopf, the four who haven't, at present writing, come to terms with the boss and apparently will not until the hardships of the southern tour are over.

Such a condition is bad for the morale of the whole team. One hears it in whispers, especially among some of the older heads of the club, who feel that they have just as much right to miss a training trip as has any of the four stars.

When the stars do report, if they do, they will not be welcomed with enthusiasm by the others who have gone through the grind. Naturally, there is likely to be ill feeling. In a way, it breaks down the morale of the club. It makes the job doubly hard for the honest and hard working manager, Mr. Moran.

Groh Has a Rival.

It is just possible one or two of them may yet be sorry for not reporting for the training trip, because, to all indications Boss Moran has uncovered a real find in one of his recruits, a sturdy man named Sammy Bohne, who has been performing at third base in Heine Groh's regular spot.

I happened to catch the Reds playing an exhibition game against Clarence Rowland's Columbus club, training at Ranger, a short distance away. In this contest young Mr. Bohne went to bat five times and all he did was to hit four home runs and one single. As I recall it, that same record is down in the book as having been made by Ed Delehanty, more than twenty years ago.

It doesn't mean that young Bohne is going to do that right along in big league circles. The right field fence was a bit short, and one of the homers was a long fly over that barrier. It would have been caught in a big field.

Bohne Can Wallop Pill.

Another was a terrific crashing drive to left field that took a bad hop on a rough field and got past the left fielder. On a level and smooth field, he might have held it to a single. Just the same, this youngster can wallop the ball and he played the position at third base in bangup fashion, too.

Another sparkling lad has been uncovered in Louis Fonseca, a Latin skinned youngster from the lots of San Francisco. He has driving power in his batting as great as Bohne, and is an active kid on the infield, though he does need experience.

It was Moran's idea that he might have to play Groh at second this year and, perhaps, Bohne at third. Or he might have played Kopf at second and Sam Crane, the utility infielder of last year, at short. Now it looks as if Bohne is sure of a place and if the stars fail to come back, Fonesca will be at second with Crane at short and Rube Bressler, the former pitcher, on first. Rube is playing the bag nicely and hitting in his accustomed style. Bill Schirmer, from Florida, and Carl Schmehl, a New York semi-pro, are tying for infield jobs.

Fill Hole Made by Roush.

In the outfield with Rousch gone, it means that Dode Paskert, Pat Duncan, and Charley See will do the work, the latter performing in center. If Roush turns up, See and Paskert may do the right fielding against right and left handed pitching, respectively. A couple of good looking recruits are present in Denny Williams, last year at Moose Jaw, and Biz Dawson, from the University of West Virginia.

Moran says he isn't a bit worried over his pitchers and catchers, and it looks like he shouldn't be. In Ivy Wingo and Bubbles Hargrave, once of the Cubs, but last year at St. Paul, he has a pair of splendid backstoppers. Tom Conway, a semi-pro from Cincinnati, is slated for the bull pen job.

Veteran Pitchers on Staff.

Moran has lost Ruether, Ring, and Sallee from last year's pitching staff, but in their places he has Jeptha Eppa Rixey and Rube Marquard, both doing well in camp. Of the old squad, he has Hod Eller, Ray Fisher, Adolfo Luque, and Bressler, providing the latter isn't needed at first base.

Rzeschewski, Marvel, to Play at the Fair Today

Samuel Rzeschewski, the nine year old chess wizard, will play at the Fair today, meeting a number of local experts. Play starts at 2 p. m.

JOHNNY WILSON, CHAMP!

WE have asked whether Johnny Wilson was not a spaghetti-spined champion. We have impugned his courage for so long refusing a return bout to Mike O'Dowd, from whom he took the title on a decision which was questioned by Mike's friends. We have been a party to the general baiting and badgering of Johnny in order to force him to fight.

The typewriter barrage at last sends him over the top and he meets the man from whom he lifted the crown tonight in New York.

With this purpose accomplished, we must confess we have a liking for his chances against O'Dowd. Not that we consider Wilson a great middleweight, as compared with the great names of the past, but the present crop of middles is considered by most critics to be far below the one time standard.

Even against Navy Rostan Johnny showed he knows something about fisticuffs. Ray Pearson, who specializes in that sort of thing, also liked his looks and found his chief weakness in the fact that Johnny paws instead of jabs with his right.

Wilson has beaten O'Dowd once—at least the referee says so—and they usually repeat. Mike wears no medals for cleverness, but is known as a great "taker." Perhaps he can take all Johnny offers and still win. 'Tanny rate, we'll know whether the first result was a fluke.

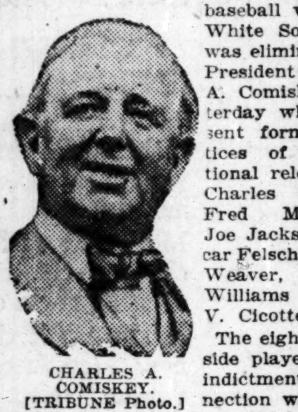
BLACK SOX RELEASED UNCONDITIONALLY; JOBLESS FREE AGENTS

BY I. E. SANBORN.

Whatever chance any of the indicted Black Sox thought they had to play baseball with the White Sox again was eliminated by President Charles A. Comiskey yesterday when he sent formal notices of unconditional release to Charles Risberg, Fred McMullin, Joe Jackson, Oscar Felsch, George Weaver, C. P. Williams and E. V. Cicotte.



CHARLES A. COMISKEY.
[TRIBUNE Photo.]

The eighth south side player under indictment in connection with the world's series of 1919 is Chick Gandil, who was placed on the ineligible list last spring when he refused to report and tackled "outlaw" baseball instead.

Here's Commy's "Good-By."

Comiskey's formal notice of the termination of all relations between the south side club and the seven players named follows in part:

"On or about Sept. 26, 1920, you and each of you were notified of your indefinite suspension as a member of the Chicago American league baseball club.

"As you were then notified, your suspension was brought about by information which came to the undersigned directly involving you, and each of you, in the baseball scandal concerning the world's series of 1919. Additional information received since that date has confirmed the belief that your actions have been highly detrimental to the reputation of the club and entirely inconsistent with your obligations to it.

All Relations Terminated.

"Investigation of conditions surrounding your connection with organized baseball has induced the conclusion that the undersigned does not desire any further contractual or other business relations with you . . . and the undersigned hereby notifies you of your discharge from any and all employment and of the undersigned's election to terminate all its liabilities and obligations under any and all contracts now or heretofore existing between you, and each of you, and the undersigned,

"CHARLES A. COMISKEY."

By this formal document the master of the White Sox sets at rest all reports that there was a chance any of them would prance around the south side lot next summer if not convicted in court under the indictments voted against them by the October grand jury.

The date of the trial of the indicted players will be set by Judge Dever today.

NOTES OF THE CUE ROOMS.

Sam Walker [43] scored a victory over Charlie Dougherty [44], 42 to 24, in 75 innings, in a Chicago league game at Leffingwell's Evanston room. Walker had a high run of 4, while Dougherty's high run was 2. In the second game at Reading's Carl Steffanson [42] defeated Gene Moreau [45], 42 to 30, in 54 innings. Steffanson had seven runs of 3. Tonight Kieckhefer plays Le Gros at the Casino, Dr. Harris plays Moreau at Recreation, and Carlin plays Engel at Singer & Spokes.

SLUGGER EARL SHEELY WELCOMED BY SOX AS TRUE BLUE PROSPECT

Waxahachie, Tex., March 16.—[Special.]—Advance reports concerning the all around ability of Earl Sheely, the Coast league's champion hitter and first baseman for the Salt Lake club in 1920, were not exaggerated. One had but to glimpse the giant in action around the initial sack during the practice today to realize that Comiskey's agents had not erred in the deal that brought Sheely to the club with Eddie Mulligan and Ernie Johnson.

EARL SHEELY.

Earl was on deck when Gleason dropped in for breakfast, having traveled since last Friday from his home in Spokane. Earl stands 6 feet 4 inches in his socks and weighs 220 pounds when in condition. Right now, though, he is about ten pounds overweight.

The big fellow, who is 26 years old, appears to be slightly handicapped in his base running by a weak left ankle, which was fractured in 1912, but this doesn't interfere with his hitting in the least, nor does he appear slow in fielding the initial sack. Gleason watched his every move, and as the big lad slammed liners to all sections of the yard the kid couldn't restrain a smile smile of joy.

Earl is a right hand sticker. It is almost a cinch he will be assigned to the clean-up berth in the batting order. Last year he hit .373, bagging fifty-one doubles and thirty-three homers.

CUBS COP EXHIBITION

Pasadena, Cal., March 16.—[Special.]—The Cubs played their first exhibition game of the season today an dtrounced the Pasadena Merchants, 7 to 4. The contest was about as good as the score indicates.

EARL HANSON.

Manager Evers employed two young pitchers, Earl Hanson, a comeback from Peoria, gave no hits in four rounds. Jim Kenny, a Chicago semi-pro, handed out four, and as many runs, in the five portions he was on the hill. Kenny's wildness kept him in hot water most of the time.

Evers used Kelleher at second base most of the game and he fielded brilliantly, although he did not distinguish himself at the plate. Big Grimes, first baseman, fielded very well and made one single.

George Maisel, the new leftfielder, rapped out a single and a triple and walked once. He dashed about the field well and showed a splendid throwing arm. Maisel looks like a regular ball player—far better than the average coming up from the minors.

Catcher John Dill of Brawley, Cal., has been sent back home.

COCHRAN TO PLAY BELGIAN CUEIST IN RETURN MATCH

New York, March 16.—[Special.]—Arrangements were completed today for a return match between Edouard Horemans, Belgian 18.2 champion, and Welker Cochran. They will play a 4,800 point match for a purse of $2,000 and the gate receipts in the academy over Maurice Daly's room, where Horemans played Jake Schaefer. The match will begin Monday and continue through the week. Twelve blocks of 400 points each in afternoon and evening sessions will be played.

Immediately after the 3,600 point match in Detroit last week, which Cochran won by 95 points, the players tentatively agreed to meet again; but it was not until today that Shepard G. Barklay, representing Horemans, and David Palm, Cochran's manager, definitely completed arrangements. The players will meet tomorrow to post their forfeits of $1,000.

'START LOADING STEAMER FRIDAY,' JOHNNY TO MIKE

FACTS ON THE FIGHT

Principals—Johnny Wilson, middleweight champion; Mike O'Dowd, ex-champion.

Place—Madison Square Garden, New York.

Limit—Fifteen rounds.

Purse—$60,000; Wilson's share, $40,000; O'Dowd's share, $20,000.

Estimated gate—$100,000.

Previous meeting—May 6, 1920, at Boston; Wilson won decision [12].

BY ROBERT EDGREN.

New York, March 16.—[Special.]—"All right, Mike can start loading steamers Friday morning." That was Johnny Wilson's answer when he read Mike's statement that he'll never pull on another glove if he fails to stop the champion tomorrow night.

This fifteen round championship bout between Wilson and former Champion Mike O'Dowd will nearly complete the list of championships contested in famous Madison Square Garden since Tex Rickard took charge. Heavyweight Champion Dempsey defended his title there. So did Welterweight Jack Britton, Lightweight Leonard, and Bantamweight Pete Herman. Herman was the only loser, when Joe Lynch conquered him. Johnny Kilbane hasn't as yet risked the featherweight honors in the great arena.

Wilson Real Fighter.

As a rule champions hold their titles in the garden. And if the dope that comes down from Wilson's camp is right Johnny isn't very likely to prove the exception. There is plenty of evidence that Wilson can fight. Hector McInnis, who refereed the bout in which Wilson became champion at O'Dowd's expense, says:

"It's always hard to give a decision against a champion. If there had been any way to give O'Dowd a fifty-fifty break after he met Wilson I would have done it. But Wilson beat him so far that there was nothing to it. Only a robber could have given Mike even a draw."

Makes Name in Boston.

O'Dowd, war veteran and interallied champion, as well as former world's champion middleweight, is well known all over the country. Wilson's fighting ability has been shown little outside of Boston. But Wilson was a New York boy and began his fighting career in New York. A few local ring fans remember Johnny's first and last main event here. It was up in Sulzer's Casino, the old American Sporting club. Billy McCarney and Paddy Donnelly, the promoters, still tell about it.

"Leo Flynn furnished three fighters for three events," says McCarney, "and Johnny Wilson was the star of the bunch. He was to fight 'K. O.' Sweeney in the windup. The gate opened early, but nobody came in. I rushed out into the street with an armful of comps and gave them away, so that we could make some kind of a showing around the ring. I think when the first bout went on there were eleven paid admissions. And you never saw such a fighting night in your life.

Johnny Springs Surprise.

"Leo's bunch was all beat up and the fellows who fought them were no better. When I lamped Wilson I thought it was all off. Sweeney was a pretty good fighter and at the top of his form. Wilson looked awkward, like all southpaws, and he looked scared. Sweeney went after Johnny, crouched and ugly. And Wilson leaned over sideways and hit Sweney a stiff poke with his right and crashed him with his left.

"By the time Wilson had crashed Sweeney a few times Sweeney was on the floor. He was on the floor several times. Then he put Wilson down a couple of times, but Wilson got up and handed 'K. O.' an awful trimming. He crashed 'K. O.' for the last count in the tenth round.

Short Change for Winner.

"Then came the paying off. The boys were on percentage, and there was exactly $11.70 each for Wilson and Sweeney, and $35.10 for Leo's three men. The gate was $117. Leo offered Paddy $2.50 to pay his fighters off for him. He didn't dare to go near them. But Wilson took it all right. He was tickled because he knocked Sweeney out. Wilson took his $11.70 with thanks and asked for another bout on his showing. 'I've been getting from $25 to $50 for preliminaries,' he said, 'and I get $11.70 for my first main event. When I'm champion I'll be fighting for nothing.'"

This part of Wilson's guess was a little off. As champion tomorrow night he's getting $40,000.

Champ Has Fair Record.

In Boston, where Wilson has done most of his fighting since leaving the preliminary class, he has beaten several fairly good middleweights. Among these was Pal Reed, a southpaw like himself. He knocked out Jake Ahearn in one round, and again in two.

In spite of what Mike O'Dowd says about Wilson's punch, the champion has a wicked kick, and if Mike didn't feel it during their former meeting it must have been because his nerves were too much punch shocked to carry the message. He put Mike off his feet. He met Mike's rushes with hard blows, and in all gave Mike about as rough a session as he has seen since the war.

The demand for tickets has been tremendous. The garden was practically sold out late this afternoon. This means that even at the low prices charged the gate will run about $100,000.

O'Dowd and Wilson weigh in at the middleweight limit at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, at the garden.

RICKARD DENIES FIXING DATE FOR JACK-GEORGESGO

New York, March 16.—[Special.]—Tex Rickard denied the story today that he had cabled Georges Carpentier that the Dempsey-Carpentier fight would be held in New York City on July 2.

"I never cabled Georges that the fight would be held in New York," said Tex. "I notified Carpentier that the fight would be held in the United States, but made no mention of any city."

According to a report, Carpentier had cabled a friend here that Rickard had notified him the bout would be held in New York City July 2.

At Janesville, Wis.—Sammy Mandell beat Johnny Hagen [10]. Kid Schaeffer knocked out Roy Meyers [2]. Walter Bookes beat Jack Reagan [8]. Eddie Clark beat Jeff Williams [4].

At Rockford, Ill.—Pal Moore beat Johnny Gannon [10].

At New Bedford—Joe Burman beat Paul Demers [10].

BY RAY PEARSON.

With chances of passage of a boxing bill at this session of the legislature considered favorable, boxing managers of Chicago have started a little movement which they believe will work for the good of the sport. Next Tuesday at a meeting at the Arcade gymnasium an organization to be known as the Illinois Association of Boxing Managers will be formed.

BOXING
BOXING MGR'S ASS'N

It is the intention of those back of the movement to adopt rules which will keep the sport clean. The object primarily is to protect the boxers from promoters and see that they are properly remunerated for their work. In the same way the promoters will be protected, too, for managers will not be permitted to foist "unsatisfactory" boxers on the men who stage the shows.

Here's what the new association plans to do:

To see that preliminary boxers get a stipulated sum for their work.

That all clubs do business with the managers of the boxers.

That the man who gets the first match and showing for a boxer is recognized as his manager and is to have sole control of said boxer for a period of one year.

That no frameups or fakes will be tolerated by any manager belonging to the association.

That if a boxer has any grievance against a manager the same must be settled by both parties appearing for a hearing before a committee of the association.

That all members of the association must be residents of the state of Illinois for at least twelve months.

That no manager of the association shall have a private agreement with any promoter or matchmaker in regulating purses.

STECHER, GARDINI ON MAT TONIGHT

Joe Stecher, former heavyweight champion, and Renato Gardini will be the principals in the main bout of the show staged by Forges post of the American Legion at the Ashland auditorium tonight.

Ben Stefanski, one of the topnotch middleweights, will take holds with Young Zbyszko in the semi-windup, and Oscar Hansen and Young Gotch will meet in the opener. Proceeds of the show will go toward a fund to take care of wounded soldiers. The first bout will start at 8:15 o'clock.

Jordan and Chavariat in Wrestling Bout Tonight

Chris Jordan and Charlie Chavariat, middleweights, will meet in the windup of the wrestling show to be conducted by John "Doc" Krone at Glickman's theater, Blue Island avenue and Roosevelt road, tonight. They have agreed to make 154 pounds at 3 o'clock. Jack Reynolds, claimant of the world's welterweight title, meets Ted Danks in the semi-windup.

SPORTS through Edgren's EYES

BY ROBERT EDGREN.

SOME time ago I spent two days with the Chicago Cubs on Mr. Wrigley's Catalina island. Johnny Evers and a selected party of the pitchers and catchers were Mr. Wrigley's guests by special invitation.

They lived at Mr. Wrigley's truly palatial new St. Catharine hotel on Mr. Wrigley's own ball field, and in the afternoon one party hiked long miles over Mr. Wrigley's scenic mountains while the rest played golf on Mr. Wrigley's own golf course at Mr. Wrigley's Avalon bay. They came back to the mainland on Mr. Wrigley's fine new steamer, and were met by Mr. Wrigley's fleet of large and luxurious automobiles and whisked to Mr. Wrigley's Hotel Green in Pasadena, accompanied by Mr. Wrigley in person.

WM. WRIGLEY JR.

Coming over on the steamer Johnny Evers and Mr. Wrigley and I were leaning over the rail—not because the sea was rough, but merely because there was 2,300 passengers aboard and that rail seemed the only unoccupied place.

"John," Mr. Wrigley said, "I like the way you're handling these boys and I want you to know that this thing is entirely in your hands and I'm going to be satisfied with what you do. I don't care if you go out and lose the first twenty games in a row, because I think you'd come back and win the next twenty-five. I know you'll produce results. Take your own time to do it. If there's any help you want from me let me know. Next year I'm going to have a corking ball park on the island with training quarters for the team. I'll make this the finest home for ball players in the world. We'll have everything we want right here."

TOO GOOD TO SEEM TRUE.

With this Mr. Wrigley excused himself and went below to see his engineer, or the first mate or somebody. John turned to me and said:

"What do you think of that? And this is only the fifth time I've ever met him! I've seen good sports before, but never anybody like this.

"Take Charlie Murphy. He was friendly enough, but when we lost a game he'd roast the life out of me, and never a word from him when we won. This is going to be different. You heard what he said. I guess we'll work our heads off for a boss like this!"

"What do you think of this year's team material?" I asked.

"Finest in the world," Evers said. "I want you to watch this boy Cheeves. I think he's going to be a wonderful pitcher. He's from Texas—played in the Texas league, or something like that down there. Cheeves is a big fellow. You remember Jack Powell. He's more like Jack Powell than any other ball player I remember—powerfully built, tall, active, a lot like Powell in action. He'll be another Johnson or another Matty.

PITCHERS A-PLENTY.

"Of course, in Alexander I think we have the best pitcher in America. You can look it up in the record book, but as I remember it Alec has been pitching ten years and has won 293 games. That's an average of over twenty-nine games a year, and any pitcher who wins over twenty is a wonder. I was down in Philadelphia in 1917 when Alec made a record—finishing his third year in a row winning over thirty games a year.

"Next year he was in the service, fighting in France—a sergeant in the artillery, up there with the big guns at the front and through a lot of fighting.

"Another pitcher of ours who saw a lot of fighting was York. He was a sergeant in the American army and was in six major engagements. Has three stripes on his sleeve—eighteen months' active service. That's some record. Wounded? Well, I don't know. Never heard him mention it if he was, and he sure doesn't show any sign of it. York is a southpaw. There won't be any weak spot in our twirling staff. Nor in catchers, either, with Killefer, O'Farrell, Daly, Gomez, and Meyers."

SOME WICKED GOLFERS.

The golfers in the bunch are Alexander, Killefer, Vaughn, Martin, and Tyler. Alexander has shot the nine hole course at Catalina in thirty-seven, which is a pretty fair performance. Speed Martin, who has been playing only a few months, drives a tremendous ball and so does Killefer.

Evers is the latest convert to golf. You can't beat a veteran ball player for artfulness. Vaughn, Alexander, Killefer, Martin, and Tyler wanted to play golf and didn't care much for hiking. So they inveigled Johnny out on the golf course, handed him a bag of clubs and showed him the game.

After climbing in and out of a dozen deep gullies and over long mountain slopes Evers was convinced that golf on Catalina was some job. So when the five conspirators suggested in an offhand way that they'd like to shoot a little golf instead of taking the afternoon hikes Johnny consented, only condition being that they must play the full eighteen holes.

"And I think I put it over on them at that," grinned Evers when he told me about it.

QUESTIONS THEY ASK.

CHICAGO.—[To the Editor.]—1. Is it better policy to empty a wren box of sticks, etc., where wrens nested last summer, or would you advise leaving the nest as it is until the wrens return? 2. In building new bird houses for city grounds should boxes be painted or left natural color of wood; if painting is desirable, what color? 3. Please give names of books and government bulletins covering songbirds that can be attracted to city homes, with plans for building bird houses.

M. J. A.

Answers.—1. We believe that bird houses should not only be cleaned of débris and filth but the cracks should be painted with some good insecticide; kerosene will do. 2. Material with the bark on or solid pieces that have weathered are ideal for bird houses. But the birds are not particular; if painting is desired let it be done in gray, brown, or leaf green. 3. There are many good books on attracting birds and bird houses. "How to Attract the Birds" and "Bird Neighbors," by Blanchan, are excellent. "Bird Houses and How to Build Them," a nineteen page illustrated bulletin, may be obtained from the superintendent of documents, Washington, D. C., for 5 cents. DRAW SCHEDULE FOR DAVIS CUP MATCH ROUNDS

New York, March 16.—[Special.]—In the presence of a large gathering of foreign representatives, champions, former champions and tennis officials, the draw for the 1921 Davis cup play was made in the offices of the United States National Lawn Tennis association today. The result of the blind draw produced well balanced pairings, and it is probable many of the feature early round matches will be played on American courts, although Europe and Asia may be the scene of some of the matches.

It is almost a foregone conclusion that the semi-finals and final round, which will develop the opponent for the champion American team in the challenge round, will take place in America. Following is the draw:

FIRST ROUND—Spain vs. British Isle [probably in England]; Australasia vs. Canada [probably in United States]; Japan vs. Philippines [probably in far east]; Belgium vs. Czecho-Slovakia [in Europe].

SECOND ROUND [nations which drew byes in first round and survivors of first round]—Argentina vs. Denmark [in United States]; all-India vs. France [probably in France].

Keen followers of form have "doped" it out that Australasia and France would be most likely to meet in the final round, as survivors of the twelve challenging nations, for the right to play United States.

Mrs. Mallory Wins Close Match in Indoor Net Meet

Boston, Mass., March 16.—Mrs. Franklin I. Mallory of New York nearly lost her match today in the women's national indoor tennis championship when she took the court against Miss Edith Sigourney of this city.

Mrs. Mallory won, but her opponent took the first set and was leading in the third, three to one, when she seemed to tire, as a result of which the former champion took five straight games and won the next set and match, 3-6, 6-0, 6-3.

Play in the doubles ran to the second round today. There were no upsets.

Hanover, N. H., March 16.—The University of Pennsylvania basketball team clinched the championship of the intercollegiate league tonight by defeating Dartmouth 31 to 16. Penn was also the 1920 champion. The Quakers play their last game at Princeton Saturday. They have lost one contest.

ST. IGNATIUS WINS PAIR.

St. Ignatius basket teams defeated St. Mel in two Catholic league games at St. Ignatius gym yesterday, the heavies winning, 20 to 8, and the flyweights, 22 to 8.

U. S. AIMS BLOW AT STATIONERS FOR 'PRICE PLOT'

Plans to Indict Twenty; "Blacklist" Charged.

Federal indictment in the District courts here of a score of Chicago stationers, together with their local and national associations, on charges of unfair competition and conspiracy to fix and maintain prices at peak level, was promised yesterday by officials of the department of justice.

Acting on charges made by Sidney-Morris & Co., that Chicago consumers annually were losing more than $1,000,000 because of price agreement, alleged to have been entered into by practically all the city's stationers, the federal trade commission has made an investigation. It learned, it is stated, that Sidney-Morris & Co. had been "blacklisted" by a number of manufacturers because it refused to maintain retail prices recommended by the local and national associations to stationers.

Says "Blacklist" Worked.

Walter B. Wooden, examiner for the trade commission, reported that investigation showed "retail members of the Chicago association threatened to refuse dealing with manufacturers who sold goods to the cut price company, and because of such threats the manufacturers did discontinue relations with Sidney-Morris & Co."

Morris Pancoe, president of the latter firm, said his concern had been waging war on the stationers' association for five years. "The only reason for their existence," he declared, referring to the organization, "is to protect profiteering dealers."

Doubts Any Indictments.

John W. Ogren, president of the National Association of Stationers, said last night he did not believe the matter would be taken to court or any indictments returned.

"Cutting prices is not the chief reason for the refusal of the manufacturers to deal with Sidney-Morris & Co.," he said.

He denied the federal authorities were "only waiting to learn the decision of the hardwood lumber association case" before taking action against the stationers. Mr. Pancoe says that is the reason for the government's delay.

PROGRESS SHOW WILL PAY CITY $50,000 FOR PIER

The city government and taxpayers will receive $50,000 in cash from the "Pageant of Progress" which is to be held on the municipal pier July 31 to Aug. 15, Mayor Thompson announced yesterday. That is the amount which the backers of the pageant have contracted to pay the city as rent for the use of the pier. Henry J. Kramer, business manager of the pageant, has signed a lease with the city to pay this sum annually for five years.

Garage Owners Draft New Bill to Get Lien on Cars

The Chicago Garage Owners' association approved a bill last night which may make it possible to place a lien on automobiles, furs, jewelry, and other articles subject to storage and repair. A former measure, which referred only to automobiles, was declared class legislation by the Supreme court, and it is hoped to gain the same result in this way. The bill will be taken to Springfield.

Girl Who Tells Coroner Tragic Story of Life in Big City.

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

HER TRAGEDY IS OLD, OLD STORY OF THE BIG CITY

Girl Tells Coroner How Baby Died.

A small town girl, seated in Coroner Peter M. Hoffman's office, told the old, old big city story yesterday afternoon. She will repeat it today at the inquest over the body of a baby found in her room at the Colonial hotel, 6335 Kenwood avenue, yesterday noon.

The quiet, pokey little home city was, as usual, the setting for the early chapters. Then the transition. Chicago, the big city, had claimed another.

Employed in the Loop.

The girl is Miss Esther Lannigan, 23 years old. She came to Chicago about a year ago from Ottawa, Ill., and has been employed in a loop attorney's office.

When a hotel maid found the body the mother was at work. She told the coroner it was born Friday night. She had received no medical attention. She wanted to keep her secret. The body bore no mark of violence. Even the man did not know, the girl said.

"I made several trips to the lake, but I never let him know my trouble," she told Coroner Hoffman.

Wants to Go Home.

That part of the story involving a construction engineer now in Louisville is being investigated.

Meanwhile the girl is at the Harrison street police station. She will know after the inquest whether she will be free to go back to the "home town." She wants to go.

PLAN TO FIGHT EXTRADITION IN COAL TRUST TRIAL

The first battle in the government's campaign to convict 125 coal operators and union officials of Indiana and Illinois for conspiracy to violate the Sherman anti-trust act will be staged in the District court here.

After a conference yesterday of District Attorney Charles F. Clyne, L. Ert Slack, special assistant attorney general, and some score of counsel for the defendants it was said the twenty-nine Chicagoans among those indicted would resist extradition to Indianapolis, where the indictments were returned. They include Francis S. Peabody, Charles P. Moderwell, William K. Field, William M. Henderson, and William D. McKinney.

"The fight over extradition probably will require a hearing lasting two or more months," Mr. Clyne said.

Army and Navy Club to Erect $300,000 Home

A $300,000 clubhouse on one of three sites under option on Michigan boulevard will be purchased by the Army and Navy club of Chicago. This was agreed upon last night at a meeting of the club in the Hotel La Salle. It is proposed that the clubhouse should emulate in beauty and interior splendor that of the Army and Navy clubs of Washington and New York.

Father Offers Reward for Missing Oil Agent

A liberal reward for information as to his son's whereabouts was offered by Jerry Sweeney, father of the missing man. Sweeneny disappeared Thursday night. His account was found in proper condition.

TELLS HOW 19TH WARD SLAYERS WERE SELECTED

Two Indicted 36 Hours After Arrest.

Thirty-six hours after their arrest Sam Amatima and Frank Gambino were indicted for the murder of Deputy Bailiff Paul Labriola and last night they were lodged in the county jail. State's Attorney Crowe ordered the case before the grand jury yesterday morning. On the testimony of three witnesses the murder indictment was returned.

The indictment enabled Chief of Detectives Hughes to report to Judge Friend before whom habeas corpus proceedings were pending, that the men were held by due process of law.

Attorney Thomas D. Nash, counsel for the accused, had successfully opposed the sending of his clients to the bureau of identification where their pictures and measurements were to be taken for the "Rogues' Gallery." Judge Friend sustained his objection.

Seek Other Conspirators.

Amatima and Gambino were ordered held without bail. Attorney Nash declared he will demand an immediate trial. This will conflict with the plans of the police, who want to arrest the other conspirators before letting the case be tried.

Sergt. Patrick Alcock, who made the arrests, declares he knows the names of the others. He fears they may be killed by Labriola's friends before the police can get them.

Volunteered as Slayers.

A meeting of D'Andrea supporters in the recent aldermanic fight was held a week before the killing of Labriola, Alcock said. It was decided that the only way to handle the political situation was to punish Italians who had supported Ald. Powers. Labriola was picked out as the one of whom an example would be made, Alcock said. A price for the bloody deed was fixed and volunteers were asked. Gambino and Amatima volunteered, the policeman said.

CHILDREN STUDY LIFE OF FATHER OF SCHOOL PLAN

Preparatory to celebrating the birthday of the father of school system employed today throughout the United States, students in all Chicago schools have been assigned as part of their work a study of the life of Johann Amos Comenius.

JOHANN AMOS COMENIUS.

Boys and girls, take note, this will help you:

Johann Amos Comenius was born March 28, 1592 in Ungarisch-Brod, Moravia. His family was extremely poor, and he did not start to school until 16 years old. In 1627 he became the head of Poland's schools. He reorganized the system and became the idol of all children, because he put pictures in all the books and made study interesting. Later he organized the schools of England, Sweden, Prussia, Hungary, Transylvania, and Holland.

Denied Chance to Go to Jail for Life with Pal

Valparaiso, Ind., March 16.—[Special.]—Two Mexicans killed David Flicker at Whiting, Ind. Pedro Mendoza was given a life sentence in Michigan City prison for first degree murder. His partner, Alberto Olivia, changed his plea to guilty and waived trial so as to go with Pedro. But the Mexican consul would not consent. The trial of Alberto proceeded, the jury gave him two to twenty-one years for manslaughter, and his age sent him to Jeffersonville. Thus the two pals are separated.

Virginia, 3, Prefers "Cussing" Dad to Aunt

Three year old Virginia Gotsch snuggled into the arms of her father, Eric Gotsch, 73 West Chicago avenue, in Judge Anton T. Zeman's court yesterday. She made it plain she would rather live with him than her aunt, Mrs. Karan Hansen of 1212 South State street. Mrs. Hansen said Gotsch "'cursed dreadfully." Judge Zeman ruled the child should stay with her father until the case is resumed March 23.

40 LITTLE BROWN JUGS OF 'HOOTCH' TURNED TO WATER

Fox of "Vote Fraud" Fame in New Mystery.

This is about William "Paddy" Fox, a government agent or two, a police escort, and forty gallon jugs of bonded "hootch." Several months ago, according to the denials of all parties concerned, a liquor owner died and bequeathed forty brown jugs, each containing one gallon of 100 proof "firewater" to Mr. Fox, the mystery man whose name was used in carrying the legal attack on the primary law to the Supreme court.

Found Booze, but—

Fox sought the whisky, but found to his chagrin it was held in the government bonded warehouse at 326 North Clark street. Prohibition authorities refused to give it up. Fox persevered. A few days ago he was notified he could get the "hootch."

A police guard was asked for and obtained. New locks were placed on the doors. Monday the forty jugs were carefully placed in the custody of Mr. Fox. As the last jug was gently placed on the floor of Fox's home the escort noisily called for its pay.

Fox removed his hat and wiped the perspiration from his brow.

A Drink That Didn't Kick.

"How about a drink?" said he.

A cork was jerked from one of the jugs. Glasses were filled in the dim cellar light.

"Here's to old John Barleycorn," they chorused. A second later every man was searching among the jugs. Thirty-nine corks were pulled. Thirty-nine jugs were tilted, but not a thirst was quenched.

It was water.

NEW BOULEVARD BRIDGE WILL BE MADE FOOLPROOF

Work was begun yesterday on the installation of safety equipment which, engineers believe, will make the new boulevard link bridge foolproof against reckless motorists.

To prevent them from driving into the bridge when it is raised, "yielding barriers," consisting of steel cables attached to spools controlled by brakes, are being installed.

When the bridge is in its normal position these cables, three in number, will be stretched across the roadway from two steel uprights.

As the bridge is raised, the cables working through slots in the uprights will be lowered until they are taut across the roadway from 18 inches to 3 feet above the street.

The Inquiring Reporter

Every Day He Asks Five Persons, Picked at Random, a Question.

The Question.

What is the first thing you read in the newspaper?

Where Asked.

Chicago avenue and Clark street.

The Answers.

E. E. Quinn, 106 West Chicago avenue, haberdasher — I start at the first column of the first page and go right through. When I finish all the news, I go over the ads. I read the news to keep in touch with current events and the ads to pick up a bargain now and then.

Miss Juanita McCarthy, Plaza Hotel, model—I first read the headlines and then I turn to the comics. The comics always give me a good laugh and put me in a fine mood for the day. Sometimes I read the divorce news. Then again I feel dignified and read about big affairs. I just love the society news.

Howard Krunn, 106 West Chicago avenue, salesman—The ads are the first thing I tackle, to get a line on prices, to see if they are coming down yet. The ads are great little indicators. They are the barometers of the times, so to speak. Just watch the ads and you'll always be wide awake as to what's going on.

Miss Sylvia Winger, 2146 Belmont avenue, clerk—I like the jokes. What's the use of reading a lot of stuff about murders and divorces and other trouble? We all have enough trouble of our own without reading and worrying about the troubles of others. Give me the jokes.

Thomas Callahan, 9 West Pearson street, clerk—There is nothing so interesting to me as The Inquiring Reporter. I think it's a great stunt. It shows how widely people differ in opinion and wakes you up to the fact your own opinion is not so important as you think. Yes, sir, The Inquiring Reporter for mine.

Harding Honorary Chief of Boy Scouts of America

Washington, D. C., March 16.—President Harding was notified formally today of his election as honorary president of the Boy Scouts of America.

RESTLESS GHOSTS

Another "automobile graveyard" was discovered yesterday in the north branch of the river at the foot of Oakley avenue.

A city derrick pulled three cars and a Ford engine from the river bottom recalling that several automobiles were hauled out of the river at Canal and Sixteeenth streets several weeks ago.

One car recovered yesterday was a five-passenger Elkhart, Illinois license 164986, which the vehicle bureau records show was issued to Morris Jaffe, 2020 Cortez street. It was said that the car was stolen last Friday.

The next machine was a five-passenger Stevens Duryea, bearing state license 58098, issued to Max D. Goodman, 2259 Cortez street, a neighbor of Mr. Jaffe.

The third find was a black Buick car with a 1917 vehicle tax tag bearing the number 12620. As the city collector's office was closed when the number was reported, the name of the licensee will not be known until today.

The Ford engine bore the number 189138 and was built in April of 1917.

Son of N. W. U. President Saves Friend from Cell

Edward Daley, a student at Northwestern university, was arrested for speeding yesterday. He was accompanied by John Scott, son of President Walter Dill Scott of the university. Young Scott ran home to his father and got $25 for bail for Daley, who will appear in the automobile court tomorrow afternoon.

Van Meter's $200,000 Bond Not Yet Approved

Probate Judge Horner yesterday took under advisement the $200,000 bond of Gregory T. Van Meter, who was recently appointed public administrator by Gov. Small to succeed Gordon A. Ramsay. Mr. Ramsay technically remains in office until his successor's bond is approved. A decision is expected Saturday.

GAS CO. CLAIMS LOSS ON 74 PCT. OF ITS PATRONS

Official Says Poor Man Carries Burden, Too.

The Peoples Gas Light and Coke company, with a rate of $1.15 per thousand cubic feet, is carrying 74 per cent of its customers at a loss. Charles A. Munroe, vice president of the company and president of the American Gas association, made this declaration last night at the banquet which closed the two-day utilities convention at the Hotel Sherman.

Mr. Munroe presented arguments for a minimum service charge of $1.50 per month, instead of 60 cents, as at present. The principal argument against increasing the charge, he said, has been that it would work a hardship upon the poor man.

Says Poor Carry Burden.

"As a matter of fact," he said, "the poor man is carrying the rich man's freight under present conditions. The company has about 700,000 customers. In 1901 the company was taking a loss on 42 per cent of its customers. In twenty years this has increased, until now we are serving 74 per cent at a loss.

"We have found that men receiving salaries of around $10,000 a year are averaging 1,000 cubic feet of gas consumption a month, while the poor bookkeeper who is struggling along to raise his family of three children consumes an average of 3,000 feet a month."

Dawes Advises "Truth Campaign.

Rufus C. Dawes, who presided, declared the public utilities have been among the first industries to recover from the shock of the hardships inflicted by the "rigid selling prices during the war." He urged that owners and directors of public utilities endeavor to create a greater confidence and understanding among the investors by a campaign of truth telling.

Congressman Ira C. Copley urged an adequate navy, increased coast defenses and a bonus for ex-service men.

President David Kinley of the University of Illinois made a plea for larger state appropriations to carry on the increased work of the institution.

A preferential freight rate on coal during the summer and a super-charge during the winter were advocated by W. L. Abbott to help reduce the handling cost of fuel $100,000,000 a year to the consumers in Illinois. Mr. Abbott is chief operating engineer of the Commonwealth Edison company.

BROKER IS SUED FOR $200,000 ON SLANDER CHARGE

Leo M. Bach, a broker at 108 South La Salle street, yesterday was named as defendant in two suits asking damages of $100,000 each for alleged slander. The action was taken by his former partners, Capt. B. B. Lipsner and H. S. Homel.

At a meeting Monday night Bach told clients who had bought shares in the American Truck and Trailer company that Lipsner and Homel "had put one over on him," and without his knowledge made 50 per cent commission on the stock sales, it is alleged.

"Now," said Bach, "I'm going to pay back my commission on that deal. Even though my former partners won't help me, I'm going to put that $3,800 profit back in your pockets."

Lipsner and Homel assert their suits are based on these assertions. When the stock was sold they say they were only salesmen and not partners.

Fire On Detective on Guard at Hoyne Home

Joseph Logston, a policeman in plain clothes, detailed to guard the home of former State's Attorney Maclay Hoyne, was fired on recently while he stood on the Hoyne porch, it was revealed yesterday after Mr. Hoyne had made a request for continued police protection. The attack took place at night, Mr. Hoyne said, and the men supposed they were firing at Hoyne. Two or three men drove up in an automobile and began to fire pistols at Logston, Mr. Hoyne said. One bullet went through his hat brim. He returned the fire and they fled. The detective will continue to guard Mr. Hoyne until May 1. Mr. Hoyne and his family then will move to a hotel.

Accounting Demanded of Evanston City Collector

Demand for an accounting of tax collections was made yesterday on Charles H. Bartlett, city collector of Evanston, by William S. Carson, chairman of the finance committee of school district No. 75, comprising four schools in the southern half of Evanston. The school board trustees voted to sustain the demand. Mr. Carson alleges that for 1920 Mr. Bartlett's fees aggregated $6,000, $3,000 more than allowed by law, and that of this sum school district No. 75 was entitled to $550. Mr. Bartlett denied the charge last night, declaring he had not even taken his full fees.

Did You Lose Big Bill? Phone Wellington 168

Here's good news for some one. T. E. O'Brien, 4332 Kenwood avenue—phone Wellington 168—called THE TRIBUNE last night and said: "Today I found a single silver certificate of large denomination on the floor of the Shermont Bake and Food shop at 4409 Sheridan road. If the loser will phone me and state the denomination of the bill he may have it."

GET AUTO BUT NOT MAN.

After a chase, in which five shots were fired by Detective Sergeants Doyle and Sheehy of the automobile squad, a man, the police said, was Charles Bedamann, escaped. The man was seen standing alongside a large green automobile at Fifty-fifth and South Loomis streets. The car, bearing no license number or other means of identification, was towed to the detective bureau.

By Mae Tinée.

WHEN a picture house in the heart of the city can ask a quarter for a piece of junk like this and get away with it it is time for everybody interested in better pictures to throw up their hands and ask, "What's the use?"

What's the use of our George Loane Tuckers, our Griffiths, our Vignolas, our Neilans, our De Milles? True, we have our senses in their masterly productions. But—equally true—we will patronize Mr. Tamar Lane and sit and sit and sit and gawk and gawk and gawk for one hour and a half through a stupid, half baked, amateurish, clumsily subtitled, unevenly photographed, rottenly projected film whose only saving grace is the scenery, and God made that. Sit and sit and gawk and gawk and yawn and yawn and NOT hunt up the manager who dares insult our intelligence and raise Cain with him.

◆

We are boobs, I tell you, and the sooner we realize it the better! That's why busses and street cars whirl gayly by us while we stand and stare after them with our mouths open. Nobody ever dreams of hopping on and SHOWING a motorman. Dear me! Too much trouble!

And so we have 10 cent fares and prohibition and "The Isle of Destiny."

What's the picture about? Why, it's about a practical man and a dreamer and a girl and a dog who are cast away on a cannibal isle. You should see them—including the cannibals. The real work in the picture is done by the dog, who doesn't know he's working. The girl thinks she wants money, but the dreamer convinces her that mere gold is worth—NOTTIN'—and when the boat comes to the rescue I think she and the dreamer stay behind with the cannibals. Can't say for sure—that's one of the little things the picture keeps you guessing about.

◆

I went to see the picture because I understood it to be a "first run" with an all star cast. That I stayed through should make any alienist suspicious, and if YOU go to see it now——!

Harry Carey has a ranch in the San Francisquite cañon. He also has a hobby. Raising horses. He makes his hobby pay—he raises them for the use of the city police departments.

A curved mahogany fireplace, said to one time have adorned the library of one of the best known Fifth avenue residences in New York, original cost being $30,000, will adorn Alice Joyce's coming picture, "Acquitted."

Earle Williams, at one time quite a devotee of the bicycle but a stranger to it for some time, was injured recently during a ten mile relay race on the Mole, near Oakland, Cal. A small boy ran across the track in front of Mr. Williams. Both were taken to the hospital. Not seriously injured, however. Now the player rides again.

Startled studioites looked up the other day to see a new black hearse majestically approaching through the gates of the studio grounds. A manager rushed out to make inquiries. The driver was obliging.

"Just dropped in to show you my line," he said. "Making the rounds of the studios to see the buyers. Lucky hearse I got here. Ain't been idle a day since I got it. Here's my card. Drop in on me."

Marinuzzi to Write 'Son-Daughter' Opera

New York, March 16.—[Special.]—Gino Marinuzzi, recently conductor of the Chicago Grand Opera company, will sail today for Europe to spend a year in making "The Son-Daughter" resound as a grand opera. This Chinese play, by David Belasco and George Scarborough, was originally submitted to Puccini.

Joseph had dropped one of his playthings on the floor, where it lay for some time. Looking in vain for it later in the day, he was told that it had been swept into the dustpan as supposedly discarded. After lamenting his loss he wound up with, "That's just what comes of having womens in the house."

A few evenings ago, during a period of unusual lunar brilliancy, Buddy announced to his mother that he was going to visit his grandma, who lived just around the corner. On leaving grandma offered to accompany him home. He turned around and, looking over his shoulder, said: "Oh, never mind, grandma, I can find my way home. See, the moon is lit." W. P.

Didn't Like Small Boys.

John, a neighbor boy, was in the habit of calling for my brother. One morning brother was not ready, so John waited. He sat down and began to read. He is a fast reader and turned over many pages in a few minutes.

I did not like small boys, and, thinking John was reading one of our books, I went in to him and said: "I wish you would not handle that book so roughly. It is not yours, and you should be more careful with it."

He looked up and said quietly, "This is my book."

FASHION'S BLUE BOOK

Trade Mark Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.

BY CORINNE LOWE.

NEW YORK.—[Special Correspondence.]—The tendency to lean less and less upon embroideries is one of the notable directions of the spring mode. The effect of smartness is obtained, indeed, more frequently through the use of contrasting material. Thus the charming navy serge model illustrated today departs from embroidery traits and relies solely for its variety upon the deft employment of crepe de chine in an exquisite porcelain blue. The long corsage, permitting as it does the evolution of a side sash from the crepe de chine under-section, is particularly interesting. The final touch comes from the brilliant steel buttons introduced on the corsage and on the serge cuffs of the sheer sleeves.

A FRIEND IN NEED

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

I want to be the medium through which the friend in deed and the friend in need may be brought together. It may be you have some discarded article which has not outgrown its usefulness that will make some less fortunate one happy, and you would gladly give it if you knew how to go about it. Write to me and I shall be only too happy to be of service to you. Please write on one side of the paper.

When information is wanted by mail, a stamped, addressed envelope should accompany the request. Please do not send parcels to The Tribune, but write for the address of the applicant and send direct.

"I wonder if one of your readers has a wheel chair? There is a young man coming out of the hospital next week, and, as he has no place to go, I am going to care of him. He is paralyzed, and if he had a wheel chair he would not have to lie in bed from day to day. I am unable to buy this for him, but I will gladly pay express charges.
MRS. M. D."

This would be a true act of charity to give the young paralytic man a chance of outdoor air by providing a wheel chair. I do hope some one can comply with this request soon.

Northwestern U to Back Girls' Plans for Better Homes

PRESIDENT WALTER DILL SCOTT promised the co-eds of Northwestern the coöperation of the university in achieving their goal of sorority and dormitory houses. He spoke at Hayburn theater, Evanston, during a program arranged by the Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority to boom the dormitories-for-women idea.

President Scott said about one-third of the girls at Northwestern are compelled to live "in a manner unsatisfactory to the university and to the girls concerned," because of the housing shortage.

"My ambition is that all of our girls may be housed as satisfactorily as the boys who reside on the north campus," he continued. "This involves the construction for the girls of sorority and open dormitories. The construction of these buildings will require the expenditure of large sums of money, but they will render a great service to the girls of our university.

"We are proud of our girls; we are proud of the democracy and loyalty that have always characterized them, and we believe that the present ambition of the girls to build dormitories is in keeping with the spirit that has made Northwestern worthy of the traditions and the reputation which it has maintained."

TRIBUNE COOK BOOK

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

Potatoes OBrien is one of the warmed-up potatoe dishes in the making of which you may cut your garment according to your cloth, as it were.

For a set rule for preparing this potato and green pepper omelet, the following is a good one to use: Cut in dice six or eight cold boiled potatoes, or some freshly boiled for the purpose, and one-half of a green pepper. Mince a small onion and sweat it in a scant tablespoon of butter or some savory fat. (Sweating means to fry or sauté without browning.) Add the potato and pepper to the onion and four tablespoons of milk or enough to bind the mixture which may be well stirred in making the combination, but not while it is cooking.

Cook over a medium fire until potatoes have browned on the underside, then fold like an omelet, and serve on a hot platter. Garnish with a puree of green peppers or serve with a Creole sauce.

A pepper puree may be cooked or raw. To cook, wash peppers and remove seed cone. When cooked soft put through a strainer, heat up with a little butter, and use to garnish a dish of vegetables or an omelet. A raw puree is made by chopping the peppers as fine as possible

R. D. KEEHN BUYS LINK PROPERTY IN $250,000 DEAL

Roy D. Keehn has purchased from Mrs. Watson Blair the Blair property on Illinois street near Michigan boulevard and has entered into contract with the owners of the adjoining property, which has 100 feet frontage on Michigan boulevard, for joint ownership of the two properties, which comprise seventy-five feet on Illinois street and 100 feet on Michigan boulevard. The latter frontage was purchased from the Langdon Hoyt estate.

The consideration is reported as above $250,000, and the purchase is made as an investment, it is announced. Mr. Keehn denied a report the property was purchased for W. R. Hearst.

E. M. Hoyne Residence Sold.

Edward M. Willoughby of Willoughby & Co., realtors, has purchased through Baird & Warner the former residence of Eugene M. Hoyne at the southwest corner of Sheridan road and Granville avenue, paying a reported $72,000 for the property. It has sixteen rooms, and in addition there is a large ballroom.

One of Astor street's finest residence properties, the fifteen room gray stone house at No. 1418, for many years the home of the late Hempstead Washburne, former mayor of Chicago, has been sold by his widow to George Farnsworth for a reported $50,000 cash. Mr. Farnsworth is now living at 68 East Division street, and will move into his Astor street home May 16. Mrs. Washburne has taken an apartment at 1235 Astor street. The Washburne residence stands on a lot 50x150. The upper Michigan avenue office of H. O. Stone & Co. handled the deal.

University Avenue Sale.

The thirty apartment building at the southwest corner of University avenue and Fifty-fourth place, on a 150x164 lot, has been sold by Oscar C. Hagen to H. H. Bonner of Mayhew, Miss., for a nominal consideration, subject to $100,000. The buyer gave in exchange a 360 acre Mississippi plantation, valued at $115,000. K. R. Beak & Co. represented both parties and will manage the property.

H. G. Howard & Co. have sold for George H. and Thomas J. Cox of Bloomington, Ill., the modern twenty-four apartment court building at 4714-20 Michigan avenue to Otto A. Altschul for $80,000. It was a cash transaction. A. R. Fifer represented the buyer.

HUGE DEFICIT IF CITY OWNS CARS, BUSBY ASSERTS

BY O. A. MATHER.

Some idea of what the taxpayers of Chicago may expect in the event of the success of Mayor Thompson's proposal for municipal ownership of the street car lines and a 5 cent far is contained in the annual report of the Chicago city Railway company.

"On the basis of our present wage scales," President Leonard A. Busby says to the stockholders, "a 5 cent fare would fall short by more than $7,000,000 a year of even paying operating expenses, and the total deficit, after paying the companies the return on their investment, which was found by the state utilities commission to be reasonable, would be in excess of $19,000,000 a year."

This comment follows the remark that the "city administration has appealed from this decision," meaning the final order of the commission fixing the value of the properties and the present 8 cent fare, "and has continued its attacks on the companies and renewed its promises to the people of a 5 cent fare."

"Fair Return" Set at 7½ Per Cent.

The commission decided the companies were entitled to a net return of 7½ per cent after payment of operating expenses, taxes, renewals, and the 55 per cent accruing to the city under the 1907 ordinances. The companies within the near future will tender to the city between $1,800,000 and $2,000,000 as its share of the 1920 earnings.

The companies place the purchase price of the properties to the city under the ordinances at about $157,000,000 at present. This matter is in dispute, but, granting that the city could acquire the properties as low as $100,000,000, an issue of bonds for that amount would carry a 5 per cent interest charge, or $5,000,000 a year, at conservative estimate. Then, taking Mr. Busby's statement that a 5 cent fare would fall $7,000,000 short of meeting operating expenses unless the city could operate the lines more efficiently than private enterprise, there would be a total yearly deficit of $12,000,000 to be met by taxation.

Fare Boost Aids Earnings.

"The rate of return actually earned on the city purchase price of the property was 6.04 per cent," Mr. Busby states further. "Six per cent on the capital stock was paid. Due to the low interest rate on our bonds, issued when the credit of sound utility companies was high, the rate of return on that part of our investment represented by capital stock—about one-third of our total investment—amounted to 8.25 per cent, as against 7.24 per cent in 1919."

The improved showing is the result of the increase in fares to 8 cents on July 1. Gross earnings of the Chicago Surface lines for the fiscal year ended Jan. 31 increased $11,363,946, but operating expenses increased $10,046,377, so that residue receipts increased $1,317,568. Operating expenses took 78.26 per cent of gross receipts. Residue receipts totaled $12,026,992, divisible 60 per cent, or $7,216,195, to the Chicago Railways company and 40 per cent, or $4,810,796, to the south side lines, comprising the Chicago City railway, the Southern Street railway, and the Calumet and South Chicago Railway companies.

Net Revenue Jumps $181,212.

After the payment of operating expenses and bond interest the property of the City Railway produced a net income of $1,485,149, an increase over last year of $181,212. Surplus at the close of the year was $859,682, as against $454,530 last year, an increase of $405,152.

The New York Times.

New York, March 16.—[Special.]—It was natural that the money market's unruffled condition during the heavy tax collections completed Tuesday should have had its influence on financial sentiment. That influence was embodied today in a relapse of call money rates to 6 per cent on the stock exchange and in a rapid and general recovery of stocks.

Numerous advances of 1 to 3 points on a substantially increased business in stocks probably indicated as much as anything the effect produced by the checking of a downward movement. It is now apparent that much if not most of last week's suddenly increased sales occurred not because of the news, but simply because of the sight of what appeared to be the beginning of another continuous break.

Rails Recover Losses.

The fact that this heavy selling ceased at once when prices showed resistance, and that trading forthwith fell into almost complete inactivity, was in such a market the signal for recovery. To any one who ascribed to the news of last week the violent break in the railway shares which began last Wednesday, it should be interesting to observe that today's closing prices for nearly all of them showed the subsequent decline to have been completely recovered.

In itself today's 6 per cent money rate was not a matter of great importance. There was some talk on Wall street of an early reduction in federal reserve bank rates; but this is premature. Reserve ratios have risen rapidly and note circulation has fallen more rapidly than ever before in the system's history. But the bank rate is still governed by the extent of outstanding credits, and with the federal reserve banks that account, notwithstanding the great fall of prices, reaction in trade and financial liquidation, is still barely $50,000,000, or 2 per cent less than at this time in 1920.

Steel Operation at 35 Per Cent.

With the bewilderment over the future course of industry which prevails even in the most experienced minds, the steel and iron industry is naturally watched with peculiar interest. The current midweek reviews only emphasize the obscurities of the situation. The Iron Age reports that the steel industry as a whole is now operating at less than 35 per cent of capacity, as against 40 per cent last week and 70 to 80 only a few months ago. The United States Steel corporation itself is now working on a 45 per cent basis; two or three weeks ago the estimate was 65 per cent, and in January the trade organs reported it operating around 90 per cent.

GRAINS ADVANCE, LED BY WHEAT, AS GLOOMS FLIT

BY CHARLES D. MICHAELS.

Reduction of selling pressure, hardening of cash wheat premiums, and a small increase in the buying of all grains, combined with the advance in Wall street stocks and cotton, all contributed to cause a better feeling in grains. There was less gloom and more real sunshine.

A small early dip in prices was followed by an advance and a close around the high point, with wheat up 2½@3½c, corn and oats ¼@⅜c, rye 1½@1⅝c, and barley 1⅞c.

Provisions were under pressure and closed with net losses of 30c on lard, 15@17½c on ribs, and 40c on park.

Export Demand for Wheat Good.

Foreigners continue to buy wheat in this country and in Argentina. Cash premiums at the gulf have advanced 4c this week, and it difficult to buy without affecting prices. The farmers in the southwest are not selling, although they have more wheat there than in any other section.

Cash handlers at Kansas City have sold a lot of wheat for export and are said to be in the market for it. All markets reported hardening premiums, with exporters and millers buying. These factors were the basis for a better tone in the market and created improved buying power. There was more buying for an upturn, as well as for covering of previous sales, which offset the effect of the favorable crop reports and the few other bearish factors.

Greece is expected to be in the market next week, having arranged credits for 1,300,000 bu. A little export business is on in flour all the time. Buying of wheat in this country is said to be due, in a measure, to the reduced stocks in the United Kingdom, which are 21,000,000 bu, and to the slowness in the arrivals of Argentine.

Renewal of the selling of March by Omaha houses and by houses with New York connections was on yesterday at 7@7½c over May, although trading was much reduced. Eastern and Minneapolis houses were liberal buyers. At the top March was $1.59¼ and May $1.52, with the finish ¼@½c under the top.

Corn Market Is Steady.

Corn was absorbed by local traders and commission houses and sold by a few operators who were the best buyers on the previous day. On the bulge there was selling by the leading elevator interest. In all, the market showed steadiness, with the range on May 69@69½c and the close at intermediate figures.

Oats are meeting with more eastern and southern demand and cash prices hold well. Trading was not heavy and mainly in changing from May to July at around 1⅜c difference.

Rye advanced with other grains and despite selling by seaboard houses.

An increase of 5,275,00 lbs in lard stocks the last two weeks, combined with the break in hogs in two days, led to selling and a break in prices for cured products. Liquidation was on early, and on the break support developed which made a rally and a close at intermediate figures. Prices follow:

Fred Uhlmann to Retire After 41 Years' Career

Fred Uhlmann, vice president and secretary of the J. Rosenbaum Grain company, has sold his interest to the Rosenbaums and will retire from business. He started with Rosenbaum Bros. when 15 years old and later went with the J. Rosenbaum Grain company. After forty-one years of active business, including thirty-three years with the Rosenbaums, he thinks he is entitled to a rest and proposes to take it. He will sail soon for Europe with Mrs. Uhlmann for a stay of about four months. His son, Richard, a Cornell graduate, who recently joined the board of trade, is with Jackson Bros. & Co.

CASH·GRAIN NEWS

A good export business was put through at the gulf yesterday, fresh sales of 480,000 bu being reported, with France, Italy, Greece, and North Africa being the buyers. Between 800,000 and 1,000,000 bu was secured by exporters in exchange for futures, but this represented old business. It was understood that 500,000 bu Manitobas had been sold but the report could not be confirmed. England, Portugal and Germany bought 2,000,000 bu Argentine wheat during the day, the former country taking the bulk of the grain at around $1.90 per bu c. i. f., compared with an asked price of $1.95 for domestic via the Gulf.

In the last three days premiums at the Gulf have advanced 4c for March with April loading f. o. b. quoted at 24c over the May. Milling demand was better with shipping sales of 30,000 bu from Chicago. Domestic corn sales were 84,000 bu, oats 162,00 bu, and barley 10,000 bu.

Premiums on hard winter at Chicago advanced ½@1c with Omaha wheat which sold at ⅝c over March Tuesday bringing 1½c over yesterday. Springs were unchanged to 1c higher with dark No. 1 northern 7@11c over March. Receipts 36 cars.

Mills were good buyers of cash and futures at Minneapolis with premiums 1@3c higher. No. 1 and No. 2 northern at Winnipeg advanced ½c. Red winter at St. Louis was unchanged to 2c higher and hard 2c higher, while Kansas City was 2@5c and Omaha 2@3c higher.

Seaboard bids for cash corn were unchanged at 11¼c over May, track Baltimore, but no sales were reported. Sample values were ¼@½c higher with little change in premiums. Receipts 202 cars. Outside markets were unchanged to 1c higher.

WORLD'S·GRAIN MARKET·NEWS

Good Friday, March 25, will be observed by all grain exchanges of this country and Europe as a religious holiday, and exchanges will be closed for the day.

An impression prevailed among wheat traders that there should be a further advance in values today, which would be all the market is entitled to. Others said after the close that the technical position favored lower prices, and a recession was due.

With increasing cash premiums and liberal export orders to be filled, it was claimed by those favorable to the market that, until those who have sold wheat for export get it to fill their orders, cash premiums will hold their advance. New York messages reported that all the futures had been bought against sales to the British commission, while Kansas City reported considerable had to be bought in there.

Corn and oats markets are of pre-war character. Prices are not out of line and narrow fluctuations are to be expected. The general disposition of most traders is to go slow in buying on bulges and sell on them.

The Minnesota senate has passed the anti-short selling bill, previously passed by the house. Grain men in Minneapolis say the bill will help the speculative trade by legalizing it. The "teeth" of the bill have been extracted, it is declared.

"There are more than 5,000 cars of wheat on track and en route to Fort William that cannot be unloaded because terminals there and at Port Arthur are glutted," said a message to F. S. Lewis. This wheat does not appear in the visible. The sender of the message advised selling Winnipeg May wheat.

The grain trade takes the signing of the trade agreement between Great Britain and Russia both ways. Some construe it as bearish, as they believe Russia will have a little wheat for export. Others say when Russia gets to exporting the United States will be called upon to help feed its starving people. They recall 1892, when a cargo of flour was sent from the United States to help starving Russia, and at the same time that country was a huge exporter of wheat.

Another break of 40@75c in the range of hog values carried the average to $9.65, or 55c below Tuesday and $1 lower than the opening day of the week. The market closed semi-demoralized with 15,000 hogs unsold and 30,000 more expected today. Outside markets quoted declines of 50c@$1. Prevailing prices are the lowest since Feb. 23.

Competition was lacking, speculators buying sparingly owing to the severe losses sustained from their purchases of Monday, some of which are still held by the "boys." The shipping demand was more indifferent and several small packers remained out of the trade. These facts and a big break in provision futures added to the depression.

More Cattle Are Exported.

Morris & Co. purchased 150 cattle yesterday for export alive to England, making the second shipment this week by the same company. Nearly a dozen export consignments cleared from Chicago during the last month, going to England, Scotland, Belgium and Switzerland. Any considerable enlargement in this foreign demand is bound to help the trade.

The general cattle trade was slow and unsatisfactory, with sales steady to 25c lower than previous session. Comparatively few steers were good enough to sell above $10, and few beef steers went below $8.50. Some 1,120-lb yearlings topped the market at $10.50. Butcher stock shared in the decline and veal calves closed 50@75c lower. Feeding steers closed 10@15c lower, yet some reached $9.55, being unusually close to top fat steers.

Sheep and Lambs Steady.

There was little change in prices for sheep and lambs, the best wooled lambs selling at $10.25, while show offerings reached $9.75. Choice aged wethers sold at $6.50, and western ewes as high as $6.25. Feeding lambs sold at $9.25@9.35.

Receipts for today at Chicago are estimated at 11,000 cattle, 30,000 hogs and 18,000 sheep, against 9,580 cattle, 26,942 hogs and 11,908 sheep the corresponding Thursday a year ago.

FINANCIAL NOTES

Total subscriptions to the two new issues of treasury certificates of indebtedness offered last week totaled $503,436,500, and the total allotted was $481,803,000, Secretary of the Treasury Mellon announced yesterday. The allotment was divided into $193,302,000 six months' 5½ per cent and $288,501 one year 5¾ per cent certificates. The Chicago federal reserve district subscribed $42,416,000, and received full allotment.

The Youngstown Sheet and Tube company has reduced its dividend rate from a 6 to a 4 per cent annual basis by declaring a quarterly dividend of $1 on the common. In the previous quarter this issue paid $1.50. The Pond Creek Coal company declared a quarterly dividend of 37½ cents a share. Three months ago a quarterly dividend of 25 cents and an extra dividend of 25 cents a share were declared. The Daly-West Mining company has passed the quarterly dividend of 25 cents now due.

Another reduction in the price of farm implements and machinery was reported yesterday. A 20 per cent reduction in the price of tractors and a 10 per cent cut in power harrows and plows was announced by President J. A. Craig of the Samson Tractor company, a subsidiary of the General Motors corporation.

The 12 cent price for copper, which has prevailed in New York for about a week, was withdrawn yesterday afternoon by the interest that had been quoting that figure.

84 Years Old

An institution is but the lengthened shadow of one man.
—Emerson

John Deere was the first to manufacture steel plows. That was in 1837. After 84 years of growth and competition, Deere & Company are still leading the plow industry.

The respect one feels for John Deere's pioneering genius is deepened by knowing that Deere & Company not only perpetuate his name but also his leadership and service in agriculture.

Deere & Company's 14 plants and 30 sales branches, strategically located in both the United States and Canada, insure efficient distribution of its plows, harvesting machinery, disc harrows, planters, shellers and other farm machinery in every section of this great agricultural empire.

We offer the Company's 7½% Gold Notes, due in 1931, at a price to yield about 7.65%.

CADILLAC 8, TYPE 57, SPORT PHAETON—This car is an exceptional car, not only in its paint and upholstering condition, but in mechanical condition. It carries our guarantee. It is painted a dark Cadillac blue. Equipped with excellent set of cord tires, one extra, bumper, clock, etc. Has been used here in the city by the original owner for service between his home and office and has had remarkable attention in his own private garage. PEERLESS SEDAN—This is the latest model, practically new car. Customer exchanging for one of our limousines. If you are looking for a slightly used car of a high grade model that cannot be classed as a used automobile the price we have on this car makes it the best bargain we believe offered; mechanical condition almost new; excellent set of Goodyear cord tires, one extra, and bumper; paint, upholstering, in fact the entire car can hardly be told from new. This is a real bargain at our figure of $3,250.

DETROIT ELECTRIC, DOUBLE DRIVE—This is one of the late models and a car that has been carefully used here in the city; is equipped with excellent set of pneumatic tires; seats 4 passengers very comfortably; had new set of batteries in December and they are guaranteed for 2 years; paint and upholstering exceptionally fine; will bear most rigid examination and demonstration; special for this sale, $1,500.

MOON, LIGHT 6 CYLINDER TOURING CAR—This very modern car shows practically no wear. Has an exceptionally fine set of Kelly tires, one extra. If you are looking for an exceptional used car do not fail to examine this model. Our price should move it quickly. Special for this sale, $800.

Special offering for today.
"My Wild Irish Cole,"
$2,250

This beautiful car, Mr. Harris calls (his latest creation) "My Wild Irish Cole." It is a current model Cole Aero 8 sport, painted "Shamrock Green." The seat covers, top, boot, tire cover, etc., are special Dupont Fabrikoid Shamrock green material. The radiator and lamps are nickel silver. The entire car presents the appearance of new and the color scheme is quite pleasing. It looks like "A Bit of Old Ireland"—and spring verdure.

The few thousand miles this car has been driven has served to improve its smooth running qualities. If a duplicate could be obtained it would cost over $3,700. Our price of $2,250 is very reasonable.

EMMA, Nell, Florence, Ida, Marna, Anna, Elizabeth, Marie, Rose, Odelia, Eva, Ella, Claire, and Mabel are all good waitresses, but it seems like a long time to wait until the judges decide the $20,200 beauty contest.

So many patrons at the tables over which these girls have charge have suggested that they enter the beauty contest that they decided to do so. And here they are.

It appears that all fourteen have pleasant dispositions, but a $10,000 tip would no doubt have the effect of making the sweetest of smiles sweeter.

The task before the judges increases.

Ten thousand dollars will be awarded to the most beautiful girl when she is found. In addition ten prizes will be distributed in each of the six territorial divisions—the city of Chicago, the state of Illinois outside of Chicago, the state of Indiana, the state of Iowa, the state of Wisconsin, and the state of Michigan.

The first prize in each of these divisions will be $1,000, the second $250, the third $100, and the remaining seven $50 each.

The grand prize winner will receive not only $10,000 in cash, but also one of the sixty territorial prizes.

The contest is open to every girl, unmarried or a widow, who resides anywhere in the five states, except professional beauties.

Select a photograph of yourself or some girl friend and write plainly on the back of it the name, street address, and occupation of the entrant.

Send the photograph to "Beauty Contest," CHICAGO TRIBUNE, 7 South Dearborn street, Chicago.

The judges of the contest are Pauline Palmer, Albin Polasek, and J. Wellington Reynolds.

BEAUTY ANSWERS

by Antoinette Donnelly

P. P.: THEY'RE NOT WEARING 'em that way now, P. P. A character line has supplanted the silk thread line over the eyes. You may have a little trouble getting your's back to the present vogue in eyebrows. The willful hairs that have sprouted around and away from the regular line of brows may be removed by electrolysis, and if you will buy a tiny brush, put a little vaseline or eyebrow grower on it every night, and keep it up regularly for a reasonable time you will soon be "all in style" again. A lot more trouble bringing the eyebrows up to date than adjusting the skirt length to meet the last imperial command, is it not so? But we will be stylish!

TROUBLED: AH, YES, THE spring is not so full of poetry to the footsore and weary. There'll be a number of fair ones not caring particularly whether the crocuses croke or not this year after a full season of three inch heels. But there's no use preaching common sense shoes. And so, resignedly, I have made up a little pamphlet full of remedies for foot ails. Send along the s. a. e., and you're welcome. Mention, too, in your return letter if you want the exercises for weakened arches.

MOTHER: I WOULD URGE YOU strongly not to have your teeth extracted until you have consulted a man who knows how to treat pyorrhea. There is a horrible epidemic of advice from conscienceless dentists who would seem to prefer to do expensive bridge work rather than try to save teeth. There are men in the profession who would not extract a tooth if there were the faintest promise of holding on to it. Let one of them look you over first, please.

ADA M.: VEILS WITH A FAIRLY wide mesh do not harm the eyes providing no dot or pattern covers them. On the contrary, they protect them a certain amount from dust and grime. About the eye exercises: I cannot recommend them haphazardly for the reason that I do not know the exact strength of your eyes. An oculist's advice should be sought on that. I think you should see one, as there must be something radically wrong with yours to produce that bloodshot result and the headaches you complain of.

SKINNAY: WANT TO PUT ON ten pounds before May? You can do it. Have a pamphlet telling you what to eat, how many hours to sleep, and just what you must do to gain.

BLUE RIBBON PEACHES

California
Blue Ribbon
(dried) Peaches

THERE is no finer fruit produced than California peaches. They are known the world over for their unsurpassed flavor and excellent quality. They are now being offered through the grocery stores in attractive sanitary cartons under the Blue Ribbon brand and are like fresh peaches for only the water has been removed.

You will appreciate them now when fresh fruits are so hard to find. Good health demands frequent use of fruit and Blue Ribbon Peaches can be obtained every day of the year and at very low cost.

In order to acquaint the housewives with the merits of California peaches, grocers throughout the country are co-operating in an educational campaign featuring Blue Ribbon Peaches in demonstrations and displays. Let your favorite grocer supply you.

Peach Cobbler

Blue Ribbon Peaches are choicest of California's wonderful orchards. They are picked from the trees when fully ripened, then spread out in the open sunshine so that the water may be evaporated thus preserving them for use when other fruits are off the market. Rich in mineral elements and natural fruit sugars which are so beneficial to health they are acknowledged as the most economical fruit produced.

MADE IN U.S.A.

If you do not have hot waffles at your table on cold winter mornings you are missing a real breakfast delight.

Hot waffles! Crispy and brown and dripping with syrup.

To make them just right—you must have a "Wear-Ever" Waffle Mold, as countless women know. Beautifully browned and deliciously crisp with the centres baked just as thoroughly as the outside, "Wear-Ever" waffles tempt the most jaded appetite.

"Wear-Ever"
Aluminum Waffle Mold

requires no grease. Therefore, there is no smoke or odor to fill the house—and the waffles are far more digestible than those made with grease.

To prepare batter, mix well but avoid beating. Once batter is mixed do not stir it again.

Always add fat the last thing. Soft butter is as good, if not better than melted butter.

Pastry flour makes better waffles than bread flour. Part rice flour makes a crisp and delicious waffle.

Recipe for Making Waffles

2 cups pastry flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon sugar
1¼ cup milk
Yolks and whites of two eggs
2 tablespoons melted butter or other fat.

1. Mix and sift dry ingredients.
2. Add milk gradually and egg yolk, well beaten.
3. Fold in whites of eggs beaten stiff, and the melted fat.
4. Without further stirring, dip a tablespoon of batter into each section of the heated mold.
5. Turn mold and bake till brown.

NOTE: Rice flour used for ½ the flour makes a very tender, crisp waffle.

To regulate heat of waffle mold

1. Place mold over medium flame.
2. Between sections place a small piece of light colored paper.
3. When the paper begins to brown, the mold is ready for baking waffles.
4. Reduce the flame about one-half and bake waffles.

Dealers now have "Wear-Ever"
Waffle Molds on hand
